CAROLINA GAME DAY

DID YOU KNOW?

■ Carolina is one of only three teams in the country to win its last five bowl games.

■ Carolina is the only school in the ACC to have at least one player taken in every NFL Draft since 1973.

■ Carolina has produced 16 first-round picks, including both Julius Peppers (No. 2 overall) and Ryan Sims (No. 6 overall) in 2002.

■ Carolina has posted a winning season in 11 of the past 12 years – the best 12-year stretch in school history.

■ Carolina is the only school in the ACC to ever earn a bowl berth after starting a season 0-3 – and it has done it twice in the past four years.

■ The graduation rate for all NFL players is approximately 30 percent. Carolina's NFL players have a graduation rate of nearly 70 percent.

■ Carolina has been the dominant program in the state of North Carolina, winning 37 of the last 42 games against in-state rivals Wake Forest, Duke, NC State and East Carolina. The Tar Heels have a 12-game winning streak over Duke, have won 10 of the last 12 matchups against Wake Forest, have won eight of nine against NC State and are 7-2 all-time vs. East Carolina.

■ In the next decade, Carolina will play five teams that either won or played for the national title, including Texas, Virginia Tech, Miami, Notre Dame and Colorado.

■ Carolina head coach John Bunting won more games (eight) in his first season at North Carolina than any other first-year coach in school history.

■ Carolina has appeared in a postseason bowl game in eight of the last 10 seasons. In the ACC, only Florida State has played in more bowl games in the last decade.

■ Five Tar Heel defensive linemen have been drafted in the first round of the NFL Draft in the last five years – Julius Peppers and Ryan Sims in 2002, Ebenezer Ekuban in 1999, Greg Ellis and Vonnice Holliday in 1998. No school in the country can match that accomplishment.

■ Carolina has had seven first-team All-Americans in the last seven years, including 2001 unanimous pick Julius Peppers.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA STATEMENT ON GAMBLING

The mission of the Department of Athletics is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop. In keeping with the Department's mission and the University's commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the Department of Athletics strongly condemns the influence of gambling on intercollegiate athletics.

Student gambling is a significant issue on college campuses. Student-athlete involvement in gambling has produced many tragic situations, both for student-athletes and the universities they represent. Student-athletes often compete in contests that generate interest from those involved in gambling and, possibly, organized crime. If given the opportunity, those interests will not hesitate to exploit the position student-athletes hold on college campuses. As such, the University of North Carolina is firmly opposed to all forms of gambling and bribery related to intercollegiate athletics.

To fulfill its educational obligation, the Department provides a gambling education program to all its student-athletes and departmental staff members. This statement and the educational program are reflections of the Department's commitment to keeping intercollegiate athletics free from the influences of gambling and its related activities.

The Department requires its staff members and student-athletes to adhere to NCAA, state and federal laws regarding gambling. In the interest of fair competition and the growth and development of student-athletes, the Department strongly urges its friends and supporters to refrain from gambling/betting on contests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

2002 PREVIEW

Tar Heels Look To Take The Next Step After Successful Season In John Bunting's First Year As Carolina's Head Coach.

On the heels of one of the most impressive coaching debuts in school history, North Carolina head coach John Bunting faces an even greater challenge as he enters his second season in Chapel Hill. In his first year at his alma mater, Bunting rejuvenated the Carolina program, capping an 8-5 season with a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. UNC fans reveled in the victory with a New Year's Eve celebration that lasted well into the evening.

However, the Tar Heels were hit hard by graduation losses and must replace eight starters on defense and five starters on offense.

Bunting feels this year's team can be successful if it stays focused, plays consistently and in his words, "learns to win." Bunting knows he is still building the Tar Heel program, and after a year of teaching his team to play faster, harder and smarter for 60 minutes, he knows there are still areas to address.

"We want to continue to improve this football program," says Bunting. "We're still building that foundation. We know our weaknesses, but we think we can have a great training camp and come out of the chute fast. I think we can be a good football team this year and if we're not, I'm going to be extremely disappointed along with the fans. My expectations are high."

Last season's success was the result of an intimidating defense and an opportunistic offense. All-Americans Julius Peppers and Ryan Sims spearheaded a Tar Heels defense that was the best in the ACC and ranked 15th in the nation. Peppers, Sims and six other defensive starters are gone and, perhaps more so than in recent years, the Tar Heels will rely on their offense to provide a spark.

OFFENSE

Record-setting year quarterback Darian Durant and junior Florida transfer C.J. Stephens for the starting position this fall. Durant, who announced he would transfer from North Carolina and then changed his mind a month later and returned to the team in time for spring practice, established school freshman records for touchdowns (17), passing yards (1,843) and total offense (1,971). Durant made just two starts last season as he and Ronald Curry traded series in a two-quarterback system that proved very successful. The Tar Heels were 8-0 in 2001 when employing the two-quarterback rotation.

"I think Darian's a lot more focused and it's much more clear what he needs to do in preparation for this fall," says Bunting. "The players are excited about the commitment he's made to help us win football games."

"Darian is a tremendous run-to-throw guy. Those type of quarterbacks are probably the most dangerous. He can run, but he runs to throw and that really can hurt a defense."

Stephens, who has played just one snap in a college game, sat out last season as a transfer student learning the intricacies of offensive coordinator Gary Tranquill's offense. Blessed with a strong arm, Stephens is also a capable runner and has worked hard on and off the field since arriving in Chapel Hill.

"They'll both run with the first units in fall camp," Bunting says. "I think it will probably go down to the wire, but that doesn't concern me. I want to have a starting quarterback by the time we play Miami (Ohio). It could easily be a decision Gary Tranquill and I don't make until the Monday prior to the game."

Also in the mix at quarterback are redshirt freshmen Matt Baker and Terrance Highsmith. Baker is a skilled passer with good strength and Highsmith is the most mobile quarterback on the squad.

Dan Sears

The Tar Heels will rely on a trio of returning tailbacks to handle the bulk of the carries this season. Juniors Willie Parker and Andre' Williams have the most experience, but sophomore Jacque Lewis played as a true freshman last year and made several contributions. Among the tailbacks Williams is the Tar Heels' most powerful runner, Parker is the fastest and Lewis is the most elusive. The eventual starter should emerge from this group that combined for over 1,100 yards last year.

Parker, who began the year as the starter, but lost the job to Williams three games into the season, was the offensive star in the Peach Bowl victory. Parker started in place of Williams, who injured his back late in the year, and carried 19 times for 131 yards and one touchdown. Williams, who had off-season back surgery and missed spring practice, started eight games in 2001 and was the team's leading rusher with 520 yards. He is expected to be back at full speed in the fall.

Lewis was one of seven true freshmen to play last season and had his best game against Duke, gaining 94 yards on 11 carries.

Once again, the Tar Heels' wide receivers may be the most productive position on offense for the second consecutive season.

All-ACC candidate Sam Aiken emerged as Carolina's top playmaker in 2001, catching several deep passes and making long plays out of short catches. It was his head-over-heels touchdown play against Florida State that ignited Carolina's remarkable 41-9 victory and its subsequent five-game winning streak. Aiken had a career-high 46 catches and made eight touchdown grabs, the second-highest single-season total in school history. Aiken had Carolina's three longest receptions in 2001, including a 75-yarder vs. Wake Forest. A soft-spoken senior, Aiken leads by example on the field.

"Last year when we needed someone to step forward and become a playmaker for us, it was Sam Aiken," says Bunting. "He has great hands, is a deep threat and can go over the middle and take a hit. In a league with great receivers, he certainly ranks as one of the best."

Opposite Aiken is senior Chesley Borders, who will step into the starting spot left vacant by Bosley Allen's dismissal from the team. Borders had his best season in 2001 with 27 catches for 448 yards and four touchdowns.

Several young receivers will have an opportunity to compete for playing time as UNC seeks a replacement for Kory Bailey, who ended his career in UNC's top 10 in receptions and receiving yardage. Brandon Russell was solid in his first year as a receiver after playing tailback as a freshman. Russell had 19 catches for 235 yards and one touchdown. Jarwarski Pollock excelled in spring practice, including six catches for 100 yards and one touchdown in the spring game. Isaiah Robinson, who tore his ACL in midseason practice last year, and Danny Rumley, who broke his foot

EXPLOSIVE OFFENSE

Carolina tied the school record last year with 25 touchdown passes.

Six starters, All-ACC candidate Sam Aiken and 71 percent of Carolina's total offense returns in 2002. QB Darian Durant, whose 1,971 yards of total offense accounted for 45 percent of the offense, also returns.

Carolina averaged 26.8 points last season, the most since 1997.

The Tar Heels have averaged over 220 yards of offense in five of the last seven seasons, including last year's 239.3 yards per game – the highest average since 1997.

in the offseason, both missed spring practice but should be ready for the fall.

The offensive line is a group that has concerned Bunting since his arrival. Bunting's primary goal is to establish more depth at all five positions and learn to consistently protect the quarterback. Bunting hopes the addition of new offensive line coach Hal Hunter, who coached several outstanding linemen in two years at Indiana, will bring stability to a unit that has been largely overlooked in recent years at UNC. Although Carolina lost both its center and left tackle, the Tar Heels return three starters on the offensive line for the first time since 1999, including guard Jupiter Wilson, guard Jeb Terry and tackle Willie McNeill. McNeill split time last year with true freshman Jason Brown at right tackle, but Brown will move to center.

Skip Seagraves, who made one start last year at Clemson, is slated to fill the void at left tackle. He will face competition from sophomore Jonas Seawright, a converted defensive tackle, and Justin Barton, who has battled injuries the past two seasons.

Junior Marcus Wilson has played both center and guard in the past two seasons and is the top reserve on the line.

The tight end position is well stocked this season with returning starter Zach Hilton, junior transfer Bobby Blizzard, redshirt freshman Brian Chacos and walk-on John Dunn. After playing behind All-ACC tight end Alge Crumpler for two seasons, Hilton earned playing time last year with 12 receptions for 88 yards and two touchdowns. He started the final nine games of the year, including the Peach Bowl, and has the inside track on the starting position this fall. However, Blizzard, who played more of a receiver role at Kentucky, should team with Hilton to provide a powerful combination.

DEFENSE

With two of the three returning starters in the secondary the strength of Carolina's 2002 defense should be at cornerback and safety.

"You don't win if you're not good up front on defense, but if you give up a lot of big plays, you're not going to win either," says Bunting. "That's why our secondary is special this year. I think Michael Waddell can cover anyone in the country. Last year we put him up against the best receiver every week and he played with a great deal of consistency. He's bigger and stronger than he was last year. He's got a great opportunity down the road, but we want to have him here for the next two years."

Led by Waddell, a second-team all-conference selection last season, and pre-season second-team All-America safety Dexter Reid, the Tar Heel secondary is one of the best in the league. Waddell is widely considered one of the best cover cornerbacks in the ACC and Reid is a hard-hitting safety who was third on the team with 99 tackles and added two interceptions in 2001.

"Dexter has done a great job during the offseason with his maturation and growth as a person and as a leader on the team," says Bunting. "I think he's going to be a special player in our program for the next two years."

Kevin Knight, Carolina's nickel back last season, should start at the other cornerback position and sophomore Chris Curry and senior DeFonte Coleman are expected to compete for the other safety position. Curry played last season as a true freshman and was impressive in the spring. Coleman has battled shoulder injuries the last two years, but started eight games in 2000, and is completely healthy heading into the season. Derrick Johnson, Chris Hawkins and Ronald Brewer give the Tar Heels good depth at cornerback, while Michael Harris and Bryant Macklin are reserve safeties.

With several question marks on defense, the Tar Heels need a healthy Will Chapman to anchor a front seven that lost six starters.

On the defensive line, Carolina must replace three starters, including Peppers, Sims and defensive end Joey Evans. All three were selected in the 2002 NFL Draft. Junior defensive tackle Will Chapman, who is recovering from a torn ACL suffered last year at Clemson, is expected to be ready for the fall. Chapman started eight games last season and had 29 tackles. Senior Eric Davis is the most likely candidate to fill the other tackle position, but was pushed in the spring by sophomore Carl Smalls, junior Donti Coats and freshman Chase Page. Smalls sat out last season after transferring from South Carolina, but has the size to play the position. Page, who is playing his third position at Carolina, switched from offensive guard to defensive tackle in the spring and impressed the coaching staff with his tenacity.

Among those who will compete for starting spots at defense end include Issac Mooring and Jacques Dumas. Mooring had two sacks last year and Dumas played as a true freshman. Sophomores Jermicus Banks and Larry Jessup and redshirt freshman Tommy Davis are also contenders for playing time.

The graduation of David Thornton, Quincy Monk and Merceda Perry – all three whom were either selected in the NFL draft or signed an NFL contract – leaves Carolina with virtually no experience at linebacker. Looking to keep Carolina's linebacker tradition alive is a group of players that have no regular-season starts among them. Malcolm Stewart is the most experienced returning linebacker, but has spent the majority of his career as a special teams player. Stewart should snare a starting spot at outside linebacker, but the other two positions are up for grabs among several players who have rarely played at Carolina.

"Our defense needs to learn to play consistently, because I think we will

ATTACKING DEFENSE

Carolina has posted 79 sacks in the last two seasons, the fourth-highest total in the country in that time.

Carolina has finished first or second in total defense in the ACC five of the last seven seasons.

Last season, Carolina allowed 21.8 points per game, its lowest average since the 1997 season.

Carolina was first in the ACC and 15th in the nation in total defense last season.

have playmakers," says Bunting. "Malcolm Stewart is someone for us who can be a real playmaker this year. He enters the season in a similar situation as Thornton did last year. He hasn't started a game and has played primarily on special teams, but I think he can take a giant step up this year."

At middle linebacker, redshirt freshman Doug Justice and Sean Williams will compete for the starting position. Justice emerged from spring practice as the starter. At the other outside position, either junior Clay Roberson or sophomores Clarence Gaddy and Devllen Bullard should take the spot.

"I think we have some athleticism at linebacker," says Bunting. "Doug Justice is a good athlete and Malcolm is as good an athlete as we have on our team. I think our athleticism and speed is equal or better than what we had last year. Neither David nor Quincy had very many starts entering last year and that's very similar to the situation we have this year."

Senior Robert Harris, a former walk-on, who was expected to contend for the middle linebacker position, injured his right knee in the offseason and will miss the entire season.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Bunting puts a great deal of emphasis on special teams, citing last season's five-game win streak in which Carolina did not allow a punt return over 12 yards and only one kickoff return over 31 yards.

"It's an area that is sometimes overlooked," he says. "But it can sometimes be the most important factor in a game."

The Tar Heels must replace place-kicker Jeff Reed, who graduated and was signed by the New Orleans Saints in the offseason. Reed was a semifinalist for the Lou Groza Award as the nation's best kicker in 2000, and was a very consistent kicker. His departure leaves an opportunity for Michigan State transfer Dan Orner, walk-on Topher Roberts or incoming freshman David Wooldridge.

John Lafferty, who punted well at times last season, needs to become more consistent. Last year, he punted 67 times for a 39.6 yard average.

While Bunting is settled on Pollock as the Tar

"We want to continue to improve this football program. We're still building that foundation. We know where our weaknesses are and we think we can have a great training camp and come out of the chute fast. We think we can be a very good football team this year and if we're not, I'm going to be extremely disappointed along with the fans. My expectations are high."

Head Coach John Bunting

Heels' punt return man, he is still seeking a suitable kickoff return man. Carolina tried several players at that position last year, but finished eighth in the league in kickoff returns.

SCHEDULE

For the second consecutive year, Carolina faces one of the nation's top schedules with non-conference games vs. Miami (Ohio), Texas, Arizona State and Syracuse. Seven of UNC's 12 opponents appeared in bowl games last season and Texas and Syracuse finished the year ranked among the nation's top 15 teams.

"I think our returning players can learn from last year's experience," says Bunting. "Last year we talked about playing hard and fast for 60 minutes. But, we were playing a difficult schedule, our offense started slow and our special teams were inconsistent. After the third game, we said we needed to play smarter. This year, with the youth we have, the next step is learning how to win and playing consistently. I think we can do that and be successful. I'm excited about the 2002 season."

Bunting also is excited about the addition of his first full recruiting class he signed in February. With Carolina searching for depth on the defensive and offensive lines, several of those players may be pressed into early season action.

"I think we signed an outstanding recruiting class and many of those players will have an opportunity to immediately compete for playing time."

The University of North Carolina and Nike extended their agreement for eight more years beginning in July 2002. The agreement provides each varsity team with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other product. It also provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the athletic department to reward Olympic sport programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

TAR HEELS BY THE NUMBERS

- 0 Combined regular-season starts for Carolina's linebackers entering 2002 – the fewest in the league.
- 2 All-America candidates in Carolina's defensive backfield. Dexter Reid, a preseason second-team All-America by The Sporting News, is rated the No. 2 safety in the country. Cornerback Michael Waddell has 26 pass breakups in the last two seasons.
- 2 New Carolina assistant coaches this season. Jim Fleming, who coached Sacred Heart to the Division I-AA mid-major national championship, will coach the defensive backs and serve as the special teams coordinator. Former Indiana offensive coordinator Hal Hunter will tutor Carolina's offensive linemen.
- 3 Players who have fathers who played football at Carolina. Defensive tackle Will Chapman's father, Bill, lettered from 1970-72 and was a teammate of head coach John Bunting. Tight end Brian Chacos' father, Andy, lettered from 1972-74 and deep snapper Wesley Sigmon's father, Mark, lettered in 1984.
- 3 Starting offensive linemen returning in 2002 – OG Jeb Terry, OG Jupiter Wilson, OT Willie McNeill – the most at Carolina since 1999.
- 5 Consecutive bowl wins for the Tar Heels, including last season's 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Peach Bowl. Carolina is one of only three schools in the country with five consecutive bowl wins.
- 5 Total sacks for Carolina's returning defensive players. The players who had 21 of the Tar Heels' 26 sacks graduated or were selected in the 2002 NFL Draft.
- 6 ACC Bowl tie-ins this year, including the BCS, Gator Bowl (Jacksonville), Peach Bowl (Atlanta), Tangerine Bowl (Orlando), Seattle Bowl (Seattle) and Continental Tire Bowl (Charlotte).

All-America candidate free safety Dexter Reid

- 7 All-Americans in the last seven years for the Tar Heels. Julius Peppers was the latest to earn All-America distinction in 2001.
- 8 Wins by John Bunting in his first year as Carolina's head coach, the most by any first-year Tar Heel coach.
- 8 Touchdown catches by Sam Aiken last season, the second-highest single-season total in school history. He needs eight more to tie the career record held by Octavus Barnes.
- 12 Regular-season games Carolina plays this year. It is the second consecutive season the Tar Heels have played 12 regular-season games. Carolina also will play 12 games in 2003.
- 17 TD passes by Darian Durant in 2001, the most ever by a UNC freshman and the third-highest total by a freshman in ACC history.
- 22 Receptions Sam Aiken needs to become the 10th Tar Heel with at least 100 catches.
- 27 Players in the NFL in 2001. Last year Carolina was tied for ninth among all colleges with 27 NFL players.
- 27 Catches last season for Chesley Borders - more than four times the total amount (6) he had in the previous two seasons.
- 79 Sacks by Carolina in the last two years, which ranks first in the ACC and fourth in the country behind only Louisville, Fresno State and Tennessee.
- 149.29 Darian Durant's pass efficiency mark last season, which is the second-best career mark at Carolina.
- 1,477 Total pounds lifted by offensive lineman Jason Brown in the squat, power clean and bench press – a UNC record.

Guard Jupiter Wilson is one of three returning offensive linemen.

Carolina has appeared in a post-season bowl game in eight of the last 10 seasons. In the ACC, only Florida State has played in more bowl games in the last decade.

North Carolina won its fifth consecutive bowl game with a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the 2001 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels are one of only three teams in the country to win their last five bowls.

In last year's Peach Bowl victory, North Carolina quarterback Ronald Curry earned his second bowl MVP award in as many games. He was the offensive MVP of the 2001 Peach Bowl and earned MVP honors at the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl.

John Bunting is just the second coach in Carolina history to lead the Tar Heels to a bowl game as a first-year head coach.

2002 NFL DRAFT

More players were drafted from North Carolina in 2002 than any other ACC School.

A total of 10 Tar Heels from last year's team that won the Peach Bowl were either drafted (6) by an NFL team or signed free agent contracts (4) with an NFL team following the 2001 season.

Carolina has had 16 first-round NFL Draft picks.

Carolina is the only ACC school to have at least one player selected in every NFL Draft since 1971.

Carolina ranked tied for ninth among all schools with 27 NFL players on 2001 opening day rosters.

Carolina placed two Tar Heels in the top six of the NFL Draft for the first time in school history. Carolina and FSU are the only two ACC schools to ever have two players drafted in the first six picks.

Five Tar Heel defensive linemen have been drafted in the first round in the last five years—Julius Peppers and Ryan Sims in 2002, Ebenezer Ekuban in 1999, Greg Ellis and Vonnie Holliday in 1998. No school in the country can match that accomplishment.

PRO-TIMING DAY

The 2002 NFL Pro Timing Day in Chapel Hill drew a record attendance. Every team in the NFL had a presence as several Tar Heels worked out for scouts.

Among the NFL head coaches in attendance were Kansas City Chiefs head coach Dick Vermeil, New Orleans Saints head coach Jim Haslett and Carolina Panthers head coach John Fox.

"I think the big thing is John (Bunting) understands what it takes to play in the NFL. He's been there and he's played a long time so he can give advice to these young guys on their work ethic and what it takes to play in a National Football league. Not just athletic ability-wise but also off the field and on the field."

- Jim Haslett
New Orleans Saints
Head Coach

"Sims was coached by John Bunting, who I know very well. John is the total package as a football coach and as a person. I'm very close to him and I'm very proud of him. When you know someone as long as I've known John, you really get to know them. We are both wearing World Championship Super Bowl rings because of his contribution."

– Dick Vermeil, Kansas City Head Coach

KENAN STADIUM

Picturesque Kenan Stadium has been the home of the Tar Heels since 1927.

In 1997, ESPN sent its College Gameday crew of Chris Fowler, Lee Corso and Kirk Herbstreit to Chapel Hill to cover all the festivities leading up to UNC's top-five battle with Florida State.

"We are in an era when football facilities represent how committed a program is to being one of the best. At North Carolina, I expected the Smith Center to be one of the best for basketball—and it is. What surprised me was how outstanding the new football facility is. They certainly have a top-notch facility. When I walked away from Chapel Hill, I was totally impressed. Now I judge every facility against Carolina's because they have the best in the country."

— ESPN's Kirk Herbstreit

HALL OF HONOR

The $50 million Kenan Football Center was completed in 1997 and is considered the best football facility in the nation. As part of the renovation, Kenan Stadium added 8,000 seats and now has a capacity of 60,000.

KENAN FOOTBALL CENTER

"The facilities are beautiful. I haven't been here in a while, but the additions in the football center, the hall of fame, weight room, locker rooms and meeting rooms are as fine as any I've seen on any college campus. I wish I could go back to my college days and get recruited to Chapel Hill. This is a beautiful place."

A four-year, $50 million renovation of Kenan Stadium was completed in 1998, with the addition of the Frank H. Kenan Football Center and the John W. Pope Stadium Box. The state-of-the-art, 78,000 square foot football center houses the Carolina coaches' offices, lockerrooms, weight room, training room, equipment room, players' lounge, computer labs, study areas, a 100-seat auditorium, theater and the Hall of Honor, a multimedia history of Tar Heel football.

"It is within these trenches that we enjoy the pursuit of our utmost potential so that our dreams become real

CAROLINA WEIGHT ROOM

 The weight room at the Kenan Football Center is exclusively available to the football team and can be used year-round. It is equipped with state-of-the-art weightlifting and stretching machines. UNC strength and conditioning coach Jeff Conners oversees a staff of four assistants who are dedicated to making the Tar Heels stronger and faster.

Carolina has been the dominant program in the state of North Carolina, winning 37 of the last 42 games against in-state rivals Wake Forest, Duke, NC State and ECU. The Tar Heels have a 12-game winning streak over Duke, have won 10 of the last 12 matchups against Wake Forest, eight of nine against NC State and seven of nine against ECU. Carolina is 227-95-17 all-time against in-state opponents.

GAME DAY

Nothing could be finer than game day at Carolina. The day begins with the team's Old Well Walk through Tar Heel Town, a tradition that began last season, and ends with a Carolina victory. In between, Carolina fans gather for one of the best tailgating atmospheres in the South.

John Bunting is one of only three current college coaches to play at least five years in the NFL. Bunting played 13 years of professional football, was an NFL assistant coach for eight years, played in the Super Bowl with the Philadelphia Eagles and helped win a Super Bowl as the co-defensive coordinator for the St. Louis Rams in 1999.

Last season, the UNC coaching staff engineered the greatest turnaround in UNC history by winning eight of the last 10 games of the 2001 season after starting 0-3.

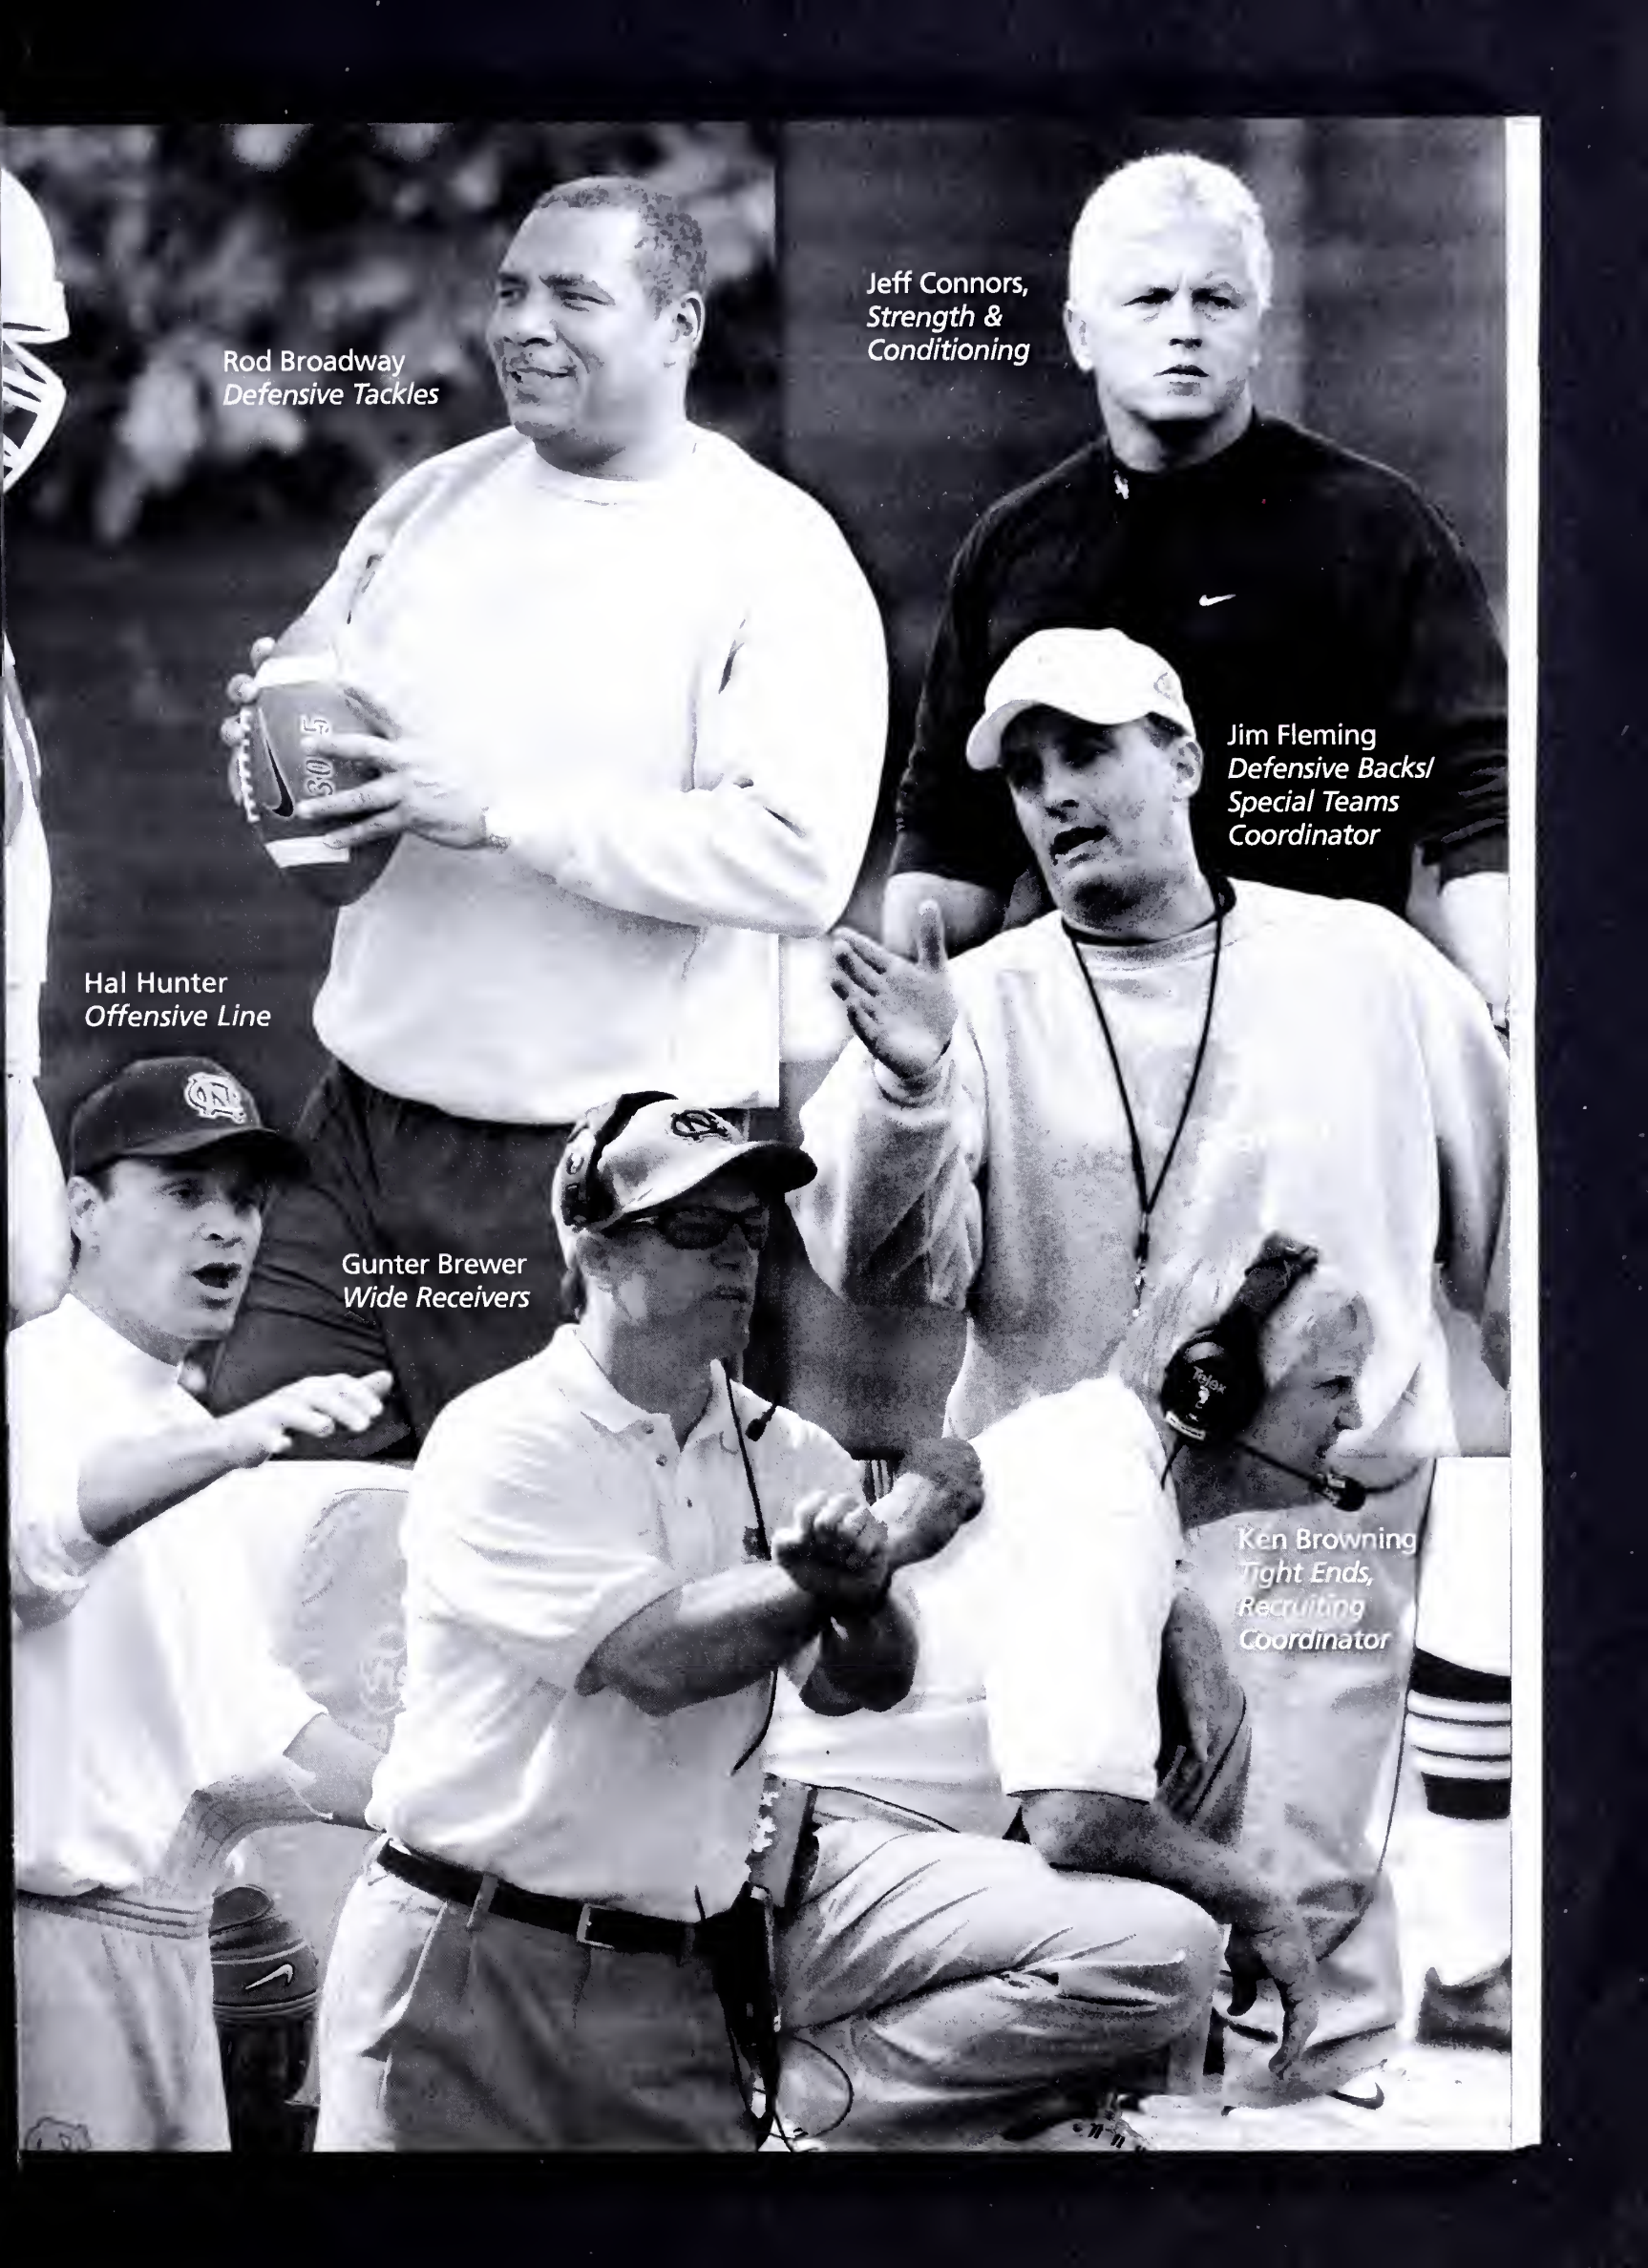

Bunting won more games (8) in his first season at North Carolina than any other first-year coach in school history.

The UNC coaching staff has over 200 years of experience, an average of 21.9 years per coach.

In U.S. News and World Report magazine's September 2001 "America's Best Colleges" guidebook, UNC ranked fifth among the nation's top public universities and tied for 28th overall among public and private campuses. Among undergraduate business programs, the Kenan-Flagler Business School tied for fifth nationwide.

Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine rated Carolina first among a list of the 100 best buys in U.S. public colleges and universities because of its combination of top-quality academics and low cost. Kiplinger's list, published in 2000, called UNC's "a place where high achievers are in good company."

Black Enterprise magazine ranked UNC 14th in its 2001 "Black Enterprise-DayStar Top 50 Colleges and Universities for African Americans" list, the highest rankings among major public universities. DayStar, a research firm, gathered the data for the list, which is based on responses to questions about which schools were both a good academic and social fit for African-American students.

The graduation rate for all NFL players is approximately 30 percent. Carolina's NFL players have a graduation rate of over 70 percent.

ACADEMICS

Defensive ends Ebenezer Ekuban (86) and Mike Pringley (91) both earned Academic All-ACC recognition. Pringley was Academic All-ACC in 1997 and Ekuban was the Jim Tatum Award (top senior student-athlete in the ACC) winner in 1998. Both went on to play in the NFL.

Tailback André Williams and quarterback Ronald Curry were members of the 2001 Academic All-ACC Team.

Business Week magazine ranked the Kenan-Flagler Business School's executive education programs among the best in the world in 2001.

More officially-licensed North Carolina clothing and merchandise is sold in the U.S. than any other school in the country.

Last season, Sports Illustrated wrote full length feature stories on Tar Heels Julius Peppers and Ryan Sims.

Carolina finished fourth in the Sears Cup all-sports competition in 2001-02. The fourth-place finish marks the seventh time in nine years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. This is also the eighth time in nine years UNC is the highest-finishing school in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

ATHLETIC HERITAGE

Carolina claimed seven Atlantic Coast Conference team titles in 2001-02. The Tar Heels have won 225 team titles in ACC history, dating back to 1953-54. No other school in the ACC has won 200 titles and only three other schools have as many as 100 league crowns.

Carolina and Maryland are the only two ACC programs with at least 100 men's championships. However, in the last 11 years, Carolina has won 31 ACC men's titles and Maryland has won just three.

Carolina has led or shared the lead in the ACC in team titles in each of the last 15 years.

The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country.

First in the Nation

The University of North Carolina was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

In labeling Chapel Hill America's finest college town, Sports Illustrated said it is "the purest example we could find of a college town that is defined by a university—and a good university."

Prominent alumni include athletes Michael Jordan, Vince Carter, Mia Hamm, Marion Jones, Allen Johnson, and Davis Love III; U.S. Senator John Edwards; former White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles; Scott Livengood, Krispy Kreme Doughnut chairman, president and chief executive officer. David Gardner, founder of The Motley Fool; actors Jack Palance, Andy Griffith, George Grizzard, Dan Cortese, Billy Crudup, and Josh Tower; actresses Louise Fletcher, Sharon Lawrence and Tally Sessions; fashion designer Alexander Julian; journalists Charles Kuralt, Roger Mudd, Tom Wicker, Deborah Potter and Stuart Scott; radio personality Rick Dees; corporate banker Hugh McColl.

Carolina's football team is involved with several community activities, including visits to children at the UNC Hospitals prior to every home football game. Other activities include: reading to children at local elementary schools in Chapel Hill and Carrboro; serving dinner at a local soup kitchen; participating in the event set-up and judging at the Special Olympics; and the Campus Y Big Buddy Program.

SPOTLIGHT FALLS ON TAR HEEL RECEIVERS

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Wide receivers coach Gunter Brewer is not a man who is used to taking orders. If anything, the man in the floppy white hat out on the practice field is used to giving orders, not receiving them.

But when Brewer and offensive coordinator Gary Tranquill sit down to design an offensive game plan for the 2002 Tar Heels, they have to take orders from their available personnel. And at wide receiver, that personnel implores them to get as many bodies on the field as possible.

Eleven different Tar Heels caught a grand total of 218 passes in 2001. The hands that snagged 131 of them return this year, plus some talented players who redshirted last year and incoming freshmen with big reputations.

"If we can stay healthy, playing four and five receivers at a time is in the plan," Brewer says. "We're going to be a multifaceted offense, showing you two backs, one back, and no backs. We did that a little bit last year and we want to expand on it this year with the quarterbacks that we're going to have."

"That's the trend, because people want to put a bunch of people in the box to stop the run, so you have to throw it. You're looking for matchups, and we feel like we're pretty good with our receiver against their nickel guy. Our fourth and fifth receivers are pretty dang good."

The receiving corps is pretty dang good from top to bottom. Sam Aiken remains the headliner. He led the team in receptions last year and also had the most touchdowns, the highest per-catch average and the longest play from scrimmage.

Brandon Russell and redshirt freshman Danny Rumley missed some spring practice time due to injuries, but Chesley Borders had an impressive spring, showing signs of becoming a Na Brown-type reliable receiver who can take some pressure off the other field-stretching receivers. Borders says that after years of watching the defense win games for Carolina, the offense is ready to assume that responsibility.

"We've taken the leadership of this team on ourselves," the senior from Shelby says. "If we win or lose, it's going to be on us."

Borders, Aiken and Russell are all known assets. It's the untapped potential of some of the players who haven't already played big roles that's the most intriguing.

Chief among those is sophomore Jarwarski Pollock, who is perhaps least popular among the defensive backs due to his uncanny ability to make them look foolish with a shimmy after catching a pass.

"He's a little guy who has a lot of shake, and he has good speed to go with it," Brewer says. "With his size [5-8, 166 pounds], he's tough to tackle, because even if you knock him off his feet you better wrap him up."

Pollock, who had John Bunting grinning on the first day of freshman practice last summer, will see the field this fall and also possibly return a few punts. He was the star of the Spring Game, hauling in six catches for 100 yards and a 42-yard touchdown catch. He's just one of a deep group that has dictated some of the tactics employed by Tranquill and Brewer. And those are orders that they are happy to take.

Borders and Aiken headline UNC's receivers.

CENTER OF ATTENTION

Sophomore Jason Brown moves over to center.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Jason Brown made rapid progress in 2001, when he saw game action as a true freshman. His rookie year was spent at right tackle, but with the departure of Adam Metts, he's switched to the center position in the spring.

It's more complicated than just sliding two spots to his left. The center is responsible for all the line calls, meaning that Brown is required to make split-second recognitions of defenses and blocking assignments. He would seem to be the perfect candidate for such a cerebral job, since the 6-foot-3, 311-pound behemoth finished in the top 10 academically of his class and attended the prestigious North Carolina Governor's School.

His transition, which was singled out for praise by John Bunting in the spring, is being aided by a simplified system under new offensive line coach Hal Hunter.

In the offseason, Brown spent much of his time thinking about weightlifting. His combined pounds lifted in the squat, bench press, and power clean set a Carolina record.

His power-clean effort of 372 pounds was his proudest achievement.

"Coach Connors has been working with me on hip flexibility and hip explosion," Brown says. "We've been working on releasing all the energy I have in my legs."

He has to fuel that energy in some way. Recently, the offensive linemen have taken to going out to eat as a unit every Friday night. While it might be a nightmare for the Chapel Hill restaurateurs who look up and see at least five 280-plus pound inventory-killers sauntering through the door, it's an essential part of building a successful O-line.

The weekly dinners are about more than just punishing buffets. They're also about building cohesiveness and familiarity on the line.

"We're very close and that's the only way we're going to get better," Brown said. "Even in our free time we're hanging out together."

Defensive end Jocques Dumas

JAH-KEESH IS READY FOR 2002

Sophomore wants to become more physical.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Since his arrival on campus, Jocques Dumas has been one big enigma.

Not about his football talent. Everyone knows he can play. But what's the story on the pronunciation of his first name?

There's the "JOCK" theory. That's the one John Bunting uses, and that's the way Bunting pronounced his name when discussing the precocious defensive lineman who saw plenty of action in 2001 as a true freshman.

But those who knew Dumas in high school thought it was "JOCK-ease."

To clear up the confusion, let's go to the source. According to Dumas, it's "jock-EESH."

Thankfully, there has been significantly less question about his football talents than about his name. On the first day of freshman practice last August, Bunting proclaimed that Dumas was a "Sunday player," which is heady praise coming from a man who saw his share of Sundays in the NFL. But Dumas was still a little surprised when he learned he wouldn't be getting the usual red-shirt year that most freshmen enjoy.

"I was told to expect being thrown into the fire, but I still didn't think it would happen," he says. "But when it did, it happened so quickly that I didn't have time to get jitters or get scared."

It's his 6-6 frame that scares opponents. Dumas carried about 225 pounds when he arrived in Chapel Hill, but after nearly a full year with strength coach Jeff Connors, he's now up to almost 260.

Still not even 20 years old, he'll be counted on to replace much of the pass rush that departed with Julius Peppers and Joey Evans.

"That's why James Webster played him last year," Bunting says. "It was his idea to get him in the game and get him baptized, because we knew he was going to play a lot this year. He is still learning the game, but he will be a force in the pass rush."

Ever since his arrival on campus, the adjective most associated with Dumas has been "raw." But he's putting in significant time working on skills that will add technique to his powerful frame.

"I really want to get a lot more physical," he said. "I'm so far from where I need to be."

He can't be too far away. He's already penciled in as the starter at one defensive end. And although he might rack up the sacks in 2002, getting him to talk about his individual goals is tougher than pancake blocking him. "I just want to do everything I can to help this team be successful." With a smile, he adds, "Everybody would like to be in the paper for having so many sacks. But it's really not important. We just need to win games."

Win games and the attention will come. Just make sure you pronounce his name correctly.

TAR HEELS' TIGHT END TALENT

Hilton, Blizzard are a potent combination.

by Adam Lucas
TarHeelBlue.com

It was much easier for Zach Hilton to smile this spring, as the Silver Spring, Md., native has ascended – for now – to the top slot on the tight end depth chart.

He's one of a full set of tall, athletic tight ends battling for playing time. Bobby Blizzard, a transfer from Kentucky, will be eligible in the fall and played well at times for the Wildcats. Redshirt freshman Brian Chacos and converted quarterback John Dunn are also in the mix.

In fact, the Heels are so deep at the position that playing two tight ends might become more common than last season.

"I'd like for them to be so good that we have to play two tight ends a lot," says assistant coach Ken Browning. "If you do that, that means you have to have a third guy also, because you don't want to lose that part of your offense just because somebody gets nicked up."

Right now, Blizzard and Hilton appear to be in the closest battle for playing time. Blizzard, who will be a junior in the fall, still must learn some of the intricacies of the Carolina offense before he's ready to contribute. He also is adapting to the way the Tar Heels want him to play tight end. At Kentucky, he was used more frequently split out from the line of scrimmage instead of down in a tight end's three-point stance.

"When Bobby first came here he was overweight and out of shape," head coach John Bunting says. "He's learning how to do things our way and has made a lot of progress in the weight room. He was playing wide receiver at Kentucky, and we're asking him to be the total package."

Hilton knows about struggling to put together a total package. His hands and receiving ability have never been in question, nor has his enviable height that enables him to outreach most defenders for passes. Last year, he hauled in 12 receptions and two touchdowns. But that production was accomplished while splitting playing time with senior Doug Brown.

In effect, Carolina had a run-blocking tight end and a pass-catching tight end last year. Brown, who didn't catch a pass in 2001, was the blocker. Hilton was the receiver. With Brown gone, Hilton wants to do both in the fall.

"I've always had pretty good strength," he says. "But I'm really tall, so being a good blocker has a lot to do with getting my hips down and my hands in the right position. Coach Browning is a great teacher, and he's really helped me with it."

"I think it's come a long way, but it also has a long way to go. I've been concentrating on it for a while, and hopefully by next year I'll be an above-average blocker and will be able to move some people around."

"A lot of it is leverage and knowing how to use it once you get it," Browning says. "It's a matter of the muscles and skeletal system working together so that you're getting the most out of your power. There are a lot of guys who are strong but aren't very good blockers."

Blocking is what will earn whoever wins the tight end battle their playing time. But pass-catching gets more recognition from the fans. It also could be an important cog in the 2002 offense, as Carolina enters the season with Darian Durant and C.J. Stephens listed as co-starters at quarterback.

Stephens knows how important a reliable tight end can be.

"It's very important," he says. "The tight end has to be a very versatile player. We've got some great athletes here and they're all very hard workers. We're going to be very, very good at the tight end position this year, and that will make us a more versatile offense."

DJ PUTS RAP CAREER ON HOLD

Football has consumed Johnson.

by Adam Lucas
TarHeelBlue.com

John Bunting's "consumed by football" mantra may have claimed its most recent inductee.

Rising junior cornerback Derrick Johnson is competing for playing time this spring, currently listed behind Michael Waddell at one cornerback slot. Johnson should have plenty to contribute, since he played well even as a freshman, sealing the 2000 win over Maryland with an interception. He played in all 13 games last year for the Tar Heels, usually being inserted when Carolina needed a heavier presence against the pass. The Maryland native forced a fumble and also made 10 tackles.

But the 5-foot-9 Johnson, who is known as "Boom-Boom" to his teammates, is also working on a side career.

A group of friends from home, including the brother of former Maryland star and recent Houston Texan acquisition Jermaine Lewis, has been working on a rap album.

Johnson has always had a love for rap, but only recently joined up with the Lewis-led group.

"I've been doing it with them for probably about a year," Johnson says. "But I've been rapping for a while now."

The album was mentioned in his biography in last year's media guide, making some observers wonder if it was somehow overlooked in the Grammy nominations for 2002. But it turns out that unforeseen circumstances have wreaked havoc on the production schedule.

While Johnson continues to climb up the depth chart and lay out receivers, his free time for laying down tracks has been decreased.

"The release has been delayed," he admits. "It's going to be on an independent label. But football has been consuming me and I haven't been able to go home a lot to work on it."

Cornerback Derrick Johnson

Johnson has already completed three tracks for the disc. When it is released, he'll probably find that his toughest critics are in the Tar Heel defensive backfield.

The secondary has several players who aren't afraid to provide uncensored opinions on most anything, and Johnson's burgeoning rap career is just another potential topic.

Senior Michael Waddell has already received an early listen to the album.

"I heard a couple of songs," Waddell says with a smile. "It was a while back that I got to hear them."

So, Michael, what's the scoop? Should space be cleared next to the Peach Bowl trophy for a Grammy?

"I'm going to say he's all right," says Waddell, which qualifies as a huge compliment from a player who described his 2001 season as "OK" despite shutting down most opposing wide receivers. "Him being my friend, I'm not going to say he's garbage or anything."

GETTING DEFENSIVE

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Marcus Jones, Vonnice Holliday and most recently, Ryan Sims, ruined everything for the Carolina defensive tackles. Used to be, the tackles were the faceless guys down in the trenches, never getting noticed but occupying several offensive linemen in order to allow the marquee names at the defensive end position to pick up sacks and big tackles.

Sims changed all that. His performance in 2001, especially in the Peach Bowl, forced people to pay attention to the defensive tackle position. Sims earned first-team All-ACC honors last year and also was an honorable mention All-America selection. He finished second on the team in sacks and made six tackles and two sacks in the bowl victory.

The stats are nice, but the problem is that Sims is gone. So is two-year starter Anthony Perkins.

So the tackle position is one where John Bunting needs someone to step up and have a fantastic fall. Eric Davis, a senior from Rockingham, looks to have the edge at one tackle spot. The other will eventually be held down by Will Chapman, but Donti Coats, Carl Smalls and Chase Page will be waging a war this fall to earn some time in the defensive line rotation.

"We lost a lot of guys from last year, and basically everybody thinks we are going to stink," Coats says. "We want to show people that we're just reloading right now."

Page is in his first spring practice and was shifted from offensive line to defensive line after the 2001 season. His tireless motor has already made an impression on the coaching staff, although it was his speed that first caught their eye.

"They had mentioned defense to me during practices," Page says. "They told me that I was pretty fast and that I might be able to play defense. Coach Connors saw me running and told the coaches about it, and then they moved me."

The move should help the depth at tackle, where only one of the top six players is a senior.

Page, a South Carolina native who currently weighs 270 pounds, is trying to bulk up to about 285 before the 2002 season. He's trying to gain the weight in order to battle the 320-pound tackles who are regulars in the ACC while also trying to keep the quickness that impressed the coaching staff in the first place.

"I have a great time playing defense," Page says. "It's a lot more fun than offense. I get to run around and hit people and chase after the ball carrier. It's a lot more fun than blocking for the ball carrier. I get to get some revenge on some of those running backs."

The football-loving Page has obviously made an impression on Bunting, who singled him out for praise on the very first day of practice and noted his "flying around" as one of the highlights of practice so far.

"I think Chase Page has a ton of ability," Bunting says. "He just has to learn the position and the technique. He has great explosion and quickness and a lot of desire to play."

He'll have to play this year, when defensive tackle has suddenly become a marquee position. Blame it on Ryan Sims.

PARKER POWERFUL IN BOWL WIN

Junior tailback was spectacular in 16-10 win over Auburn.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Willie Parker can't be a rising junior. It just doesn't seem possible. It doesn't seem like the jitterbug from Clinton has been around long enough to be a junior, but he'll play his third season as a Tar Heel this fall.

Part of the reason he seems deceptively inexperienced is a series of injuries and personal issues that have limited his effectiveness. A back injury hampered him during his freshman season, which appeared to be behind him when he ignited the Tar Heels with a 77-yard touchdown dash at Maryland last season.

But the rest of that game against the Terps, when they shut down the Carolina offense, foreshadowed the struggles Parker would have over the next few weeks. He finished the year with only half as many carries as Andre' Williams, although his per-carry average of 4.8 easily led the team. When he got the chance to carry the rushing load in the Peach Bowl against Auburn, he responded with 19 carries for 131 yards.

"I never felt like anyone was forgetting about me," Parker says. "A lot of little things were going on off the field, but the coaches knew what was going on, and it's all behind me now."

Parker will be the most experienced player in the offensive backfield this season, but he knows he can't get too comfortable. Sophomore Jacque Lewis has the flashy moves and quickness that make him a threat for the starting tailback job, and Williams should be fully recovered from back surgery in time for fall practice.

Those three tailbacks may get even more carries than they did last year, when the Tar Heels ran the ball approximately 100 times more than they passed it.

"The coaches are emphasizing the run," Parker says. "They really want us to be able to run the ball so that it will open up the passing game."

He'll be running behind a revamped offensive line that includes zero seniors on the two-deep depth chart. Two of those ten players, Jason Brown and Jonas Seawright, are playing new positions.

But Brown, who is penciled in as the starting center, has already impressed Parker.

"He's something else in the weight room," Parker says. "He's done it in the weight room, and now he just has to do it on the field. The o-line has some young guys, but they're going to be fine. They'll get better by doing the little things."

At times it seems like ages since Parker was the guy wowing everyone in 2000 spring practice.

He's not the young guy anymore. Now he has to be the go-to guy.

TAILBACK

5-11, 201, JUNIOR
CLINTON, N.C. (CLINTON)

Is listed as the starting tailback heading into the fall • Came on strong at the end of the season and was one of the Tar Heels' best offensive players in the Peach Bowl • Has quick feet and is one of the fastest players on the team • Earned "Super Ram" status in the weight room during the offseason and is a member of UNC's strength and conditioning honor roll.

2001 • SOPHOMORE SEASON

Started the first three games of the season and played in nine games • Was second on the team in rushing with 400 yards on 83 carries and had three touchdowns • Caught two passes for 26 yards • Had his best game of the season against Auburn in the Peach Bowl, rushing for 131 yards on 19 carries and scoring one touchdown • His 10-yard touchdown run in the first quarter gave Carolina a 7-0 lead • Also caught three passes for 24 yards against Auburn • Began the year as UNC's starting tailback, but was replaced in the starting lineup against Florida State • Did not play against Florida State, NC State or Georgia Tech, but was effective in the latter part of the season • Had a 102-yard outing at Maryland in the second game of the season • Scored on UNC's first play from scrimmage against the Terps on a 77-yard run • Had 66 yards on 10 carries and one touchdown vs. Duke • Was outstanding against SMU, with 82 yards on 13 carries (6.3 yards per attempt) and a 2-yard touchdown run • In the last two regular-season games against Duke and SMU, he totaled 148 yards on 23 carries and two touchdowns.

2000 • FRESHMAN SEASON

Had a roller-coaster season, but came on strong at the end of the year • Earned the starting job after spring practice, but injured his back in fall workouts and was not completely healthy until the Virginia game, eight games into the season • Played in nine games and started the last three contests, at Pittsburgh, vs. Maryland and at Duke • Was second on the team in rushing with 84 carries for 355 yards, an average of 4.2 yards per carry • Had four touchdowns • Averaged over five yards per carry in the last four games of the season • Despite the back injury, he played in the season-opening win over Tulsa and had 10 carries for 17 yards and two touchdowns • Scored on runs of 1 and 3 yards • Had just 14 carries combined in the next two games vs. Wake Forest and Florida State, and did not play against NC State and Clemson • Came back against Virginia with a strong effort, rushing for 71 yards on 17 carries • Made his first career start the following week at Pittsburgh and responded with 61 yards rushing and 54 yards receiving • Was named the ACC Rookie of the Week for that performance • He scored one touchdown on an 8-yard trick-play, dubbed the "rookie," and set up another UNC touchdown with several big plays • On UNC's season-long 98-yard touchdown drive at Pitt, he had a run for 25 yards and caught passes of 34 and 11 yards • Had his best rushing game the next week vs. Maryland • Carried the ball 21 times for 158 yards, the most yards rushing for a UNC freshman since Natrone Means had 256 yards vs. Duke in 1990 • He was also UNC's first 100-yard rusher since Anthony Saunders had 110 yards rushing in 1999 vs. Georgia Tech, a span of 15 games • The 158 yards rushing were the fifth-highest total by a Carolina tailback vs. Maryland • Earned much of that yardage on two runs — 37- and 61-yard efforts — in the first half • The 61-yard run was the longest by a UNC player since Leon Johnson's 67-yard run against Clemson in 1996.

CLINTON HIGH SCHOOL

Rushed for 1,801 yards and 18 touchdowns in leading Clinton to the state 2-A quarterfinals • Averaged 12.3 yards per carry. Had 30 tackles, including two and one-half quarterback sacks, and intercepted two passes • County player of the year • In 1997, he rushed for 1,329 yards (11.8 yards per carry) and 20 touchdowns in leading the Dark Horses to the state 2-A title • Rushed for 138 yards, including a 79-yard touchdown, in the 1997 state title game • Earned all-conference and all-region honors as a junior and senior • Led Coach Bob Lewis's team to a 26-2 record over his last two years • Honors student.

TIME IS RIGHT FOR STEWART

by Adam Lucas
TarHeelBlue.com

The 2002 UNC defense needs Malcolm Stewart to be David Thornton, and he's well on his way.

In 2001, Thornton was the surprise of the year, turning his senior campaign into an outstanding season that ended with him leading the team in tackles, with three sacks and one interception.

Stewart, a senior who made the switch from defensive end to linebacker last spring but still carries the un-linebacker-like number of 85, is from the same town as Thornton — Goldsboro. The two were teammates at Goldsboro High and Stewart still counts Thornton among his closest friends.

But the similarity is more than just cosmetic. After not winning any team awards through his first four years in Chapel Hill, Stewart claimed the team's off-season MVP award in winter conditioning drills, and he has the inside track to the starting weakside linebacker position.

He may end up as the lone senior linebacker in the starting lineup in August. As a group, they're the center of concern for the defense.

"That's the toughest part of our defense right now," head coach John Bunting says. "We've got a depth problem and an experience problem, but we do have some talent there."

Quite a bit of that talent belongs to Stewart, who had to play with a cast on his right arm in 2000 but played well in the closing weeks of 2001.

"Malcolm will be hard to block rushing the passer this year," Bunting says. "My expectations of him are high. I think he's going to have a breakout year."

Stewart didn't do anything to dissuade that opinion when he picked off the very first pass of spring practice and returned it for a touchdown. The coaches, led by linebackers coach Dave Huxtable, who is in his first year coordinating the defense, expect to see plenty more of that in the fall.

His athletic frame also should be tough to contain coming off the corner in a defense that Bunting suggested might like to blitz more.

"I'm excited about it because it means we get to make more plays," Stewart says. "I like being aggressive and attacking."

Linebacker Malcolm Stewart

Huxtable has made some changes in the defense since taking over for Jon Tenuta, most notably making things simpler for his linebackers by identifying their assignments more specifically.

The change wasn't made because of a need to simplify things for a defense that lost eight starters. In fact, Stewart is looking forward to proving the doubters wrong in 2002.

"I love that people are doubting us," he says. "I love that doubt in someone. We have to prove to them and we have to prove to ourselves that we're better than they think."

"I don't think it'll be that hard ... We're a lot closer, both on and off the field, this year."

That's true even though Stewart's buddy, Thornton, has departed. But his specter still lingers in the expectations for the latest senior linebacker from Goldsboro who is expected to have a major impact on the Tar Heel defense. Last year, Thornton was the leader of a defense that finished first in the Atlantic Coast Conference in total defense. Stewart knows the bar has already been set high for 2002.

"I believe he's better than me because he has done it on the field," Stewart says. "I haven't done it yet."

If things go according to plan, he'll do it this year.

A QUIET BACKFIELD

Defensive backfield a strength in 2002.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

No one is talking about Carolina's defensive backs this spring. Which is an undeniably good sign.

While there is much gnashing of teeth and wringing of hands over the defensive front seven, the secondary appears solid. In fact, there will be an unusual role reversal in Chapel Hill this fall. Last year, it was the front seven, with Julius Peppers or Ryan Sims or David Thornton, putting pressure on the quarterback and making the secondary's life easier. This year, with an inexperienced defensive front, the cornerbacks and safeties may have to stay in coverage longer to allow the line to reach the opposing quarterback.

"I've watched the tape, and I'm not a moron," new defensive backs coach Jim Fleming says. "I saw Peppers and Sims and Joey Evans and the rest of those guys who were cranking it up in front last year. You had the luxury of being able to cover for a very short period of time. Now the target is on our back, because we have to create pressure on the quarterback by coverage looks and being able to hold people in check a little bit longer. The front will develop and continue to pressure. We'll find a way to get it done."

The solution begins with rising senior cornerback Michael Waddell, one of the best pure cover corners the Tar Heels have had in recent years. Dre' Bly had a great break on the ball that enabled him to come up with interceptions. But when it comes to straight coverage, Waddell is hard to beat.

The Richmond County product defended 14 passes last year, although he didn't grab an interception until the Peach Bowl. Although he says that interceptions don't particularly matter, Waddell also thinks that figure might increase in 2002.

"Last year, the safeties and cornerbacks didn't have much of a relationship," he says. "This year, we're going to talk more and try to get more interceptions."

One safety who never has a problem talking is Dexter Reid, the loquacious junior from Norfolk who has evolved into an All-ACC candidate at free safety. Reid's helmet-cracking hits and closing speed have made him the biggest hitter in the secondary.

"Dexter has all the tools to be an impact player," Fleming says. "He's got the whole package, and that's as much because of his work ethic and expectations of himself as natural talent. He's intense, physical, has good speed and good ball awareness."

Waddell and Reid will be breaking in two new members of the secondary. Chris Curry is leading the battle for playing time at strong safety, and Kevin Knight is moving from nickel back to starting cornerback.

Curry, a sophomore from Fayetteville, got playing time last year as a true freshman.

Knight, a senior, has contributed on defense the past three seasons, including starting a game against Maryland as a freshman.

He'll start opposite Waddell this year and also return kicks, trying to use his good speed to break big plays on special teams. But it's on defense where he will make his most important contribution. With Waddell already a known quantity, it's likely that opponents will test Knight early.

Knight didn't pick off a pass last year in his nickel role. But he and the rest of the defensive backs should see plenty of balls in the air this year while the front seven tries to gel.

"Our guys have to step up to the plate and act as one of the stronger units on defense until the front seven matures," Fleming says. "I've been extremely impressed with the attitude of our kids."

COACHING PROFILES

Extra Points

When most observers had written off the 2001 edition of Carolina's football team, John Bunting had not. Despite the Tar Heels' 0-3 start, and predictions of a 3-9 or 2-10 finish at best, Bunting was looking just around the corner for a victory. Where the cynics found problems, Bunting saw promise.

The first-year Tar Heel coach gathered his team around him one September afternoon, the pain of that 0-3 start still palpable. Up next on the schedule were the vaunted Seminoles of Florida State.

"Guys, what an opportunity," Bunting said. "Florida State comes to our place. It can be the biggest win in school history. I for one believe we can do it."

Bunting looked around him into the eyes and faces of a hundred kids. He picked a few of them out.

"Metts, do you love the game of football?" he asked Adam Metts.

"Yes, sir!" Metts answered back.

"Jupiter, how about you? You love football?" he asked the sophomore guard Jupiter Wilson, who responded in the affirmative.

And on around the team.

"What an opportunity," Bunting repeated.

"We're playing the game we love, at home, with a chance to beat a great team. Who's with me?"

A hundred voices erupted in unison.

What evolved, of course, was a 41-9 demolition of the Seminoles, a game that ranks with Carolina's 34-7 lambasting of highly regarded Texas in 1948 among the most storied victories in school history.

Welcome to the John Bunting Era. In under two years on the job, Carolina's 32nd head coach has demonstrated a remarkable combination of resiliency, toughness, intelligence, passion and leadership.

"I see a lot of good things in the future," Metts said at the end of a 7-5 regular-season, capped a month later by a win over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. "I think coach Bunting can be the next Dean Smith, but for football. He knows the game, and he also knows how to relate it to players. He's a great motivator. This whole team was concentrated and so much more consumed by the game of football this year. A lot of it I attribute to

■ HEAD COACH

■ 2ND YEAR AT CAROLINA

■ 8-5 RECORD AT UNC (1 YEAR)

■ 46-19-2 OVERALL RECORD (6 YEARS)

John Bunting

UNC head coach John Bunting won more games (eight) in his first season at North Carolina than any other first-year coach in school history.

coach Bunting and his staff and how they prepared us."

Adds Kansas City Chiefs coach Dick Vermeil, who coached Bunting as a player with the Philadelphia Eagles and was his boss on the St. Louis Rams' staff which won the 2000 Super Bowl: "I wasn't surprised that they fought through those first three losses. John knows how to handle those kinds of things. He has the ability to take that pressure to win and get the players to produce. He is going to have a team here that is disciplined, that loves to play and loves to work."

Bunting was hired by the University of North Carolina on December 11, 2000, after an eight-year career as an NFL assistant, five as a head coach at the NCAA Division III level, and a 13-year playing career as a linebacker in professional football. The appointment by Chancellor James Moeser and Athletic Director Dick Baddour culminated a decades-long dream by Bunting, who set his sights on one day coaching at his alma mater shortly after leaving Chapel Hill in the spring of 1972. At each stop along the way—from Philadelphia to Glassboro to Kansas City to St. Louis to New Orleans—Bunting took with him a framed photograph of Kenan Stadium. It hung in his locker or over his office desk for 30 years.

"Ten years ago I said I'd like to be the head coach at North Carolina," Bunting said in 1985 upon taking a coaching job with the Philadelphia Stars of the now-defunct USFL. "I said that 10 years ago. What a stupid thing to say. I didn't even know what coaching is like, what the mechanics of coaching are. But I'd like to find out. I just don't want to say, 20 years from now, 'Gee, I wish I'd bothered to find out.'"

Carolina's football family is glad he went to the trouble.

Prospective football players for the junior-varsity team at Springbrook High in Silver Spring, Md., gathered on the practice field in August 1965, under the watchful eye of coach Jim Collier. He noticed over the first few days that one kid seemed to be at the front of the line for the tire drill and cone drill. One seemed to have more fuel left after two hours than the others. One was stronger and certainly very fast for his size—just over 6-foot and nearly 200 pounds. He seemed to set a high standard for the other kids to follow.

Collier knew he was on to something.

"I came home one night after practice and told my wife, 'If I'm ever going to coach a pro, I have one now,'" Collier says.

"It's not anything you can explain to people. It's a sense of drive, of hunger, it's something inside that absolutely propels someone to excel. And, of course, he had the physical attributes to go with it."

The player, of course, was John Bunting.

Over the next three seasons, Bunting would inscribe the number "31" in each of his football shoes—in honor of his hero, Green Bay Packer fullback Jim Taylor—and take the field to create loads of ills for the opposition as a fullback on offense and linebacker on defense.

Bunting's efforts caught the eye of a young assistant coach on the staff of new Tar Heel coach Bill Dooley in the fall of 1967. John Atherton became impressed with the pain Bunting felt after a narrow loss to a rival. "Coach Atherton told us, 'John's had a taste of losing. He doesn't like it at all. I like that in him,'" remembers Jim Bunting, John's father.

Young Bunting already had an attraction for the Tar Heels, having been smitten with their colors and demeanor as a basketball team playing at nearby College Park against the University of Maryland. He picked Carolina over Maryland and became a three-year starter at the beginning of his sophomore year, 1969. Bunting would earn all-conference honors as a senior and help in the gradual escalation of the program's fortunes—5-5 in '69, 8-4 in '70 and 9-3 in '71.

His trademarks were not physical skills—he ran 4.9 in the 40 and stood only 6-1, 210 pounds—but toughness, mental acuity and white-hot desire to be the best.

"John's got linebackers' eyes," says John Anderson, a classmate and fellow linebacker. "The intensity burns through. It's like you can see them a mile away."

"John was so fierce," says Flip Ray, who played defensive tackle in the class ahead of Bunting. "He would take or deliver the hardest hit you can imagine, then get right back up. His jaw would tighten, his eyes would burn with intensity."

"He wouldn't have to say anything. Just seeing him stare out from behind that face-mask was all anyone else needed for motivation."

Bunting's final team collected the ACC Championship and lost 7-3 to Georgia in the Gator Bowl. Since then, only the 1972, 1977 and 1980 teams have won the league title, a distinction that's become imminently more difficult the last decade with Florida State's admission to the ACC. At the news conference to announce his hiring, a reporter asked Bunting about the huge Super Bowl ring he collected during his tenure in St. Louis.

Bunting paid homage to the Rams' accomplishment—capped by a 23-17 win over Tennessee in the 2000 Super Bowl—then reached in his pocket and pulled out a smaller, older ring.

"This ring right here is just as important to me," he said. "It's my 1971 ACC Championship ring that I won with a bunch of hard-working guys who had one common goal. That's what we're going to work to get done here."

That elicited a hearty round of applause from the smattering of former players, athletic department staffers, Tar Heel players and other Carolina supporters interspersed with the news media. That was the first true insight into this coach who had lived in relative obscurity to the rank-and-file Tar Heel fan for the last three decades.

Many Carolina people were unaware that since leaving Chapel Hill Bunting had done the following:

- Served as a cornerstone to the building job Vermeil performed at Philadelphia from 1976-82, a period that included the Eagles winning the 1981 NFC Championship before losing to Oakland in the Super Bowl.

"His passion for the game and the team were clear from the beginning," says Vermeil. "He was a player you could build around, one who exemplified the characteristics you want in a football player. John defined the expression, 'Winning with character.'"

- Exhibited extraordinary courage and desire to recover from a serious knee injury during the 1978 season. He had cartilage removed and ligaments repaired—major surgery at the time with a long convalescence. Many players don't recover.

"Surgical and rehab techniques weren't what they are today," says Frank McMaster, a fellow Eagles linebacker at the time. "He was

• Became a defacto assistant coach by organizing weekly film study sessions for linebackers and being a sounding board for defensive coordinator Marion Campbell.

"John Bunting as a player knew more about our defense than Marion Campbell, who was a defensive genius," All-Pro linebacker Bill Bergey says. "More than once Marion was challenged by John, not in a threatening way, but in a, 'Why don't we do this ...' kind of way. Marion would always do it his way, because he didn't want to be shown up by a player. But afterward, you'd see them over to the side talking about it. Marion wanted to know what John thought."

• Played an integral role in the 1982 NFL players strike, which saw an eight-week work stoppage. Bunting was the Eagles' players representative to the NFL Players Association and was a member of the players' executive committee. Teammates and NFL officials felt the Eagles were one of the most unified and informed clubs in the league because of Bunting's work.

"It was amazing the power John had over a lot of guys making a lot of money," says K.C. Keeler, an Eagles teammate. "They'd follow him blindly."

• Dived heart-and-soul into the coaching business in 1988 when he was named head coach at Glassboro State College in southern New Jersey.

After two rebuilding seasons, Bunting's teams won 28 games the last three years, as well as two league titles and one trip to the national semifinals.

"Anyone who played for John, loved him," says Richard Wackar, a former Glassboro State (today known as Rowan University) coach and athletics director. "He could get more out of the kids than they believed they had in them."

"His word was gold," says Joe Low, who played for Bunting at Rowan. "It was the essence of a team playing for a coach."

• Returned to the NFL for eight years as an assistant coach—four at Kansas City, three at St. Louis and one at New Orleans. His linebacking corps at each stop were considered among the best in the league. The high point of this tour of duty was winning the Super Bowl with Vermeil when one of his linebackers, Mike Jones, made the game-saving tackle at the one yard-line on a Tennessee Titan on the final play of the game.

"He's a great teacher," says Jay Williams, a member of the Rams' defense that year. "I'm telling you, man, he's a great, great coach."

When the Carolina job became open following the 2000 season, Bunting realized that, at age 50, this would probably be his last opportunity at the job he'd coveted for so long. His bosses with the New Orleans Saints—in particular head coach Jim Haslett and general manager Randy Mueller—understood the passion Bunting had for Carolina and believed the job was such a perfect fit that they allowed him to pursue and interview for the job even though the Saints' season was not over. That is not standard operating procedure in the NFL.

Bunting had the support of his former Tar Heel teammates, who understood the man's inner workings and were willing to trust the future of their beloved program to the man who'd never coached at the Division I-A level. Gayle Bomar, a Tar Heel quarterback in the late-1960s, had a long phone conversation with Bunting during the search process and hung up believing Carolina could not find a better man for the job.

"John blew me away with how passionate he was about the job, that Carolina was where he wanted to be, that he wanted to get the program back to where it had been," Bomar says. "I could tell he had that fire in his belly. He didn't talk about the money, didn't talk about being a head coach. All he wanted to do was help Carolina realize its potential. There was not an ounce of doubt in his voice at all. At that point, I jumped on bandwagon. I said, 'This guy needs to be here.'"

Baddour and Moeser formed the same opinion once they had the opportunity to meet with him. Bunting was hired and immediately brought a jolt of energy to a program that had lost the edge it enjoyed during back-to-back Top 10 seasons in 1996-97.

"John Bunting is a man of passion," Baddour said.

"This man will energize our fan base," Moeser said.

"He has the swagger of a winner," defensive tackle Ryan Sims said.

"You could feel the power around him," defensive tackle Will Chapman added.

Two of the most significant early moves Bunting made were to re-staff the strength and conditioning area of the program—Jeff Connors was hired from East Carolina to direct this crucial department—and to schedule defending champion Oklahoma on the road for his first game of the 2001 season. Those were major statements.

"What an incredible show of respect the Oklahoma game was for us, and he didn't even know us at the time," says Metts. "It set the tone for the offseason. If you want to be the best, you've got to play the best."

Carolina lost at Oklahoma, then on the road as well at Maryland and Texas. But a foundation had been laid and Bunting and the Tar Heels never quit. They shocked Florida State at home on Sept. 22nd, then reeled off four more victories and were in the running for a Bowl Championship Series berth going into a road game at Georgia Tech in early November. Unfortunately, the Tar Heels lost that game and the next one, at home against Wake Forest, but rallied to beat Duke, SMU and Auburn to finish 8-5.

Through the ups and downs of 2001, Bunting is confident that the consistency of demands from him and his staff made an impression on the players.

"We stayed the course," Bunting says. "We wanted to do things our way. We've been very demanding and disciplined. A lot of players couldn't meet our standards and aren't here. A lot of players had to change their ways of doing things. They had to make the right choices, do the right things or suffer the consequences."

Prior to Carolina's victory over the SEC West champion Auburn in the Peach Bowl, 13 Tar Heels received their degrees in December graduation ceremonies. Those highlights were followed in April by an NFL Draft that saw six Tar Heels selected and four more sign free-agent contracts.

Winning.

Graduating.

Playing a game you love at the highest levels.

Having an opportunity to succeed in the professional ranks.

Those are the cornerstones to what the Carolina program under John Bunting will offer to its players.

"Coach Bunting is a fair and honest man," says linebacker David Thornton, who bolted from obscurity to a fourth-round NFL selection under Bunting. "He has a passion for his players on and off the field. He gave me the opportunity to play and didn't look at me differently because I was a former walk-on. He wants to put the best players on the field. It's a blessing that he came here when he did."

Defensive end Julius Peppers was the No. 2 pick overall in the draft and pointed to Bunting's attention to detail in helping refine his talents during his final year of collegiate football. "Coach Bunting tried to get me adjusted to the NFL with a training-camp approach and bringing an NFL mentality to Carolina. He took me in his office and told me what it was going to be like at the next level. He had me watch tape of guys like (NFL defensive end) Joe Johnson and telling me things that would improve my game."

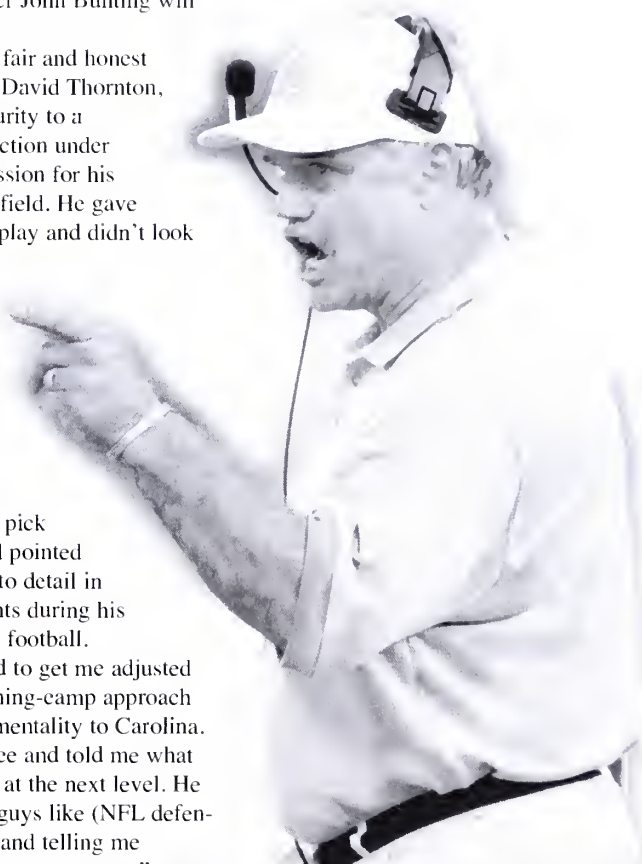

More and more Bunting will apply his thumbprint to the Carolina program. Fans appreciate his openness, his honesty, his regular-guy persona. Players know that no one played the game any smarter or tougher than Bunting did during his run as a Tar Heel.

He's living a dream, coaching on the campus he loved so much as a young man three decades ago. One of his favorite touches is the Old Well Walk, where the team busses deliver the players and Bunting to the Old Well two hours before home games. From there they walk through a tunnel of cheering fans through Polk Place to Kenan Stadium. It's an emotional stroll each week for Bunting.

"I have to fight back the tears every time," Bunting says. "But that's the way I am. I love this place. I couldn't be happier being back here after all these years."

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT JOHN BUNTING

PROFILES

"John is the total package as a football coach and as a person. I'm very close to him and I'm very proud of him. When you know someone as long as I've known John, you really get to know them. I have experienced the highs and the lows when he was both a player and a coach. We are both wearing World Championship Super Bowl rings because of his contribution. He helped lead a defense that maybe wasn't as talented as some of the others in the league and we finished sixth in the league in total defense. We won that Super Bowl because of people like John Bunting and the type of defense he molded that season.

"I wasn't surprised that they fought through those first three losses (in 2001). He knows how to handle those kinds of things. He has the ability to take that pressure to win and get players to produce. He is going to have a team here that is disciplined, that loves to play and loves to work. It will be a family atmosphere and it will be a tight knit group of players. Carolina should be proud to have John Bunting as its head coach.

■ Kansas City Chiefs Head Coach Dick Vermeil

"He's done a great job (at UNC) and I think he'll continue to do a great job. I don't think they could have hired anybody better. I know he's got fine coaching ability. He understands the pro game as well as the college game. There's no question that he prepares guys for the NFL."

■ Carolina Panthers Head Coach John Fox

"He helped me out a lot, especially with little things. He tried to get me adjusted to the NFL with a training camp approach and bringing an NFL mentality to Carolina. He took me in his office and told me what it was going to be like at the next level. He had me watch some tape of guys like (NFL defensive end) Joe Johnson and telling me things that would improve my game."

■ Defensive End Julius Peppers
No. 1 draft pick of the Carolina Panthers
Played for Bunting in 2001

"Obviously he's done a great job at Carolina in his first season, but that's not a surprise to any of us that know John. He was, in my opinion, not the most gifted linebacker in the National Football League, but was absolutely the best prepared and the smartest. That's why he played so long and so well.

"He called all of our defenses in Super Bowl XV with the Eagles. I had him come to work with me with the Chiefs. I knew he'd be an outstanding coach, and he was. It didn't take him long to get to where he should be, which is as a head coach."

■ Kansas City Chiefs President Carl Peterson

"The most important thing is John understands what it takes to play in the NFL. He's been there and he's played a long time so he can give advice to these young guys on their work ethic and what it takes to play in the national Football League, both on and off the field.

"Anytime you have a guy that's played in the league and has also coached in the league, it's nothing but a plus for the organization, especially from the standpoint that every player that comes in here in college football wants to play in the National Football League, and John can give first hand advice."

■ New Orleans Head Coach Jim Haslett

"He brought a different scheme to us. He brought more of an NFL feel to our practices and to our games. He played 13 years in the pros. He's got a Super Bowl ring. He's coached the No. 1 defenses in the NFL. That speaks for itself. He's got an ACC Championship ring, so whatever he tells you, it's going to be the truth. It meant a lot to me to have somebody like that."

■ Defensive Tackle Ryan Sims,
No. 1 draft pick of the Kansas City Chiefs
Played for Bunting in 2001

"I was excited for Coach Bunting and for Carolina when he took the job. He's intense, he's dedicated and he'll get things going the right way. He was our co-defensive coordinator in St. Louis and he was the mastermind in the press box. Everyone on the team will get behind Coach Bunting."

■ St. Louis Rams Cornerback Dre' Bly
Former Tar Heel All-America
Played for Bunting in 1999

"I remember John as a fiery person, a motivator that would get in your face and holler every once in a while, but a great guy. When there's someone he wanted, he was behind you 100 percent and backed you in everything you did. He was very intense, very into his job and loved to do what he was doing. He loved to create, loved to make up schemes and loved to design things. I think the one word that describes him is 'intensity.' He's intense in everything he does, and he wants to get the best out of every player that's on the football field playing for him. I think he did a tremendous job last year at Carolina."

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT JOHN BUNTING

"The fact that Coach Bunting has played in the NFL really was a benefit to all three of those players [Peppers, Sims, Thornton], because he gives them an understanding of what it takes to get to that level."

■ Indianapolis Colts
Head Coach Tony Dungy

"I think John Bunting is going to be the next Dean Smith of football. Why? Because John Bunting knows the game and he's a great motivator. But not in the traditional sense. He makes you think about what you can become and he puts a lot of emphasis on the seniors to implement what he's trying to do and what his goals are for the team and spread it to the younger guys on the team. The man is a great football coach. When I'm an alum from here I'm going to be glad to say I played for him."

■ Carolina Center Adam Metts

"John Bunting is a man of passion. He's passionate about the University of North Carolina. I know that he understands the mission of this University and will do everything he can to see that this program is operated in the values that are acceptable to this institution. And I also know he will motivate his players to go 110 percent every game and every practice."

■ Dick Baddour (UNC '66)
North Carolina Athletic Director

"John is a first-class individual who was the best leader as a player that I have ever been around. He has outstanding leadership abilities, football knowledge and experience. I'm certain he will be a tremendous addition to North Carolina and to the Atlantic Coast Conference."

■ John Swofford (UNC '71)
ACC Commissioner
Former UNC Teammate

"He has great people skills and does his job in a professional manner. He brings out the best in his players and they love to play for him."

■ Ron Jaworski
Former Philadelphia Eagle teammate & current ESPN NFL analyst

"I thought it was the right time to bring back a Carolina guy, somebody who loved the University, had helped build the program and wanted to see it back for personal reasons. He was someone who had given a lot of himself on Navy Field. Like Coach Dooley always said, he wore that blue bonnet with pride. Plus, he's a good coach. He's done a great job wherever he's been. He's a players' coach. He gets guys to play hard and with passion."

■ Charles Waddell (UNC '74)
Carolina Panthers Director of Marketing and Sponsorships

"Anyone who comes here and wants to be a better football player and a better person will get that if they come to Carolina under John Bunting. This guy knows football and is totally committed. If you really want to be the best, this is the guy to get around."

■ Paul Miller (UNC '72)
Former UNC teammate

"I played with John back in the early 1970s and late 1960s. To me, John was one of the most intense football players I've ever come across and what always impressed me about John's football ability was how he studied the game. He was a real scholar in the game of football. He'll be a great recruiter and the one thing that I can assure you is that the team will be ready to play on Saturday with John Bunting at the helm."

GUNTER BREWER

Gunter Brewer is in his third season as the Tar Heels' wide receivers coach, having joined the staff in February of 2000. Brewer came to Carolina after coaching at Marshall from 1996-99.

An energetic and enthusiastic coach, Brewer has produced several outstanding receivers in just two seasons with the Tar Heels. Three of Brewer's pupils - Kory Bailey, Sam Aiken and Bosley Allen - are ranked among the top 20 reception leaders in Carolina history. Bailey, who finished his career last season, is fourth all-time at UNC with 142 career catches and fifth with 1,939 career receiving yards. Allen finished his career tied for 14th with 82 catches and Aiken enters the 2002 season tied for 18th with 78 receptions.

Last season, Carolina's wide receivers were a bright spot on offense, with five receivers catching at least 19 balls. Aiken, who had caught just 32 total passes in his previous two seasons, made 46 catches, including eight touchdown grabs. Bailey capped off his career with 44 catches and six touchdowns and Allen hauled in 39 receptions. It was the first time since 1997 that Carolina had three receivers with at least 30 catches and it was just the second time Carolina had ever had two receivers with at least 40 receptions.

Carolina tied a school record in 2001 with 25 touchdown receptions, 23 of which were to wide receivers. In addition, Carolina's big-play offense produced 43 pass plays longer than 20 yards, including nine plays longer than 40 yards.

In 2000, four of Carolina's receivers caught at least 15 passes and three of the four averaged over 15 yards per catch. Those four - Allen, Bailey, Aiken and Jamal Jones - combined to catch 116 passes for 1,871 yards and 10 touchdowns. Carolina made 11 catches that went for longer than 45 yards, including a school-record-tying 78-yard touchdown catch by Kory Bailey. It was the longest reception ever by a Tar Heel in Kenan Stadium. Overall, Carolina had 40 pass plays of 20-or-more yards.

ROD BROADWAY

Former Tar Heel letterwinner Rod Broadway begins his second season as the Tar Heels' defensive tackles coach. Broadway came to Carolina after serving six seasons as the defensive line coach at the University of Florida.

Broadway, a 23-year coaching veteran, brings to Carolina the experience of coaching on both a national championship team at Florida in 1996. He also coached conference championships squads at Duke in 1989 and Florida in 1995, 1996 and 2000.

Last season, Carolina led the Atlantic Coast Conference and finished 15th in the nation in total defense, allowing just over 300 yards per game. Defensive tackle Ryan Sims, who combined with Julius Peppers to form one of the top defensive lines in the country, had an outstanding year under Broadway's tutelage. He earned first-team All-ACC honors and was named a third-team All-America. The defensive MVP of Carolina's 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Peach Bowl, Sims was picked by the Kansas City Chiefs with the No. 6 overall selection in the 2002 NFL Draft. Peppers was drafted No. 2 overall by the Carolina Panthers, giving Carolina two of the top six selections in the NFL Draft. Carolina and FSU are the only two ACC schools to ever have two picks in the top six of the NFL Draft.

In three of Broadway's last four seasons in Gainesville, the Gators rushing defense ranked no lower than ninth in the nation (second in 1997, fourth in 1998 and ninth in 1999). The 1997 Gator defense established a school record by allowing just 70.7 rushing yards per game. Florida led the Southeastern Conference in sacks every year from 1996-99.

Before he joined the Gators, Broadway was the defensive line coach at Duke for 14 years from 1981-94. He began his coaching career as the nose guards coach at East Carolina from 1979-80.

A native of Oakboro, N.C., Broadway was a defensive tackle for the Tar Heels from 1974-77, earning first-team All-ACC honors in 1977. He helped lead Carolina to the 1974 Sun Bowl and the 1977 Liberty Bowl. Broadway is married to the former Dianne Bynum and he has a son, Kenneth (17).

KEN BROWNING

A veteran assistant coach who has been with the Tar Heels since 1994, Ken Browning will coach tight ends for the second consecutive season, while continuing to serve as UNC's recruiting coordinator and summer camp coordinator. From 1994 to 2000, Browning coached Carolina's defensive tackles and, in 2000, he was UNC's defensive coordinator.

In his first year as tight ends coach last season, Browning molded Zach Hilton and Doug Brown into a powerful combination of blocking and pass catching. Brown was the more adept blocker, while Hilton was a more accomplished pass receiver. Hilton, who had 12 catches, including two touchdown grabs, returns this year along with Kentucky transfer Bobby Blizzard.

As defensive coordinator in 2000, Carolina led the ACC and set a school record with 53 sacks. Carolina finished 19th in the nation against the run, allowing just 103.5 yards per game, and was second in the league and 30th in the nation in total defense.

Browning was twice named the state's high school Coach of the Year at Durham's Northern High School before joining the UNC staff. He has brought that formula for success to the Tar Heel program. Browning has developed a number of outstanding tackles, including first-round NFL draft picks Vonnie Holliday, Marcus Jones and Ryan Sims and second-round picks Rick Terry and Russell Davis. Sports Illustrated selected North Carolina's defensive tackles in its positional ished No. 2 in the nation in yards allowed in 1996 and 1997. The Tar Heels were third in the country against the run in 1996 allowing 73.9 yards per game. In 1997, Carolina was fourth in the nation stopping the run as the opponents averaged 77.9 yards per contest. UNC held opponents to less than 50 yards rushing in six games and less than 100 yards in nine of 12 games.

Browning was the head coach and athletic director at Northern High School for 18 years. He posted a 178-35 record and won the 1993 4-A state title and Shrine Bowl. Over his last three years, Northern built a 43-2 record and he was named the North Carolina Coach of the Year by the Associated Press in 1992 and 1993. He became only the third coach to win both the state title and Shrine Bowl in the same year.

Carolina has had seven winning seasons and played in six bowl games during Browning's eight seasons at Carolina.

Browning and his wife, Susan, have three sons - Chuck, John and Joe.

JEFF CONNORS

Jeff Connors is in his second year as Carolina's Strength and Conditioning Coordinator. He was promoted to Assistant Athletic Director this spring. His primary focus is the football team's strength and conditioning program.

Connors' conditioning program was one of the reasons for Carolina's strong second-half performance last season. The Tar Heels outscored their opponents 165-130 in the second half last year. That includes a 34-0 rout of Florida State in the second half of Carolina's 41-9 victory.

Connors came to Carolina after spending 10 seasons as East Carolina's Director of Strength & Conditioning. Under Connors, the Pirates were one of the best fourth-quarter teams in the country. In 1996, the ECU defense did not allow a point in the fourth quarter until the seventh game of the season and in 1999, the Pirates outscored their opponents, 102-56, in the final period. In 2000, ECU had a 94-57 advantage in the fourth quarter.

Connors is a competitive powerlifter and has won four state titles in powerlifting and has been ranked as high as fourth nationally. He holds Level I certification in Olympic Weight Lifting by the U.S. Weight Lifting Federation.

A 1980 graduate of Salem (W. Va.) College, Connors was a four-year starter at cornerback and was team captain as a senior.

He led Salem in interceptions as a sophomore and junior.

After college, Connors served as a police officer in South Florida for two years. Prior to becoming a strength coach, Connors coached high school football and wrestling at The Benjamin School in North Palm Beach, Fla., and he later coached linebackers at the Tennessee Military Institute in Sweetwater, Tenn.

JIM FLEMING

Jim Fleming enters his first season as Carolina's defensive backs coach and special teams coordinator. Fleming was hired on Feb. 25, 2002 after spending the previous two seasons as head coach at Sacred Heart University in Fairfield, Conn.

A 1982 graduate of the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., Fleming led Sacred Heart to an 11-0 record in 2001. The Pioneers won the Northeast Conference and defeated Duquesne, 31-15, in the ECAC Bowl on December 1st to capture the Division I-AA mid-major national championship. Sacred Heart was ranked No. 2 in the nation in scoring, pass efficiency defense and turnover margin, No. 4 in total defense and No. 7 in scoring defense and passing yards allowed. The Pioneers scored eight defensive touchdowns and the special teams units blocked eight kicks and scored five times. He was named the Northeast Conference Coach of the Year for the second year in a row.

In 2000, Sacred Heart posted a then-program-best 10-1 record, earning him the NEC's and the American Football Coaches Association's Division I-AA Region I Coach of the Year honors. Sacred Heart's eight-game improvement represented the best turnaround in Division I-AA that year, following a 2-9 record in 1999.

Defensively, the Pioneers ranked second nationally in scoring defense, limiting opponents to 13.4 points per game.

In 1998-99, Fleming was the defensive coordinator/defensive backs coach at Villanova University. Prior to that, he spent four years at East Carolina. He coached outside linebackers in 1994 and defensive backs from 1995-97. The 1995 team finished 9-3 and won the Liberty Bowl, featuring a defense that intercepted 19 passes and was seventh in the nation in pass efficiency. In 1996, ECU was 8-3 and finished first in the country in turnover margin. In his final year in Greenville, the Pirates were second in Conference USA in pass defense.

Fleming led Sacred Heart to the Division I-AA mid-major national championship title in 2001 and was twice named Northeast Conference Coach of the Year

Fleming has also made coaching stops at South Carolina (graduate assistant in 1985-86), Boise State (1987-92) and Brown (1993).

In 1991, Boise State led the Big Sky Conference in all major defensive categories. Boise State was first nationally in run defense and third nationally in turnover margin (42 takeaways). He was also responsible for special teams, and the kickoff return unit was ranked first in the conference and third nationally. The 1990 squad advanced to the semifinals of the Division I-AA playoffs and finished 10-4. Boise State led the Big Sky in scoring defense and blocked 12 punts.

HAL HUNTER

Hal Hunter, a veteran offensive assistant coach who was most recently the offensive coordinator at Indiana, was named North Carolina's offensive line coach on Jan. 18, 2002.

Hunter comes to North Carolina after directing Indiana to two of its most successful offensive seasons ever. Under his guidance, the Hoosiers averaged more than 435 yards per game in each of the last two years and finished in the top 20 in total offense in both seasons.

Last year, Hunter designed an offense to fit the skills of talented quarterback Antwaan Randle El, who was named Big Ten Player of the Year and earned first-team All-America honors. Indiana led the Big Ten and finished fourth in the nation in rushing offense (averaging 269.5 yards per game), was 19th in the country in total offense, rushed for 33 touchdowns and allowed just nine sacks in 11 games. The Hoosiers were one of just 11 teams to average more than five yards per carry (5.66) and IU became only the second school in Big Ten history to have two 3,000-yard career rushers on the same team (Randle El and Levrone Williams).

The previous season (2000), Hunter's first at IU, the Hoosiers were seventh in the country in rushing offense, averaging 266.4 yards per game, and 12th in the nation in total offense despite starting an entirely new offensive line. Indiana led the Big Ten in rushing offense and finished second nationally in yards per carry (5.8), trailing only Nebraska. Indiana scored 34 rushing touchdowns and averaged over 30.6 points per game, the second-highest total in IU history.

Hunter came to Indiana after a successful stint as the assistant head coach and offensive line coach at LSU from 1995-99. Hunter also served as the interim head coach at LSU for one game in 1999. At LSU he developed one of the Southeastern Conference's most dominant offensive lines as the Tigers led the SEC in rushing in both 1997 and 1998. In 1997, he was credited with the development of Outland Trophy finalist Alan Faneca, a two-time All-America selection and 1998 first-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers. That same year, LSU's offensive line also featured first-team All-SEC and All-America center Todd McClure, a 1999 draft selection of the Atlanta Falcons. In his one game as interim head coach, Hunter led the Tigers to a season-ending 35-10 win over Arkansas. Athlon magazine recognized Hunter as the SEC's top offensive line coach in 1997.

Prior to arriving at LSU, Hunter, 42, served as an assistant coach at Vanderbilt from 1991-94, tutoring the Commodores' tackles and tight ends for three seasons. In 1994, he was placed in charge of the entire offensive line. Vanderbilt ranked second in the SEC in rushing in 1991, 1992 and Before heading to Vanderbilt, Hunter spent four seasons as the offensive line coach at Akron.

Hunter is a 1982 graduate of Northwestern, where he earned Dean's List honors and graduated in the top 10 percent of his class with a 3.6 GPA. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in communications studies with a concentration in economics. He lettered at linebacker for the Wildcats in 1978, but a neck injury prematurely ended his career. Hunter stayed with the program and assisted with the defensive line and served as a strength coach.

In 1982, he coached outside linebackers and was the strength coach at William & Mary. Hunter also has coached the offensive line at Pittsburgh (1983-84), Columbia (1985) and Indiana University of Pennsylvania (1986).

Hunter's father, Hal Sr., has over 40 years of experience in college and professional football and is currently an area scout for the Carolina Panthers.

DAVE HUXTABLE

Dave Huxtable begins his second season as North Carolina's linebackers coach and first as its defensive coordinator. Huxtable was promoted to defensive coordinator in the offseason, replacing Jon Tenuta.

Last year, Huxtable helped guide a defense that finished first in the ACC and 15th in the nation in total defense. In addition, he molded a group of relatively inexperienced linebackers into one of the top units in the ACC. Former walk-on David Thornton, who had recorded just 24 tackles in his career as a special teams player prior to last season, led the team with 131 stops, was named the team's defensive MVP and earned second-team All-ACC honors. Linebacker Quincy Monk was second on the team with 125 tackles. Thornton (fourth round) and Monk (seventh round) were selected in the NFL Draft and linebacker Merceda Perry signed an NFL free agent contract.

Huxtable also served as Carolina's special teams coordinator in 2001, a role he will relinquish this fall in order to handle the defensive coordinator responsibilities.

Huxtable came to Carolina after a year as the linebackers coach and special teams coordinator at Oklahoma State. He is a 22-year coaching veteran who has also coached at East Carolina, Georgia Tech, Western Kentucky and Iowa State.

Before coaching the Cowboys, Huxtable spent two years on the ECU coaching staff working with the defensive line in 1999 and inside linebackers in 1998. It was his second coaching stint with the While serving as linebackers coach at Georgia Tech from 1992-97, he also served three years as special teams coordinator (1992-94) and defensive coordinator (1996-97) for the Yellow Jackets. He was part of the staff that coached Georgia Tech to a 35-30 win over West Virginia in the 1997 Carquest Bowl. He also coached at Western Kentucky from 1985-89 and was the defensive coordinator there in 1989. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Iowa State in 1982 and 1983 and was the defensive coordinator at Independence Community College in 1984.

Huxtable coached first-round draft picks Robert Jones (Dallas Cowboys, 1991) at ECU and Keith Brooking (Atlanta Falcons, 1997) at Georgia Tech.

ANDRE' POWELL

Andre' Powell enters his second year as the Tar Heels' running backs coach. He spent the previous five seasons at the University of Virginia, where he coached wide receivers and running backs.

Last season, Carolina's running attack featured a trio of tailbacks, including sophomores Andre' Williams and Willie Parker and freshman Jacque Lewis. All three will return in 2002. Williams handled the bulk of the carries and started eight games, while Parker was the star of the Peach Bowl, rushing for 131 yards and a touchdown in the win over Auburn. Lewis was one of seven true freshmen to see playing time. Combined, the trio rushed for 1,161 yards and nine touchdowns.

Powell coached several former Cavaliers who currently play in the NFL, including tailback Tiki Barber and Thomas Jones and wide receivers Germane Crowell, Pat Washington, Charles Kirby and Terrence Wilkins.

Powell coached running backs during his first season at UVa in 1996, then tutored the wide receivers for three years before returning to teach the running backs last season. He came to Virginia from

A coaching veteran with over 40 years of college and professional coaching experience, Gary Tranquill enters his second season as Carolina's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Tranquill has a diverse coaching background that includes 11 years of experience as an offensive coordinator at five different schools, three years as a defensive coordinator and five years as a Division I head coach. He has worked with some of the top quarterbacks in the Atlantic Coast Conference during two stints at Virginia, including All-ACC selections Scott Secules, Shawn Moore and Matt Blundin. In addition, he was the Cleveland Browns quarterbacks coach from 1991-93, where he worked with NFL standouts Bernie Kosar and Vinnie Testaverde.

Last year, Tranquill designed an offense that took advantage of the skills of both quarterbacks Ronald Curry and Darian Durant. In the eight games Carolina used the two quarterback rotation, UNC was undefeated. Following the decision to use a two quarterback rotation, Carolina's offense had over 300 yards on all but one occasion. During a mid-season five-game winning streak, the Tar Heel offense averaged 392 yards per game. Carolina set a school record with 25 touchdown passes in 2001 and scored over 26 points per game for the first time since the 1997 season.

Tranquill was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for Nick Saban's Michigan State Spartans from 1995-98. During those four seasons, Michigan State averaged 161.5 yards rushing, 220.9 yards passing and 27.6 points per game. The Spartans averaged nearly 30 points per game each of the last three seasons of Tranquill's tenure – its top scoring averages of the decade.

As Virginia's quarterbacks coach from 1987-90, Tranquill helped develop some of the best passers in conference history. Secules led the conference in passing as a senior in 1987, while Moore became the school's all-time leader in passing yards, finished fourth in the 1990 Heisman Trophy balloting, was a first-team All-America and the 1990 ACC Player of the Year. Tranquill helped coach the Cavaliers to a No. 1 ranking during the 1990 season – UVa's highest ever ranking.

Tranquill also spent two years as an assistant coach at Ohio State (1977-78) under legendary coach Woody Hayes and was an assistant at West Virginia from 1979-81. At West Virginia, he spent one season as the defensive coordinator and two years as the offensive coordinator.

Tranquill, 60, is a 1962 graduate of Wittenberg, where he won four letters in football and baseball. He played on two Ohio Conference baseball championship teams and two NCAA regional winners in that sport. In 1960, he was the conference's top football player. He was inducted into Wittenberg's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1986.

JAMES WEBSTER

James Webster, a former Carolina teammate of Head Coach John Bunting, begins his second season as the assistant head coach and defensive ends coach. Webster, who is in his 25th season as a college coach, was the first assistant coach added to Bunting's staff last year.

Like Bunting, Webster came to North Carolina in 1968 and started at linebacker for three consecutive seasons. Although the two stayed in contact after leaving the University, Webster and Bunting did not actually see each other again until the summer of 1999 at the St. Louis Rams' preseason workouts where Bunting was serving as defensive coordinator. Webster spent the summer with Bunting and the Rams, watching and learning the NFL practice routine.

In his first season back in Chapel Hill since 1973, Webster had an immediate impact on the defense and specifically, the defense ends. Carolina led the ACC and was 15th in the country in total defense last year, led by one of the top defensive lines in the nation. Under Webster's tutelage, defensive end Julius Peppers won both the 2001 Lombardi and Bednarik Awards, becoming the first Tar Heel to ever win a major college football award. Peppers became just the second Carolina player (Lawrence Taylor was the other) to earn consensus All-America honors. He was drafted by the Carolina Panthers with the No. 2 overall pick in this year's NFL Draft.

Prior to returning to Chapel Hill, Webster had spent the previous six seasons at East Carolina. Webster coached the Pirates' outside linebackers for five seasons from 1995-99 and was in charge of the defensive line in 2000. He was promoted to assistant head coach in 1999.

Webster began his coaching career at North Carolina under former head coach Bill Dooley in 1973 working with the junior varsity program. He also has been a linebackers coach at Dartmouth (1993-95) and Wake Forest (1988-93) and worked with the defensive backs at Northwestern (1982-84). Webster also served coaching stints at Florida (1974), Kansas (1975-78) and Colorado (1978-81).

A 1972 graduate of North Carolina, Webster was a standout defensive player for the Tar Heels. He was named the Most Valuable Defensive Player in the 1971 Gator Bowl and was the recipient of the ACC's Brian Piccolo Award in 1972.

COREY HOLLIDAY

Corey Holliday, who played for the Tar Heels from 1989-93, is in his second year with the football program. He was promoted to Assistant Athletic Director for Football Student-Athlete Development this spring. Holliday works with the football team in various administrative capacities, including player relations, financial aid matters and as a liaison with the academic support services program.

Holliday was selected as one of 25 athletics administrators to participate in the inaugural 2001-02 NCAA Leadership Institute for Ethnic Minority Males.

Holliday still holds the Carolina career record for most receiving yards (2,447) and he is second in career receptions behind Na Brown. Holliday caught a pass in a school-record 45 consecutive games for the Tar Heels from 1990-93 and was a team co-captain as a senior.

Holliday played four seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers and was a member of four divisional championship squads. He played in Super Bowl XXX against the Dallas Cowboys and had two receptions and two special teams tackles.

Holliday also has held positions with the Atlantic Coast Conference, UNC's Educational Foundation, and The Ohio State University.

Before returning to Chapel Hill, he was a Business Process Analyst for Andersen Consulting in Columbus, Ohio.

He holds two degrees from North Carolina, including a B.S. in Business Administration in 1993 and a Master's in Sports Administration in 1997. Holliday, 31, is married to the former Angela Gantt.

RICK STEINBACHER

Rick Steinbacher, a 1993 University of North Carolina graduate and a four-year letterwinner on the Tar Heel football team, serves as Carolina's Assistant Athletic Director for football operations.

Steinbacher coordinates team travel plans, works with the University admissions office and the NCAA clearinghouse, supervises football office administrative personnel and handles other administrative duties as assigned by athletic director Dick Baddour and head coach John Bunting.

Steinbacher returned to his alma mater in January 2000 after working as a Vice President of Account Development with Tar Heel Sports Marketing since March 1999. He also had been affiliated with the Tar Heel Sports Network as a sideline reporter and color analyst for UNC football games for the past six seasons. From February 1994-March 1999, Steinbacher worked as an account executive with Procter and Gamble in Charlotte, N.C.

In four years as an inside linebacker at Carolina, Steinbacher made 30 starts and finished with 307 total tackles. The team's second-leading tackler in both 1992 and 1993, Steinbacher was named third-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and a team co-captain as a senior.

Steinbacher, 31, and his wife Valerie have two daughters, Donna (7), and Kiersten (3). His brother Steve was also a football player at Carolina from 1984-88, and his sister Donna was a swimmer from 1986-87. His brother-in-law, Brian Bollinger, was an all-ACC offensive guard at Carolina (1987-91), and his sister-in-law Erika Steinbacher was an All-ACC diver at Carolina (1984-88).

Chancellor James Moeser	110
Athletic Director Dick Baddour	111
UNC Staff Directory	112-113
Educational Foundation	114-116
University Profile	117-118

CHANCELLOR JAMES MOESER

As its ninth chancellor, Dr. James Moeser leads the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's efforts to set the standard for excellence among America's major public research universities.

"Carolina has the potential to enter a new defining moment — of being not only America's first public university, but being first among public universities in our nation," Moeser says. "When people around the world list the great American universities, we want to make certain Carolina is on the short list. We have set our sights that high. This is a great vision for Carolina, and it is an attainable ambition."

For Moeser, who started in August 2000, making new history at Carolina began with efforts to help secure North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000.

The referendum is helping fuel an unprecedented physical transformation of one of America's most beautiful campuses. The bonds are bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings so that 21st century students can learn in a 21st century environment. Also guided by a visionary master plan for future growth, the university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources for other buildings essential to continued excellence. The university is also beginning to plan for a possible mixed-use development called Carolina North on the Horace Williams tract north of the main campus.

Among Moeser's key duties is to lead private fund-raising efforts. In October 2002 he will publicly announce the goal for and progress in the Carolina First Campaign, a multi-year effort to position Carolina as the nation's leading public university. The campaign, the largest in the university's history, has among its goals the creation of 200 new endowed professorships and 1,000 new scholarships and fellowships. The campaign is already strengthening Carolina's competitive position among America's greatest research universities, both public and private.

"Two years ago, I pledged to the people of North Carolina to take the critical investment they made in Carolina's future through the bond referendum and at least triple it in private support to this university," Moeser says. "We shall make good on that pledge at a very minimum."

Planning strategically for UNC's long-term future has been the hallmark of Moeser's administration. Under his leadership, Carolina launched an initiative committing at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The public-private partnership positions Carolina to be a national leader in determining how the genomics revolution will change the ways in which doctors treat diseases, scientists design drugs and farmers grow crops. Carolina recently cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.

Such emphasis on science is balanced by an equal commitment to the arts and humanities. "The humanities and social sciences are our historical areas of strength," Moeser says. "We also have an obligation to provide our students and this region with the finest in the arts, and to preserve the incredible architectural archive of the historic campus. I subscribe to Thomas Jefferson's view that we teach with the built environments we create in buildings and landscapes."

Moeser moved quickly to fill key administrative posts. In 2001, he tapped Dr. Robert Shelton, a physicist who led research at the University of California Office of President, to become provost and executive vice chancellor and lead a campus wide effort to determine future academic priorities. Nancy Sutfenfeld, former vice president for finance and administration at Case Western Reserve University, joined as vice chancellor for finance and administration. Dr. Tony Waldrop, a Morehead Scholar and track star, returned to UNC as vice chancellor for research and graduate studies.

Other focal points of Moeser's first two years have included vigorously pursuing efforts to create a more global university, advocating for continued improvements in the quality of the freshman class, expanding growth in research funding and increasing emphasis on technology-transfer activities because of the direct impact faculty research has on the state's economy.

On campus, Moeser has supported efforts to enhance undergraduate education, advance the Carolina Computing Initiative and its laptop computer requirement for freshmen and review the student judiciary and Honor Court systems.

He has also championed the university's longtime commitment to diversity. Recent accolades include The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education's survey showing Carolina had the most tenured black faculty — 51 — among the nation's highly ranked universities. Carolina ranked 14th among the top 50 campuses for African-Americans as listed by Black Enterprise magazine. That ranking, the highest for a major public university, was based on a survey to determine which schools were good social and academic fits for black students.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of Governors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as an assistant professor and chairman of the department of organ. He became dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975. In 1984, he was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ, becoming the first academic dean at Kansas ever to hold an endowed chair. In 1986, Moeser joined The Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts Services. Six years later, he became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until becoming Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

In 2001, Moeser was named to the National Board for College Education, part of a national advisory committee guiding the College Board in introducing U.S. seventh-graders to the college admissions process and encouraging them to consider college.

As a member of the Board of Governors of the Josephson Institute of Ethics, Moeser helped UNC partner with the institute and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association to bring hundreds of youth coaches from around the state to an ethics seminar in spring 2001. The seminar was part of the institute's national campaign to implement the Arizona Sports Summit Accord, crafted in 1999 by nearly 50 influential leaders including Moeser.

The chancellor is a past member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and past chair of its technology transfer commission. He was on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities. In North Carolina, he is a trustee of the North Carolina Symphony Society Inc. and a member of the Greater Triangle Regional Council.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser received a bachelor's of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master's of music in musicology in 1964 from the University of Texas at Austin. The Graduate School at Texas honored Moeser in 2001 with its Outstanding Alumnus Award. Moeser, a Fulbright scholar, graduated with a doctorate in musical arts from the University of Michigan in 1967. A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser has chaired several national organ pedagogy conferences.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and lecturer in music and university organist at UNC. He has two children from a prior marriage: a son, Chris, a law student at the University of Arizona, and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, Wash.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of The University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his five years as director, the Tar Heels have undergone a number of changes, yet remain one of the premier athletic programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and across the nation. Baddour combines an easy-going, friendly and visionary style of management with a love and passion for the University he has served for more than 35 years.

Baddour sets a high standard of integrity for the program he leads. High graduation rates, NCAA compliance, sound fiscal management, competitive success and national respect are cornerstones of his blueprint for the department's mission to the University.

In 2001, he received a Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association. The awards program noted: "If this sounds like a full plate, remember that he gave the National Guard 31 years, and retired a colonel. He co-chaired the bond drive to build the Chapel Hill Public Library. He was vice president of the Parks and Recreation Commission; chair of the Orange County Heart Association; Cub Scout master and Little League coach. Dick was volunteer of the year in the public school system in 1996, and successfully managed a Chapel Hill mayoral campaign. He is a model of town and gown."

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is the largest in the ACC. Carolina won seven ACC championships last year, equalling the top figure in the league for the 15th consecutive year, and the Tar Heels finished fourth in the Sears Cup standings that measure a school's overall NCAA postseason success. A total of 20 sports competed in postseason play. The men's soccer team won the national championship, women's soccer was the national runnerup, women's lacrosse advanced to the national semifinals and the football team won the Peach Bowl. In addition, women's indoor and outdoor track and women's tennis posted Top 10 NCAA finishes.

During the past two years, Baddour hired a new men's basketball coach and football coach, was a member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet and NCAA Football Issues Committee, oversaw development of the indoor football and track facility and softball complex, and hired managing directors in the Educational Foundation and marketing office.

Baddour hired former UNC linebacker John Bunting to direct the football program in December 2000. Bunting starred at Carolina in the 1970s, had a lengthy professional career with the Philadelphia Eagles and was a highly respected and successful coach in the NFL. Bunting engineered the greatest turnaround in school history, winning eight of the last 10 games, including the Peach Bowl, after starting the season 0-3. He won more games (8) in his first season than any other first year coach in school history.

Baddour tabbed former Tar Heel Matt Doherty to replace Bill Guthridge in 2000. Baddour had hired Guthridge to follow the legendary Dean Smith after Smith stepped down just four months after Baddour became athletic director. Guthridge took two teams to the NCAA Final Four and was the winningest first-, second- and third-year coach in NCAA history. In his first season, Doherty led Carolina to 18 consecutive wins, a No. 1 national ranking and share of the ACC regular-season championship and was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

Baddour has hired new head coaches in six sports, including football, men's basketball, men's golf, women's tennis, baseball and men's lacrosse. Baddour hired Mike Fox, a former Tar Heel who played in the 1978 College World Series, as baseball coach; John Inman, 1984 NCAA men's golf champion and former PGA Tour golfer, as the men's golf coach; Jen Callen as the women's tennis coach; and John Haus to rebuild the men's lacrosse program. Haus won NCAA championships in 1981 and 1982 as a Tar Heel defensive star and twice coached Johns Hopkins University to the national semifinals.

In addition to the many personnel and facility changes that Baddour has managed, fiscal responsibility has been a key directive in his tenure as athletic director. He has instituted a number of measures designed to keep UNC among the nation's most competitive athletic programs, while at the same time ensuring a sound financial future.

Early in his tenure, Baddour established a number of task forces to examine specific functions within the department and guide those administrative units as they prepare for the 21st century. Baddour formed committees to examine recruiting, admissions and academic progress of student-athletes; finances; student-athlete development, communications and most recently, a long-term plan for Kenan Stadium.

As a result, Baddour reorganized the Athletic Department last year after overseeing functional changes in the following areas - marketing, communications, academic support, compliance, Educational Foundation, strength and conditioning and ticket operations.

Baddour continues to direct a vast facilities expansion project that stretches from Kenan Stadium to Finley Golf Course. The McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium (field hockey and lacrosse) were dedicated in 1998 and Finley Golf Course was totally re-designed to a spectacular championship-level in 1999.

Baddour, who has served on 12 ACC committees and is past chair of the ACC Athletic Directors, will serve as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television and has chaired the ACC Tennis Committee.

He is in his 36th year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years under John Swofford as the executive associate director of athletics.

After graduating from UNC, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to UNC in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state. In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment.

He became associate athletic director in 1986, was promoted to senior associate director in 1990 and to executive associate in 1995.

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour and his wife, Lynda, have two sons and a daughter. Allen graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and is an Assistant District Attorney in Chatham County. He and his wife, Holly, have two sons, Henry and Jack. David is a UNC graduate, a Certified Public Accountant, a recent UNC law school graduate and works with Womble-Carlisle in the Research Triangle Park. He and his wife, Carey, live in Carrboro and have a daughter, Lauren. Jennifer is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and earned her master's from the UNC School of Social Work. She is employed as a social worker in the Chapel Hill area. Lynda taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years.

WE NEED YOU TO KEEP CAROLINA FIRST

Carolina Athletics has an unparalleled history of success. We are able to celebrate national championships and All-Americans, while being proud of the integrity displayed by the athletes and coaches.

The ability to sustain this success is being pushed to the limit. The Athletic Department faces a significant challenge in maintaining UNC's program of 28 varsity sports in a first-rate manner.

For the first time, athletics will be included in a major University fundraising effort. The Carolina First Campaign comes at just the right time.

Being the best requires commitment. If you believe Carolina should maintain its place among the elite college sports programs, make your commitment today.

We need you to keep Carolina First.

The Carolina First Campaign will provide a variety of giving opportunities that fit individual interests. Campaign details will be forthcoming.

To make a pledge, or for more information, contact us at:

EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus. The Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 student-athletes will be awarded scholarships during the 2002-03 school year at a cost of more than $6.5 million.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($100) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $100 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football ticket exchanges; qualify for mini-season basketball ticket packages; purchase group travel packages; receive the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to receive football and basketball media guides and to participate in basketball ticket exchanges.

Rameses ($375) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased, location subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($750) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of four season football tickets and to receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,500) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to eight season football tickets and to receive an assigned parking space.

Coaches Circle ($5,000) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Coaches Circle donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to 12 season football tickets and receive two assigned parking spaces; invitations to exclusive functions throughout the year and autographed Carolina memorabilia.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $75,000 and $150,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles. Various facility projects are in progress as well to which donors may contribute.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet at least once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The leadership within the Foundation is provided by John R. Montgomery. He was appointed to the position in March 2001 upon the retirement of long-time

How Can As Little As $100 Pay Big Returns?

When It's Invested In Carolina Student-Athletes Through Donations To The Educational Foundation

When you make a contribution to The Educational Foundation, you are not only supporting world-class athletics, but you are also ensuring the future contributions of our student-athletes to society. The far-reaching benefits of your annual donation - even as little as $100 - are impossible to measure in tangible criteria, but you can rest assured every donation pays big returns.

Because UNC ranks nationally in graduating its student-athletes, who go on to pursue professions in a wide variety of fields, your donations are not just going toward the athletic contributions a student might make while at UNC. Rather, your donations enhance the overall academic achievements of many gifted students while they represent our university at the top level of intercollegiate athletic competition.

The Educational Foundation, founded over 60 years ago, now supports 400 student-athletes in 25 varsity sports at UNC. Today's scholarship costs total over $6 million annually, and The Foundation is the only source of funds for these scholarships. If it weren't for the generous support of donors such as you, many gifted student-athletes would not receive the opportunity to obtain a superb education at one of the nation's great academic institutions. Consider your donation a wise investment!

You Also Receive Dividends As A Donor. Yearly donations to The Educational Foundation assist not only the men and women who receive athletic scholarships, but also the donors and their families. The following dividends are available at the Little Ram ($100-$149) level of giving:

- An opportunity to purchase season football tickets in Kenan Stadium.
- An opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages.
- Access to the Ram's Room in Kenan Fieldhouse.
- Tickets to annual Super Saturday lunch featuring UNC's head basketball and football coaches.
- Invitations to other functions featuring Carolina coaches.
- Priority for tickets and group travel to away football games.
- Invitations to Foundation golf tournaments.
- Car decals, donor card, and the Tar Heel Monthly newspaper.

ANNUAL GIVING LEVELS:

Little Ram ($100-$149)

Ram ($150-$374)

Rameses ($375-$749)

Big Ram ($750-$1,499)

Super Ram ($1,500-$4,999)

Coaches Circle ($5,000-or more)

Remember, each additional annual giving level offers even more tangible dividends. If you have any questions, please call The Educational Foundation at (919) 945-2000.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA - AN ASSORTMENT OF KEY FACTS

HISTORY

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

- Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the university was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president.

- The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795. By March 1 of that year there were 41 students and two professors, and by 1860 only Yale University had a larger enrollment.

LOCATION

- The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks.

- The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That 1999 ranking, timed to the society's centennial, is among the latest affirmations of the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with UNC.

- A campus master plan approved in spring 2000 by UNC trustees represents a visionary look forward, offering a striking view of how the campus should exist in future decades to meet the needs of students, faculty, staff and the surrounding community. The plan captures the ambience of north campus in the Polk and McCorkle place quadrangles and aims to transform the southern region into an equally wonderful place in which to learn, teach, work and live. Among the plan's early projects are four new residence halls on south campus opening in fall 2002 and a planned arts common will create a new front door to the campus.

- The master plan guides a $1 billion-plus construction program made possible in part by North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of a $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000. The referendum is bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings. The university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources including private gifts for other buildings essential to continued excellence.

- Chapel Hill has been called "the perfect college town" by several publications including Sports Illustrated.

- UNC anchors one corner of the famed Research Triangle Park, which continues to play a vital role in nurturing the economic development of North Carolina.

The Old Well - One of the most recognized landmarks

RECENT RANKINGS

- In U.S. News and World Report magazine's September 2001 "America's Best Colleges" guidebook, UNC ranked fifth among the nation's top public universities and tied for 28th overall among both public and private campuses. Among undergraduate business programs, the Kenan-Flagler Business School tied for fifth nationwide.

- U.S. News also ranked 20 graduate degree programs and specialty areas at UNC among the top 25 nationwide in its graduate rankings issued in April 2002. The magazine rated programs in the schools of business, education, medicine and public health as well as doctoral programs in the College of Arts and Sciences. (Certain professional degree programs are ranked annually; other disciplines and specialties are ranked periodically.)

- The 2002 Fiske Guide to Colleges labeled UNC one of 21 public universities in the United States and Canada that were the "best college buys."

- Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine rated Carolina first among a list of the 100 best buys in U.S. public colleges and universities because of its combination of top-quality academics and low cost. Kiplinger's list, published in 2000, called UNC "a place where high achievers are in good company."

- Black Enterprise magazine ranked UNC 14th in its 2001 "Black Enterprise-DayStar Top 50 Colleges and Universities for African Americans" list, the highest ranking among major public universities. DayStar, a research firm, gathered the data for the list, which is based on responses to questions about which schools were both a good academic and social fit for African-American students.

- The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education concluded that UNC had the most tenured African-American faculty - 51 - among the nation's highest-ranked universities. The same 2002 survey also listed Carolina as one of only four highly ranked universities to have 100 or more African-American professors.

- Business Week magazine ranked the Kenan-Flagler Business School's executive education programs among the best in the world in 2001. Kenan-Flagler was fifth among executive MBA programs and 18th among executive education programs. "Grads praise the commitment and knowledge of faculty and staff," according to Business Week.

KEY STATISTICS

- Now in its third century, UNC belongs to the select group of 61 American and two Canadian campuses forming the Association of American Universities. UNC's academic offerings span more than 100 fields, including 84 bachelor's, 165 master's and 108 doctoral degrees as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law. Five health schools -- which, with UNC Hospitals, comprise one of the nation's most complete academic medical centers -- are integrated with liberal arts, basic sciences and high-tech academic programs.

- In fall 2001, Carolina enrolled 25,480 students from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and nearly 100 other countries. Eighty-one percent of Carolina's 15,844 undergraduates were from North Carolina. Sixty-four percent of Carolina's students were undergraduates, 29 percent graduates and another 9 percent were professional degree-seekers.

- Those students learn from a faculty that totaled about 2,600 full-time members in fall 2001. Many Carolina faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic groups.

- Carolina's 236,142 alumni live in all 50 states and around the world. Notable alumni include U.S.

NORTH CAROLINA

President James K. Polk; Nobel Prize winner Robert Furchgott; Pulitzer Prize winners writers Jonathan Yardley and Taylor Branch and editorial cartoonist Jeff MacNelly; writers Thomas Wolfe, Clyde Edgerton, Russell Banks, Charles Frazier, Jill McCorkle, Kaye Gibbons and Randall Kenan; journalists Charles Kuralt, Roger Mudd, Tom Wicker, Deborah Potter and Stuart Scott; radio personality Rick Dees; geneticist Francis Collins; and corporate banker Hugh McColl.

- Prominent alumni include athletes Michael Jordan, Vince Carter, Mia Hamm, Marion Jones, Allen Johnson and Davis Love III; U.S. Senator John Edwards; former White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles; former White House Communications Director Don Baer; Bill Harrison, chairman and chief executive officer of JP Morgan Chase & Co.; and Scott Livengood, Krispy Kreme Doughnut chairman, president and chief executive officer. Others include John Crawford, designer of the Intel 386 and 486 chip; David Gardner, founder of The Motley Fool; actors Jack Palance, Andy Griffith, George Grizzard, Dan Cortese, Billy Crudup and Josh Tower; actresses Louise Fletcher, Sharon Lawrence and Tally Sessions; opera singer Vickie Livengood; and fashion designer Alexander Julian.

STUDENTS

- The entering freshman class of 2001 was the strongest in Carolina history, marking the third straight year of record-setting improvement in academic preparation and overall diversity.
- UNC students have a long tradition of outstanding achievement. Thirty-five have been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship since it was created in 1902, including the first U.S. black woman recipient. Twelve Chapel Hill students have won the Rhodes since 1980.

LEARNING

- The 2002 freshman class is the third wave of Carolina students required to own laptop computers as part of the Carolina Computing Initiative. In 2000, 3,400 Chapel Hill freshmen became the largest class in the United States ever required to own laptops during the first year of the requirement. Students can access a world of knowledge at their fingertips and communicate with faculty and peers with just a few keystrokes.
- Carolina is making it easier for students and others with laptops to connect to the Internet, e-mail and course materials – whether they are in classrooms, labs, libraries and nearby outdoor sites – thanks to wireless technology. Wireless access points have been installed at key campus locations, allowing students with adapter cards to connect to cyberspace without physically plugging into the campus network.
- This fall, Carolina becomes the only university in the state and one of just a handful nationwide offering a bachelor's degree in the cutting-edge, rapidly evolving field of information science.
- UNC's Kenan-Flagler Business School has joined four other top business schools in China, Brazil, Mexico and the Netherlands to design and deliver OneMBA, a premier global executive MBA program that is radically different from programs offered by other leading business schools.

RESEARCH

- Fiscal 2001 overall research funding at UNC topped the $438.7 million mark for contracts and grants awarded for research, teaching and public service -- an increase of 17 percent over the previous fiscal year.
- Much of the increase resulted from a 14 percent jump in National Institutes of Health funding. UNC faculty received $236.8 million in NIH funding -- up from $207 million in 2000 -- ranking 12th overall among private and public universities nationwide, and up from 13th last year.
- Carolina just cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding in fiscal 2000. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.
- Carolina has committed at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The campus wide initiative, which represents public and private investments, will allow Carolina to be a driving force in determining how the genomics revolution will change the way we treat human diseases, design drugs and grow crops.

EDUCATION AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

- UNC is building the new Sonja Haynes Stone Black Cultural Center building, funded by $9 million in private donations. It will house classrooms, seminar rooms, a gallery, dance studio and spaces for performances, lectures, meetings and offices. Construction is scheduled for completion by the end of 2003. Now based in the Frank Porter Graham Student Union, the center is among the nation's leading centers for research, teaching, learning and public service related to black history and culture.
- ibiblio, a collaboration between the university and the Center for the Public Domain, is known as the "the public's library and digital archive." It offers software archives, music archives, large text database projects and special exhibits. The site is dedicated to maintaining the open source philosophy in the development and management of its collections. Some of the most respected and most-used software archives reside on ibiblio, home to one of the largest "collections of collections" available on the Internet. ibiblio will observe its 10th anniversary in October 2002.

- From the Ackland Art Museum to the Morehead Planetarium to the North Carolina Botanical Garden, Carolina offers a vast array of educational and cultural opportunities. The Ackland exhibits from a permanent collection of more than 15,000 works of art, particularly rich in Old Master paintings and sculptures by artists including Degas, Rubens and Pissarro; Indian miniatures; Japanese paintings; and North Carolina folk art. Astronomy enthusiasts and schoolchildren from across North Carolina enjoy the Morehead Planetarium. Besides its displays of native and unusual plants and its nature trails, the Botanical Garden offers art exhibits, nature walks and courses on topics ranging from home gardening to botanical illustration.

- Professional theater also has a permanent place at Carolina through the PlayMakers Repertory Company, which performs in the Paul Green Theatre. The Carolina Union Performing Arts Series brings national and international dance, theatre and musical performances to campus.

PUBLIC SERVICE

- Carolina's public service activities reach every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect their public health, improve their schools and medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage and enrich their quality of life.
- Launched in 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service engages faculty, staff and students in public service activities that have a positive, long-term effect on the lives of many North Carolinians.
- One of Carolina's most visionary student outreach programs is a.p.p.l.e.s. (Assisting People to Plan Learning Experiences in Service), the nation's first student-run service-learning program. Participants volunteer in the community or perform internships in nonprofit or government agencies as part of course work, then write about or discuss their experiences with faculty.
- The School of Government includes the Institute of Government, the nation's largest and most diversified university-based government training and research organization, and a highly regarded master of public administration degree program that prepares graduate students for leadership positions in public service. The school provides state, community and local government leaders with a broad array of services related to the operation of North Carolina government.

KENAN MEMORIAL STADIUM - ENTERING ITS 76th YEAR AS HOME OF THE TAR HEELS

KENAN STADIUM

Carolina football plays its home games at Kenan Memorial Stadium, one of the most picturesque athletic venues in America. Kenan Stadium has been the home of the Tar Heels since 1927 and the thrill of playing in or attending a game there is as exhilarating now as it was when it was first constructed.

The stadium's beauty, charm and simple elegance have not been diminished with the expansion project that added nearly 8,000 seats, a state-of-the-art football facility, chancellor's box and preferred seating box. The renovation and expansion project was financed through a combination of private contributions and storied history of the sport in Chapel Hill are on display. The 18 Carolina players who have been honored by placing their names and numbers on display in the stadium are also featured in the Hall of Honor. Special plaques, flags and an audio-visual presentation on each player are highlighted.

The James A. Heavner Theater was made possible by a special gift by the former executive producer of the Tar Heels Sports Network and president of Vilcom. The theater is a 30-person mini-theater equipped with surround sound and seven dramatic videos presenting the history of UNC football.

Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many observers say Kenan Stadium is the most beautiful football facility in the country.

through the Educational Foundation and bonded indebtedness from the athletic department through the sale of revenue-generating bonds. The Educational Foundation and its members have committed more than $50 million to the project.

Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many observers say Kenan Stadium is the most beautiful football facility in the country. One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it cannot be surpassed.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact. The addition of the Frank H. Kenan Football Center and the North Side Stadium Preferred Seating Box have further enhanced the stadium's status as a campus landmark.

"Kenan Stadium brings back so many memories," says Head Coach John Bunting. "So many players have given so much of themselves on that field. I had some great times as a player in Kenan Stadium and as head coach, I want to help produce many more memories for our fans. In my opinion, it is the best place to experience college football."

The Kenan Football Center houses the Carolina football program, including the locker rooms, weight room, training room, equipment room, players' lounge, computer labs and study areas, 100-plus seat auditorium, coaches' offices, theater and Hall of Honor.

The Hall of Honor, located on the ground floor, is a multi-media history of Carolina football. Photographs, awards, trophies and artifacts detailing the rich

A number of rooms in the Kenan Football Center have been dedicated in the honor or memory of Carolina's benefactors, fans and athletic personalities. They include the Brinkley Lounge, the fourth floor reception area named for Harvey M. Brinkley Jr.; the Don McCauley/Paul Miller Head Coach's Suite; the Norman M. (Buddy) Black Jr. Lounge, the fourth floor hospitality area; the Oscar Davenport/Chris Keldorf Quarterback Meeting Room as given by Bob Biggerstaff; the Jo Allison Clary Smith Weight Room; the Carolina Football Players' Locker Room, named in behalf of the more than 400 former Tar Heels who donated more than $2 million to the project; Koury Box North, box seating on the north side of the stadium named for Maurice J. Koury; the John W. Pope Academic Support Facility; the John W. Pope Stadium Box, a stadium box on the north side; the John W. Swofford Auditorium and the Jimmy W. Garrell coaches meeting room.

The expansion project, in which great care was taken to ensure that the surrounding environment would be altered as little as possible, ties the north and south concourses to either end of the lower deck via the third level of the Kenan Center, making fan movement around the stadium much easier.

The football center is named in honor of the late Frank H. Kenan, one of the school's most generous benefactors. Kenan was a Durham resident and chief executive officer of Kenan Transport Company in Chapel Hill. He passed away at age 83 in 1996.

Kenan, a 1935 Carolina graduate, was the great-great-grandson of General James Kenan, a member of the University's founding board of trustees. An Atlanta native, Kenan had a tremendous impact on the growth of the University. He served on many campus boards, including the Board of Visitors and the Educational Foundation Board of Directors.

In recent years the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, of which he was a trustee, has donated more than $100 million to schools in the state's consolidated university system, including Carolina, NC State and the N.C. School of the Arts. Among other things, the trust funds 92 William R. Kenan Jr. Professorships at 56 colleges and universities nationwide.

He served on the steering committee of Carolina's Bicentennial Campaign, the University's largest fund-raising effort. Gifts by him, his family and the trust during the campaign exceeded $31 million. The largest portion of that was targeted for the business school. In 1991 the school was renamed the Kenan-

Flagler Business School after a $10 million gift.

The preferred seating box that rises above the second deck of the grandstand on the north side of the stadium has outdoor seating for almost 1,200 spectators. That includes the Chancellor's Box on the second level of the box 45 feet above the ground. The fourth level, 68 feet high, has outdoor seating for more than 1,000, plus concessions and a 7500 square foot lounge. There is a smaller lounge and food prep areas on the third floor.

The Kenan Football Center and preferred seating box are the predominant changes in a multi-year renovation plan that began in 1995. A new playing field was installed that spring.

The new turf includes an improved drainage system beneath the field that drains through the field itself rather than off the sides of the field as in the past. Prior to the 1996 season the restrooms and concession stands were expanded and renovated.

Another significant stadium expansion took place prior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats between the 40-yard lines where the press box and chancellor's box formerly stood. A new press box was constructed on top of the upper deck on the stadium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line.

Also part of the 1987-88 project were a permanent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the north side of the field and a football lettermen's lounge on the south side. The lights are part of a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the lightpoles. Cost of the entire project was $7

Jr. Charitable Trust, which was established by his will, donated $1,000,000 to enlarge and modernize Kenan Fieldhouse.

In 1988 the Kenan Trust made another $1,000,000 gift to complete the new chancellor's box on the North Side. Another lasting memory of William R. Kenan Jr. is the Kenan Athletic Scholarship Endowment valued at over $1,000,000. Each year a student athlete is awarded a full scholarship from this fund.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record at Kenan Stadium is 240-142-16. The most points

"I can say that here at the University of North Carolina they have facilities second to none in college football. (Our visit) has been very impressive."

■ Carolina Panthers Head Coach John Fox

"The facilities are beautiful. The additions in the football center, the hall of fame, weight room, locker rooms and meeting rooms are as fine as any I've seen on any college campus. I wish I could go back to my college days and get recruited to Chapel Hill. This is a beautiful place."

million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. During his business career he was president of The Florida East Coast Railroad, The Florida East Coast Hotel Company, The West Palm Beach Water Company and the Florida East Coast Car Ferry Company.

He was a director of Florida Power and Light Company and built the first power plant in Miami in the early 1900s.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Mr. Kenan who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents and the pressing need for a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediately endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium.

Mr. Kenan remained very interested in Kenan Stadium throughout his lifetime. In the 1950s he gave a $1,000,000 contribution to construct a second deck on the stadium. After Mr. Kenan's death in 1965 the William R. Kenan scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

The Tar Heels have a 42-17 mark at Kenan Stadium in the last 10 seasons.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in 1963 the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 in 1979, 52,000 in 1988, 57,500 in 1997 and 60,000 in 1998.

At the East end of the stadium is the Kenan Fieldhouse, home of the Student-Athlete Development Center. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility. For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. UNC's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in assisting student-athletes.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. In 1997, the Tar Heels played in front of a record-shattering crowd of 62,000 on Nov. 8, 1997, as fifth-ranked Carolina battled No. 2 Florida State. The largest crowd to watch a game prior to the most recent major expansion was 54,300 as Carolina defeated N.C. State, 31-17, in 1994.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium — a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the ACC area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset. Portable lights were also used in the 1987 Clemson game which was televised nationally by ESPN.

The 1991 season opener versus Cincinnati and the Clemson game, which was televised nationally by ESPN, were the first true night games ever played at Kenan Stadium.

TAR HEELS COMPLETE TURNAROUND WITH PEACH BOWL WIN OVER AUBURN

After starting the season with three consecutive losses, North Carolina completed the greatest turnaround in school history, winning eight of its last 10 games, including a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels, led by first-year head coach John Bunting, finished 8-5 overall, 5-3 (3rd) in the Atlantic Coast Conference and earned their first bowl trip since 1998. It was the 10th winning season in the last 11 years.

Carolina dropped its first three games to Oklahoma, Maryland and Texas before putting together a five-game win streak that included a 41-9 rout of Florida State and a dominating 38-3 victory at Clemson. The FSU game was Bunting's first win at Carolina and was UNC's first win over the Seminoles in 13 meetings. After falling to Georgia Tech and Wake Forest, Carolina closed the regular season with wins over Duke and SMU to earn the Peach Bowl bid.

BUNTING WINS THE MOST OF ANY FIRST-YEAR TAR HEEL COACH

Head coach John Bunting won more games (8) in his first season at North Carolina than any other first-year coach in school history. Carl Torbush (1998) and Carl Snavely (1934) each won seven games in their first seasons. Bunting, a 1972 North Carolina graduate, was the first former letterwinner to coach the Tar Heels since 1956.

PEPPERS WINS LOMBARDI TROPHY & BEDNARIK AWARD

Defensive end Julius Peppers became the first Tar Heel to win a major college football award when he was named the 2001 Rotary Lombardi Award winner in Houston on Dec. 5. The Lombardi Trophy is given annually to the nation's best lineman. Peppers beat out fellow defensive ends Dwight Freeney of Syracuse and Alex Brown of Florida for the honor.

A day after winning the Lombardi Trophy, Peppers flew to Orlando where he was presented the Chuck Bednarik Award as the nation's top overall defensive player.

Peppers also was named the Chevrolet National Defensive Player of the Year and was one of five finalists for the Bronko Nagurski Trophy, which is given to the nation's top overall defensive player by the Charlotte Touchdown Club.

In 2001, Peppers had 63 tackles, including 19 tackles for loss and 9.5 sacks. He also led the team in interceptions. Peppers finished his three-year Carolina career second on the school's all-time list in sacks (30.5) and tackles for losses (53).

Carolina completed the greatest turnaround in school history by winning eight of its last 10 games, including a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Peach Bowl.

PEPPERS UNANIMOUS ALL-AMERICA; JERSEY WILL HANG IN KENAN STADIUM

Peppers was a unanimous All-America selection and his No. 49 jersey will be added to the facade of Kenan Stadium in 2002. He is just the second unanimous first-team All-America in school history and the first since Lawrence Taylor in 1980. He was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Football News, Walter Camp Football Foundation, American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) and Cnnsi.com. Peppers is the first Tar Heel to be named consensus first-team All-America at UNC since defensive end Greg Ellis, linebacker Brian Simmons and cornerback Dre' Bly earned that honor in 1997.

PEPPERS, SIMS AMONG FIRST SIX NFL DRAFT PICKS

Defensive linemen Julius Peppers and Ryan Sims were two of the top six picks in the 2002 NFL Draft. Peppers was the No. 2 overall pick by the Carolina Panthers and Sims was taken with the sixth pick by the Kansas City Chiefs. Peppers and Sims were among six Tar Heels selected. Linebacker David Thornton was taken in the fourth round by Indianapolis, while Joey Evans, Ronald Curry and Quincy Monk were picked in the seventh round. There were more players taken in the NFL Draft from North Carolina than any other school in the country.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

In 2001, quarterback Darian Durant set Carolina freshman records for touchdown passes (17), completions (142), passing yards (1,843) and total offense (1,971).

THORNTON ONE OF BEST STORIES

David Thornton, a former walk-on who was awarded a scholarship prior to the start of the 2001 season, blossomed into one of the Tar Heels' top playmakers on defense in 2001. Thornton led the team with 131 total tackles, was second with 10 tackles for loss and third with three sacks. He had double digits in tackles in seven games this season, including a season-high 17 against Wake Forest. He entered the 2001 season with just 24 career tackles, including 16 tackles as a special teams player in 2000.

Thornton was voted UNC's defensive MVP and earned second-team All-ACC honors and he was selected in the fourth round of the 2002 NFL Draft by the Indianapolis Colts.

AIKEN COMPLETES BREAKOUT SEASON

Junior wide receiver Sam Aiken had eight touchdown catches in 2001, just one shy of the school record of nine set by Marcus Wall in 1994. Aiken had one touchdown catch against FSU, East Carolina, Virginia and Wake Forest and two touchdown receptions against both Georgia Tech and Duke. The Kenansville, N.C., native led the team with 46 catches for 789 yards, a team-leading 17.6 yards per catch. Aiken was fifth in the ACC in receiving yards per game.

TAR HEELS TIE TD PASS RECORD

Carolina quarterbacks threw 25 touchdown passes in 2001, tying the school record established in 1996. Darian Durant had 17 touchdown passes and Ronald Curry had eight. Curry's 43-yard pass to Chesley Borders in the SMU game tied the record. In 1996, Chris Keldorf tossed a single-season school-record 23 touchdown passes and Oscar Davenport had two.

Carolina's 239.3 yards passing per game was the fourth-highest per game average in school history and the most since the 1997 Tar Heels set the school record with 261.8 yards a game.

DURANT HAS IMPRESSIVE FRESHMAN CAMPAIGN

Redshirt freshman quarterback Darian Durant had one of the best offensive seasons in UNC history despite starting just two games and splitting time with Ronald Curry in 11 games.

In 2001, Durant established Carolina freshman records for touchdown passes (17), completions (142), passing yards (1,843) and total offense (1,971).

Durant's 17 touchdown passes were the third-highest single-season total in UNC history. Chris Keldorf set the school record with 23 TD passes in 1996 and Matt Kupec had 18 touchdown passes in 1979.

Durant was second in the ACC and 12th in the nation in pass efficiency (149.29). Florida State redshirt freshman Chris Rix was the only freshman in the country with a better efficiency rating (156.6). Durant completed 63.7 percent (142 of 223) of his attempts.

Durant was named the ACC's Rookie of the Week six times and finished second behind Chris Rix for ACC Rookie of the Year honors.

CURRY'S RECORD-BREAKING CAREER

Ronald Curry had an outstanding career at UNC. Curry holds UNC career records for total offense, passing yards, rushing yards by a quarterback and rushing touchdowns by a quarterback. He also is second in career pass completion and fourth in touchdown passes. In 2000, he established a single-season school record with 2,676 total yards.

Curry started 10 games in 2001 and was 62 of 134 passes for 1,005 yards and eight touchdowns. He also rushed for 253 yards and three touchdowns.

He earned offensive MVP honors in the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl and the 2001 Peach Bowl.

WIDE RECEIVERS COME UP BIG

After struggling earlier in 2001, Carolina's wide receivers made significant strides in the final two months of the season. After scoring no touchdowns in the first three games of the year, Carolina's top three receivers – Sam Aiken, Kory Bailey and Bosley Allen – scored 18 touchdowns in the next eight games.

In addition, a UNC receiver had at least 100 yards receiving in four of the last five games. Allen had back-to-back 100-yard games at Clemson and vs. Georgia Tech and Sam Aiken had back-to-back 100-yard games vs. Wake Forest and Duke.

Three Tar Heel receivers made at least 39 receptions, including 46 by Sam Aiken, 44 by Kory Bailey and 39 by Bosley Allen. The last time Carolina had three receivers with at least 30 catches was in 1997. It was just the second time Carolina has ever had two receivers with at least 40 receptions. The other was in 1995 when Leon Johnson, a tailback, had 54 catches and wide receiver Octavius Barnes had 53.

UNC LEADS THE ACC IN TOTAL DEFENSE

Carolina ranked first in the ACC and 15th in the nation in total defense in 2001, allowing just 305.3 yards per contest. The Tar Heels were also first in the conference and eighth in the nation in pass efficiency defense. In other ACC defensive categories, Carolina was first in pass defense (yards per game), second in opponents' third-down conversions, third in rushing defense, and third in scoring defense. Carolina has finished first in the ACC in total defense 12 times. The last time Carolina was No. 1 in total defense was 1997.

Carolina held both Florida State and NC State to just nine points in wins during the 2001 season. It was just the fifth time since 1982 that the Seminoles had been held to less than 10 points.

TAKE A NOTE

■ Carolina won eight of its final 10 games of the 2002 season. The two losses were by a combined total of eight points (1 vs. Wake Forest, 7 at Georgia Tech)

■ Carolina won its fifth consecutive bowl game with a 16-10 victory in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels are one of only three teams to win their last five bowl games. LSU and Miami (Fla.) are the other two teams. Carolina won the 1995 Carquest Bowl (20-10 vs. Arkansas), the 1997 Gator Bowl (20-13 vs. West Virginia), the 1998 Gator Bowl (42-3 vs. Virginia Tech), the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl (20-13 vs. San Diego State) and the 2001 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl (16-10 vs. Auburn).

■ 13 Tar Heels, including starters Kory Bailey, Merceda Perry, Billy-Dee Greenwood, David Thornton, Quincy Monk, Joey Evans and Jeff Reed graduated on Dec. 20, 2001.

■ Carolina was 8-0 after head coach John Bunting installed a rotation system with quarterbacks Ronald Curry and Darian Durant.

■ Carolina played eight teams that earned postseason bowl bids in 2002. That equaled the highest number of any school in the nation.

■ Carolina won eight games in a season for the first time since going 11-1 in 1997.

■ Over the last 10 years, Carolina has played in eight bowl games. Florida State is the only ACC team to have played in more bowl games.

■ Place-kicker Jeff Reed set a school record for consecutive extra points without a miss (66) in 2002.

■ Ronald Curry established the school record for career total offense in a 24-21 win over ECU.

■ Curry played in two bowl games during his career and was named MVP in each of those games. Curry capped his amazing career with offensive MVP honors in the 2001 Peach Bowl. As a freshman, he earned MVP honors after his performance in UNC's 20-13 win over San Diego State in the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl.

■ Carolina had more players (6) taken in the 2002 NFL Draft than any other team in the ACC.

■ In 2001, Carolina was 5-1 at Kenan Stadium, its best record at home since 1997.

■ Carolina had 43 pass plays longer than 20 yards, including six over 50 yards.

OKLAHOMA 41
NORTH CAROLINA 27

■ AUGUST 25, 2001
MEMORIAL STADIUM
NORMAN, OKLA.
TV: ESPN

Defending national champion Oklahoma capitalized on five first-half turnovers to build a 41-7 lead, then held off a late charge by North Carolina to post a 41-27 season-opening win in the Hispanic College Classic.

Carolina aided the Sooners' cause by losing four fumbles and an interception in the opening quarter and a half. Oklahoma returned a fumble, interception and kickoff for touchdowns in the first half.

The Tar Heels dominated the national champions in the second half and finished the game with a statistical advantage in first downs and total offense yards. Carolina gained 290 yards to 286 for the Sooners and had 20 first downs, eight more than Oklahoma.

The Sooners' 286 yards were the fewer than any total they had in their 2000 national title season. Carolina's defense, led by end Julius Peppers and linebacker David Thornton, did not allow Oklahoma to score a point on its last nine possessions.

Redshirt freshman quarterback Darian Durant came off the bench to rally the Tar Heels in the second half. Durant completed 12 of 26 passes for 152 yards and two touchdowns and added another 39 yards on the ground. Durant was Carolina's leading ground gainer, as well.

The Sooners jumped out to a 17-0 lead just 3:39 into the game. Carolina fumbled on the second play, leading to a 25-yard field goal by Tim Duncan.

Oklahoma then went 46 yards on three plays, capped by a 4-yard run by Quinton Griffin. The Tar Heels fumbled the ensuing kickoff and OU recovered at the UNC 19-yard line. Four plays later, Renaldo Works scored from seven yards out and it was 17-0 Oklahoma with 11:21 to play in the first quarter.

Just over seven minutes later, UNC tailback Andre' Williams fumbled and OU All-America linebacker Rocky Calmus scooped up the loose ball and raced 14 yards for a touchdown and a 24-0 lead.

Peppers got the Tar Heels on the board with 1:48 to play in the first when he intercepted a screen pass and dashed 29 yards for a score, his second career interception return for a touchdown.

However, the Sooners' promptly answered as Antwone Savage took a short kickoff and went 88 yards for a score and a 31-7 lead.

Early in the second quarter, Oklahoma cornerback Derrick Strait intercepted a Ronald Curry pass and raced 47 yards for another score.

Oklahoma tacked on its final points of the first half, and as it turned out, the game, on a 22-yard field goal by Duncan. That score followed yet another UNC turnover, this time a fumbled snap at UNC's own 3-yard line.

The Tar Heels scored the game's final 20 points. Cornerback Michael Waddell returned a punt 89 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter to cut Oklahoma's lead to 41-14. The return was the second-longest in Carolina history.

Durant took over for Curry at quarterback on the third series of the second half. He connected with Chesley Borders on a 26-yard TD pass early in the fourth quarter. Borders caught ball over the middle and raced around the corner for the score.

On Carolina's next possession, Durant led the Tar Heels to the end zone again. On 4th-and-10 at the Sooner 45, Durant found Kory

MARYLAND 23 NORTH CAROLINA 7

■ SEPTEMBER 1, 2001
BYRD STADIUM
COLLEGE PARK, Md.

Sophomore tailback Bruce Perry rushed for 116 yards and punter Brooks Barnard won the field position battle as he averaged 50.4 yards per punt in leading the Maryland Terrapins to a 23-7 win over the Tar Heels. It was the ACC opener for both schools.

Barnard was the game's most valuable performer as he repeatedly pinned Carolina deep in its own territory. He dropped six of his eight punts inside the 20-yard line and forced the Tar Heels to begin drives at their own 1, 9, 10, 14, 11 and 16-yard lines. Carolina's average starting field position for the game was its own 22-yard line.

For the second consecutive week, UNC gained more total offense yards, yet lost by double figures. At Oklahoma, five first-half turnovers led to defeat. At Maryland, an ineffective offense and poor field position resulted in the loss.

Carolina outgained the Terps, 276-247. The Tar Heels gained 4.4 yards per play and held the Terps to just 3.4 yards per snap.

However, Maryland had 17 first downs, seven more than UNC.

The Tar Heels scored on their first play from scrimmage as sophomore tailback Willie Parker raced around left end and split the secondary for 77 yards and a touchdown. It was Parker's longest career carry, equaled the 17th-longest in Carolina history, and was the longest run by a Tar Heel since 1993.

It was, unfortunately, 28 percent of Carolina's total yardage output for the entire game.

Two series later, Maryland pulled even, converting two third downs en route to a 20-yard scoring pass from Shaun Hill to wideout Jafar Williams. The scoring drive followed a 53-yard Barnard punt that the Terps killed at the 1-yard line. Carolina had to punt from its own end zone, and the Terps took over at the UNC 32. Facing 3rd-and-12 from the 20, Hill hit Williams on a drag route and Williams raced past cornerback Errol Hood to the end zone for the score.

The Terps took the lead for good early in the second quarter. Barnard dropped another punt at the UNC 10-yard line and Carolina was penalized back to the 5. On third down, safety Tyrone Stewart broke past the blocking and tripped Parker in the end zone for a safety.

Neither team was able to effectively move the ball over the next two quarters. Redshirt freshman Darian Durant replaced Ronald Curry at quarterback midway through the third period, and completed his first three pass attempts for 27 yards. His next throw, however, on 4th-and-4 from the Maryland 38, was intercepted by safety Tony Jackson.

The Terps marched 65 yards in 10 plays and scored on a 5-yard pass from Hill to Scooter Monroe. The key play of the scoring drive was a 12-yard run by Perry on 3rd-and-5 from the Carolina 19.

Durant was intercepted on a tipped ball on the ensuing possession, giving the Terps the ball on their own 46-yard line. Maryland went 54 yards in eight plays for the game-clinching touchdown. Hill converted another third down by rushing for 11 yards on an option run. Marc Riley capped the drive by scoring from a yard out.

The loss marred another fine effort by Carolina defensive end Julius Peppers, who had four tackles for losses for 21 yards, including three Durant was 10 for 14 for 97 yards and two interceptions. Curry completed 6 of 12 for 61 yards and one interception.

For the second straight game Carolina did not force a turnover.

Willie Parker rushed for 102 yards, including a 77-yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage in the loss to Maryland.

TEXAS 44
NORTH CAROLINA 14

■ SEPTEMBER 8, 2001
DARRELL K ROYAL-TEXAS
MEMORIAL STADIUM
AUSTIN, TEXAS
TV: ABC

Texas scored 30 unanswered points over the final 35 minutes and held Carolina to just 211 total yards as the Longhorns defeated the Tar Heels, 44-14, before 83,106 fans.

Nathan Vasher set a Texas school record by returning eight UNC punts for 153 yards, including a backbreaking, 44-yard return for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

Dusty Mangum kicked three field goals for the Longhorns, including a 51-yarder and a pair of late second-quarter kicks that gave Texas a 20-14 lead at halftime.

Texas scored in a variety of ways, although Carolina held the Longhorns' highly-regarded passing game without a touchdown. Texas benefitted from an interception return for a touchdown, a punt return for a score, a long punt return that set up a short rushing touchdown and a safety.

It was the second straight game in which the Tar Heels had allowed a safety.

Simms completed 17 of 35 passes for only 167 yards. His longest completions of the day were 19-yarders to wideouts Roy Williams and Sloan Thomas.

The Longhorns gained 326 yards, despite converting just four of 15 third-down chances.

The Longhorns took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when defensive end Cory Redding intercepted Ronald Curry's pass and dashed 22 yards down the sideline for the score.

Texas forced Carolina to punt on the ensuing possession, and Vasher returned it 59 yards to the Tar Heel 5-yard line. Two plays later, Simms dove in from the one for a 14-0 lead.

UNC promptly answered with a long touchdown drive to cut the Tailback Andre' Williams tied the score at 14 early in the second quarter with this 9-yard touchdown run.

Texas lead in half. Curry hit three long passes – for 13 yards to Chesley Borders, 20 yards to Sam Aiken and 27 yards to Borders – and scored on a dazzling, 20-yard run through the heart of the Texas defense.

Early in the second quarter, Vasher fumbled a John Lafferty punt. UNC fullback Madison Hedgecock recovered the ball at the Longhorn 17-yard line. Andre' Williams, who finished the day with 50 yards, gained eight and nine yards on back-to-back plays to tie the game at 14.

Texas special teams and defense dominated from that point forward, however. Vasher set up a Mangum field goal with a 31-yard punt return. Mangum added 49-yarder as the second quarter ended to send Texas to the locker room with a 20-14 advantage.

Carolina forced the Longhorns to punt on their first two series of the third quarter, but Texas upped its lead to 26-14 on a 12-play, 89-yard march later in the third quarter. The Longhorns cashed in on two of their four third-down conversions on the drive, which was capped by a 7-yard touchdown run by Cedric Benson.

Texas added a field goal, safety, punt return for touchdown, and touchdown run after an interception to provide the final margin. The Longhorns tacked on their final points of the day on a 12-yard run with 36 seconds to play.

Carolina converted just three of 16 third-down opportunities and allowed five quarterback sacks.

Darian Durant passed for two scores, Ronald Curry threw for a touchdown and ran for another and Julius Peppers led a Carolina defense that allowed just 34 second-half yards as the Tar Heels whipped sixth-ranked Florida State, 41-9.

The contest was UNC's first home game of the season and came a week after its game against SMU was postponed due to the September 11 terrorist attacks on the United States.

The win was John Bunting's first as UNC's head coach and was Carolina's first in 13 meetings with the Seminoles. The loss was Florida State's third in ACC competition and the Seminoles' worst regular-season defeat in 16 years.

Durant and Curry combined to throw for 232 yards and three touchdowns. Carolina amassed 301 total yards and held the Seminoles to just 224 yards, 190 of which came in the first two quarters.

It was just the fifth time in Florida State's last 235 games the Seminoles were held to less than 10 points.

The Tar Heels forced five turnovers, registered five quarterback sacks and held the Seminoles to just four of 16 on third down conversions.

Peppers dominated the line of scrimmage as he made 10 tackles, including four for losses, one of which was his 25th career sack, and had an interception, his second of the season.

The game began with a dominant defensive presence on both sides as the first six offensive possessions failed to produce a first down. The Seminoles did record a first down on their fourth series, but on the ensuing play, Carolina linebacker Quincy Monk stripped FSU quarterback Chris Rix of the ball after an 11-yard run and the Tar Heels took over at their 39-yard line.

Freshman Darian Durant marched UNC 61 yards in nine plays for the game's first score. He found Sam Aiken for seven yards and a key first down on a 3rd-and-4 play from the FSU 27. On the next play, Durant hit Aiken in the right flat and Aiken somersaulted into the end zone for a 7-0 lead. It was Carolina's first lead over the Seminoles since 1993.

Midway through the second quarter, Rix dodged a corner blitz and found Talman Gardner for a 29-yard touchdown to tie the game at 7-7. The Seminoles then forced UNC to punt, but center Greg Warren snapped the ball out of the end zone for a safety and a 9-7 Seminole lead.

The second half was all Carolina, but the biggest play of the game may have come on the second play of the third quarter. Durant was intercepted by cornerback Stanford Samuels, but UNC fullback Madison Hedgecock forced Samuels to fumble and tailback Andre Williams recovered to return the ball to the Tar Heels. Five plays later, Durant found Chesley Borders wide open for a 52-yard touchdown to give Carolina the lead for good.

A pair of Jeff Reed field goals in the third quarter increased UNC's lead to 20-9. The two field goals were sandwiched around a holding penalty by Florida State that wiped out an 85-yard touchdown pass by Rix.

Curry extended the lead to 27-9 when he scrambled away from pressure and threw an off-balance pass to Kory Bailey for a 53-yard score early in the final quarter.

Carolina added touchdown runs by Williams (11 yards) and Curry (one yard).

Freshman quarterback Darian Durant connected on a pair of touchdown passes to senior wide receiver Kory Bailey and the Tar Heel defense held its second straight opponent to just nine points as Carolina defeated NC State, 17-9.

The win was UNC's second in a row and the first road win for head coach John Bunting. The victory was Carolina's fourth in a row on NC State's home turf and was its eighth in the last nine games against the Wolfpack.

Durant was at the helm for all three of Carolina's scoring drives, although he alternated at quarterback with senior starter Ronald Curry. Durant completed 10 of 14 passes for 128 yards, and added 46 yards on nine rushes.

Linebacker Quincy Monk (12 tackles) led a Carolina defense that thwarted the Wolfpack on 12 of 15 third down conversions and all three of the Pack's fourth down conversion chances.

Typical of an emotion-filled rivalry game, both teams were flagged 10 times, but none of Carolina's infractions gave NC State a first down.

Carolina scored first and never trailed. Midway through the opening period, Monk forced a fumble that Dexter Reid recovered at the NC State 27-yard line. Moments later, Durant hit Bailey for 14 yards and a 7-0 lead.

Two series later, Rivers led the Pack 71 yards in six plays for a score. Rivers hit Cotra Jackson for 28 yards and threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to Dovonte Edwards. The extra point attempt sailed wide right, however, and Carolina retained a 7-6 lead.

Neither team scored again in the first half. The final nine offensive possessions in the half produced four punts, three turnovers, and a missed field goal.

Durant led Carolina on an 11-play, 59-yard third-quarter march that ended with Jeff Reed kicking a 36-yard field goal to extend UNC's lead to 10-6. The key play on the drive was a 28-yard completion from Durant to Sam Aiken on a 3rd-and-8 play from the UNC 34-yard line.

The Carolina defense forced the Pack to punt after three plays, and the Tar Heels again capitalized for points with another 11-play drive.

Durant completed all five of his pass attempts on the drive for 71 yards and capped the series with a 19-yard scoring pass to Bailey. Durant had earlier completions on the drive to Bailey (14 yards), Aiken (8), Borders (17) and Aiken (7).

in the fourth quarter and had several chances to extend their lead. However, NC State recovered a fumble at its own 38-yard line and turned the Tar Heel mistake into three points. After the turnover, Rivers had completions of 21 and 22 yards on consecutive plays to advance to the Carolina 19-yard line, but the Tar Heels held NC State to a field goal.

On the next series, Curry marched UNC to the Wolfpack 27, but a sack took UNC out of field goal range.

NC State had two more chances to tie the game, advancing to the Carolina 41- and 26-yard lines in the final minutes, but could not score. Defensive end Joey Evans had a sack to stop the next to last drive and the Pack's last chance was halted when cornerback Michael Waddell tackled wide receiver Troy Graham a yard short on fourth down with 28 seconds to play.

Freshman quarterback Darian Durant passed for two touchdowns. Ronald Curry set the UNC career total offense record and Derrick Johnson made a game-saving tackle as North Carolina defeated East Carolina, 24-21.

Durant and Curry once again shared playing time at quarterback and combined for 21 completions in 33 attempts for 278 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions. They also rushed for 52 yards.

Curry had 167 yards of total offense. He connected with Kory Bailey for a 37-yard gain in the fourth quarter. On that play, Curry moved past Jason Stanicek as the school's all-time total offense leader.

Durant's two passing touchdowns increased his season total to eight and established a UNC single-season freshman record.

The Tar Heels overcame a slow start after East Carolina built a 10-0 lead in the first quarter and was in position to add another score.

East Carolina took the game's opening kickoff and marched 75 yards in 10 plays. Quarterback David Garrard completed passes of 30 and 12 yards and had a 14-yard run to set up the first score. On 2nd-and-goal from the 6, Garrard ran option right for one yard, but as he was being tackled he flipped the ball to Richard Alston who scored untouched from the 5.

East Carolina tailbacks Leonard Henry and Art Brown pounded UNC on the Pirates' next possession. Henry gained 45 yards on six carries and Brown added a 26-yard run as the Pirates moved to the Tar Heel 4-yard line, before settling for a 31-yard field goal by Kevin Miller.

Early in the second quarter, the Pirates were at the North Carolina 28 when the momentum shifted to the Tar Heels. Garrard's pass hit the helmet of one of his blockers and UNC safety Dexter Reid intercepted at the 11-yard line.

Nine plays and 89 yards later, it was 10-7. Durant converted two third-down chances – on a 9-yard completion to Bosley Allen and a 15-yarder to Bailey – and put the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a 29-yard strike to Chesley Borders.

Curry led the Tar Heels to the end zone and the lead for good on UNC's first series of the third quarter. He also converted two third-down opportunities. On 2nd-and-goal from the Pirate 5, Curry's pass bounced off the hands of an ECU defender and ricocheted to tight Zach Hilton, who made a diving catch for the touchdown to put the Tar Heels ahead 14-10.

Carolina cashed in on four more third-

In a game full of big plays, Zach Hilton's touchdown catch, originally intended for Brandon Russell, helped propel Carolina to a 24-21 win over ECU.

The play of the game came on the ensuing kickoff. The Tar Heels kicked short and Brown caught it at the ECU 18. He raced through the North Carolina coverage and was going to score until Johnson sprinted from behind and punched the ball out of Brown's hands just one yard from the end zone. The ball rolled out of the end zone for a touchback.

The Tar Heels extended their lead to 11 on a 49-yard field goal by Jeff Reed with 2:48 to play. It equalled the longest field goal of his career.

Garrard led the Pirates to a late touchdown and two-point conversion with 23 seconds to play, but Aiken clinched the win for UNC by recovering the onside kick.

Sophomore tailback Andre' Williams rushed for a career-high 147 yards and a touchdown and safety Dexter Reid broke open a close game with a 67-yard interception return for a touchdown as the Tar Heels beat Virginia, 30-24.

The win was Carolina's first over the Cavaliers since 1997 and was UNC's fourth in as many weeks.

The game was an offensive showcase as the teams combined for 45 first downs and nearly 900 yards of total offense. The offenses converted 15 of 32 third-down opportunities.

Carolina had 11 rushing first downs and another 10 by pass, rushed for 234 yards, averaged 6.2 yards per play, punted just three times, and converted 9 of 16 third-down chances. The Tar Heels gained a season-high 477 yards of offense.

Virginia had 15 passing first downs, averaged 5.5 yards per play and completed 33 of 55 passes for 334 yards and three touchdowns.

For the second consecutive week, the Tar Heels gave up a late score and needed to recover a last-minute onside kick to clinch the victory.

Williams averaged 5.2 yards per rush en route to his 147-yard day. His previous career best was 68 yards at NC State on September 29. He had a 38-yard run, the longest of his career in the first quarter, but UNC fumbled two plays later at the Cavalier 20-yard line.

Later in the opening quarter, freshman quarterback Darian Durant hit Chesley Borders on a slant and Borders raced 53 yards to the Virginia 7. Williams scored around the right corner on the next play.

Michael Waddell blocked a David Greene field goal try on the following series. Carolina then marched to the Virginia 24, but Durant's pass deflected off a receiver and was picked off at the 9-yard line.

Virginia quarterback Matt Schaub and tailback Alvin Pearman then led the Cavaliers on a 10-play, 74-yard drive. Pearman opened the drive with a 24-yard run and Schaub capped it with a 7-yard scoring pass to Tyree Foreman.

Four plays later the Tar Heels went back into the lead on a 66-yard touchdown strike from Ronald Curry to Sam Aiken. It was the longest catch of Aiken's career.

By halftime, the Tar Heels had amassed 312 yards, 100 more than Virginia, but held only a 17-10 advantage.

The Cavaliers promptly opened the second half on a 13-play, 80-yard advance to tie the game at 17. Virginia converted four third-down chances, including Schaub's 4-yard touchdown pass to Michael McGrew with 9:40 left in the third quarter.

Carolina regained the lead on a 22-yard field goal by Jeff Reed. Key plays on the scoring drive, which stalled at UVA 4, were a 24-yard catch by Kory Bailey and a 20-yard pass play to Bosley Allen.

Reed extended UNC's lead to 23-17 a series later on a 38-yard field goal.

Virginia then moved to the UNC 35-yard line in just three plays, setting up the biggest play of the day. Schaub attempted a pass to tight end Kase Luzar, but the ball bounced off Luzar's shoulder pads and into the air. Reid picked the ball out of the air and raced 67 yards down the sideline for a touchdown.

It was the second straight week Reid made a key interception.

The Tar Heel defense then forced punts on each of Virginia's next three possessions. A fumble by Carolina with two minutes to play gave the Cavs one last hope, however. Schaub responded by throwing a 4-yard scoring pass to Billy McMullen with 1:01 left to cut UNC's lead to 30-24.

Greene attempted an onside kick, but Carolina cornerback Kevin Knight recovered the ball.

Dexter Reid intercepted this pass and returned it 67-yards for a touchdown to clinch a 30-24 victory over Virginia.

Darian Durant and Ronald Curry completed a combined 14 of 18 passes for 206 yards and two touchdowns and Carolina held Heisman Trophy frontrunner Woodrow Dantzler to just 116 total yards as the Tar Heels routed No. 13 Clemson before 84,000 Homecoming fans in Death Valley.

The victory equalled Carolina's largest-ever margin at Clemson. The Tar Heels also beat the Tigers by 35 points in 1970. Head coach John Bunting was a junior linebacker at UNC that year.

Carolina became the first team in ACC history to open the season 0-3 and rebound with five straight wins.

The loss equalled the second-worst ACC home loss in Clemson history.

Dantzler compiled more than 900 total offense yards in his previous two games. However, the Tar Heels held him to 43 rushing yards on 12 carries and 10 of 25 passing for 73 yards, one interception and no touchdowns. Dantzler was lifted in the third quarter for Willie Simmons, but Simmons was just 4 for 21 for 71 yards and an interception.

Carolina held the Tigers to 209 yards, an average of 2.8 per play.

Meanwhile, the Tar Heels compiled in excess of 400 total yards for the third consecutive game and did so in balanced fashion.

The Tar Heels rushed for 219 yards and passed for 206. UNC completed seven of 14 third-down chances, the third consecutive game in which Carolina converted at least half its third-down chances.

Curry played his best game of the year, but was forced to leave with a pulled left hamstring in the third quarter. The Hampton, Va., senior gained 82 yards on 10 carries and completed three passes for 109

Julius Peppers made an incredible interception in Carolina's 38-3 win at Clemson. The Tar Heel defense held Heisman Trophy candidate Woody Dantzler to just 116 total yards.

Durant was perfect in the air, as he completed all 11 of his pass attempts for 97 yards and a score. Durant also rushed for a pair of touchdowns.

The Tar Heels led from start to finish, although the Tigers took the opening kickoff and moved to the UNC 29-yard line. However, safety Dexter Reid and defensive end Julius Peppers each sacked Dantzler and linebacker Quincy Monk added a hit behind the line of scrimmage and forced Clemson to punt.

Later in the first quarter, Curry hit Sam Aiken on a quick slant for 36 yards to the Tiger 9. Two plays later, Andre' Williams scored from four yards out for a 7-0 lead.

Early in the second quarter, with UNC leading 7-3, Peppers made a spectacular play to set up Carolina's second touchdown.

Peppers shed two blockers, jumped in the air to deflect Dantzler's pass and intercepted the ball at the Tiger 22-yard line after falling to his knees.

On 3rd-and-10 following Peppers' interception, Durant hit Bosley Allen in the left corner of the end zone for 22 yards and a score.

One series later, the Tar Heels struck again. Curry started the drive with an 11-yard run, converted a 3rd-and-4 with a 10-yard scramble and then went deep to Allen for a 48-yard touchdown.

The 21 first-half points were already the most UNC had scored at Death Valley since 1980.

The Tar Heels added touchdowns on their second and third possessions of the third quarter.

GEORGIA TECH 28 NORTH CAROLINA 21

ATLANTA, GA.

Joe Burns rushed for 198 yards and a touchdown and Georgia Tech held the Tar Heels to just 13 rushing yards as the Yellow Jackets beat North Carolina, 28-21.

The game was played on a Thursday evening in front of a national television audience on ESPN.

Burns, who rushed for 126 yards and four scores against UNC in 2000, carried 34 times en route to the seventh-largest yardage figure ever allowed by the Tar Heels. He scored the eventual winning touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 51-yard run down the right sideline.

The Yellow Jackets made several big plays on special teams. Kelly Rhino set a Georgia Tech record with 111 yards on four punt returns.

Freshman quarterback Darian Durant made his first career start in place of injured senior Ronald Curry. Durant completed 22 of 37 for 286 yards. He threw for three touchdowns and was picked off once.

That interception was the only turnover of the contest and led to a second quarter field goal.

Durant connected with Bosley Allen nine times for 114 yards and threw for a pair of scores to Sam Aiken. It was the first time in nine games Durant started and played every snap at quarterback. Curry was unable to play due to a strained hamstring.

The Yellow Jackets scored on the third play of the second quarter, but threatened the end zone in the opening quarter. Linebacker David Thornton stopped Burns on fourth-and-goal from the 1-foot line to keep the game scoreless. UNC could only manage two yards and punted from its own end zone. Tech started its next drive at the Carolina 31 and put the first points on the board four plays later. Quarterback George Godsey found Jonathan Smith on a quick slant and Smith split the UNC defense for a touchdown from 17 yards out.

Durant promptly led the Tar Heels to a tying score. He had completions for 18 yards to Allen and 17 yards to Kory Bailey to move the ball to the Tech 30-yard line, then found Bailey all alone in the end zone for the score.

Durant was picked off on Carolina's next possession, but a sack by Ryan Sims helped limit the Yellow Jackets to a go-ahead field goal by Luke Manget. Manget added a 25-yard field goal with two seconds left in the first half to give Tech a 13-7 advantage at the break.

The Tar Heels took their only lead of the game on their initial possession of the second half. Thornton intercepted Godsey and returned the ball 19 yards to Tech's 41-yard line. Facing 3rd-and-12, Durant connected with Allen for 19 yards. Then on 3rd-and-9 from the 15, Durant fired toward the end zone. The ball was tipped by a Yellow Jacket defender, but Aiken grabbed the ball for a touchdown.

Tech answered back on its next possession on an 18-play, 84-yard drive that consumed 8:47 off the clock. The Yellow Jackets converted each of its five third-down chances on the drive and scored on a 3-yard run off left tackle by Godsey.

Midway through the final period Burns dashed around the right side, sprinted down the sideline and escaped from several would-be tacklers and scored on a 51-yard run. A successful two-point conversion pass from Godsey to Burns gave Tech a 28-14 lead with 7:48 to play.

Wake Forest quarterback James MacPherson engineered scoring drives on five consecutive second half possessions to lead the Demon Deacons to a 32-31, come-from-behind win over North Carolina.

MacPherson scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 1-yard run with 1:17 to play. That score gave the Deacons their only lead of the game.

Carolina led 24-0 at halftime and 31-14 after three quarters, largely due to the play of freshman quarterback Darian Durant. Durant completed 24 of 32 passes for 361 yards and four touchdowns. He set UNC single-game freshman records for pass completions, passing yards and passing touchdowns.

The Tar Heels held the Deacons to 118 total offense yards in the first half. By contrast, Carolina compiled 338 yards, including 264 passing by Durant.

However, in the second half, Carolina committed two turnovers and allowed a safety. The Deacons gained 236 yards, 143 of which came on the ground. Wake Forest had 18 first downs in the final two periods.

Trailing 24-0 in the third, Wake Forest began its comeback by forcing a fumble by wide receiver Brandon Russell in UNC territory. The Deacs then got on the scoreboard on an 11-yard reverse run by wide-out John Stone.

On its next possession, Wake Forest went 54 yards in seven plays, capped by another touchdown run on a reverse by receiver Fabian Davis.

Carolina answered back for the only time in the half on its ensuing possession. Durant finished a 12-play, 80-yard march with a 12-yard touchdown pass to tight end Zach Hilton.

The Deacons responded with an 80-yard touchdown drive of their own. Tarence Williams scored from three yards out to cut UNC's lead to 31-21 with 11:01 left in the contest.

A field goal with 5:56 to play made it 31-24 and a safety cut the lead to five with 4:59 remaining. The safety came when UNC's Greg Warren sent his snap over punter John Lafferty and out of the end zone.

Wake Forest began at its own 41 following the safety and subsequent free kick. MacPherson marched the Deacs to the end zone in 10 plays, sneaking over the goal line for the go-ahead score with 77 seconds to play.

Durant almost led the Tar Heels in range for a winning field goal. He completed his first three passes for 12, six and 15 yards, to the Deacon 47-yard line. However, on the next play, Durant was sacked and stripped of the ball by Quintin Williams, and Caron Bracy recovered to clinch the win for the Deacons.

Tarence Williams led Wake Forest with 29 rushes for 101 yards. MacPherson was only 13 of 24 passing for 142 yards, but added 49 rushing yards on nine carries.

Sam Aiken's 75-yard touchdown catch-and-run staked the Tar Heels to a 24-0 lead. However, the Demon Deacons roared back for an improbable 32-31 win.

NORTH CAROLINA 52
DUKE 17

■ NOVEMBER 17, 2001
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

Senior quarterback Ronald Curry threw for 217 yards and three touchdowns and rushed for another score to lead Carolina to a 52-17 win over Duke.

The win was Carolina's 12th straight over the Blue Devils.

The 52-point outing, coupled with 59 points against Duke last year, marked the first time Carolina scored 50-plus points in consecutive years against an ACC rival.

Curry, playing for the first time in three weeks because of a knee injury and a death in the family, was spectacular in front of a Senior Day crowd of 52,000. Curry had touchdown passes of 72, 18 and 30 yards, and a dazzling, 11-yard touchdown run.

Curry established Carolina's all-time passing yardage record and scored his 13th career rushing touchdown, another UNC record. He broke Jason Stanicek's career passing yardage record with 4,871 yards.

Curry started and shared time again with redshirt freshman Darian Durant, who completed 11 of 17 pass attempts for 151 yards and a touchdown. The touchdown was Durant's 17th scoring pass of the season, third-best in Carolina history.

The Tar Heels scored in all four quarters – the third time this year they had accomplished that feat – and rolled up a season-high 560 yards. It was Carolina's highest yardage output since the 1995 game against Ohio.

The Tar Heels held Duke to 231 yards, just 59 of which came on the ground. The Blue Devils also completed only 13 of 33 pass attempts.

UNC wide receivers Sam Aiken, Bosley Allen and Kory Bailey combined for 16 catches for 296 yards and four scores. Aiken had his finest collegiate game with seven receptions for 156 yards and two scores. Allen added four receptions for 74 yards and a touchdown and Bailey had five catches for 66 yards and a touchdown.

Freshman tailback Jacque Lewis had a game-high 94 rushing yards and a 31-yard reception. He scored his first collegiate touchdown on a 28-yard run.

Carolina took a 14-0 lead in the first 11 minutes. The game was never closer than seven points from that point on. The Tar Heels got on the board on their second possession as Curry avoided a sack and hit Aiken deep down the left sideline. Aiken eluded several tackles, cut across the field and scored on a 72-yard play.

Durant marched the Tar Heels to the end zone in just five plays in his first series behind center. He found Allen twice on the drive, once for 34 yards and then for 15 yards and a touchdown.

Leading 14-7 in the second, Carolina got a 34-yard run by Willie Parker to set up first-and-goal. On third down from the 11, Curry scrambled to his left, cut through the heart of the Duke defense, dashed to his right, then split two defenders for a touchdown.

Duke cut the lead to 24-17 early in the third quarter on an eight-play, 39-yard touchdown drive.

Leading by just a touchdown, Carolina quickly put the game out of reach by scoring four touchdowns in their next five possessions over the ensuing 16 minutes.

Curry got Carolina back on the board with an 18-yard strike to

NORTH CAROLINA 19 SMU 10

■ DECEMBER 1, 2001
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

Sophomore tailback Willie Parker rushed for 82 yards, including 75 in the second half, and scored a key third quarter touchdown to lift the Tar Heels to a 19-10 win over SMU.

The win was Carolina's seventh of the season and made the Tar Heels bowl eligible. Immediately upon the conclusion of the game, UNC accepted a bid to play in the Chick-Fil-A Peach Bowl.

The SMU game had been re-scheduled from September 15th.

Parker was the offensive spark who broke open a 10-7 game midway through the second half. First, he raced 23 yards to the SMU 4-yard line with a run around left end on a trick play. Then he scored from two yards out to give Carolina a 16-7 lead. On the Tar Heels' next possession, Parker carried the ball seven times for 47 yards to set up a 32-yard field goal by Jeff Reed. The kick gave Carolina a 19-10 advantage with 4:23 to play in the game.

The Tar Heels amassed 374 total offense yards, the seventh time in the last nine games UNC gained at least 300 yards.

Defensively, Carolina yielded 298 yards and did not force a turnover, but gave up just one touchdown. That score came after a UNC turnover deep in its own territory. It was the seventh time this season Carolina allowed under 300 yards of total offense.

UNC's defense allowed only 19 yards by the Mustangs on their first two possessions, setting up the first score of the game. That came on a 43-yard touchdown pass from Curry to Chesley Borders with 4:34 left in the opening quarter.

Neither team threatened to score again in the first half, but the Tar Heels committed a costly mistake to open the second half. Kevin Knight fumbled the opening kickoff of the third quarter and the ball was recovered by SMU at the 12-yard line. ShanDerrick Charles dashed through the UNC defense for a touchdown on the next play to knot the game at 7-7.

UNC began its go-ahead scoring drive at the SMU 48-yard line, but committed an offensive pass interference penalty to push the ball back to its 38-yard line. Durant completed two passes and rushed for 14 yards, but the drive stalled at the 2-yard line. Reed gave Carolina the lead for good with a 19-yard field goal.

Knight made up for his earlier mistake by forcing an SMU punt with a 3-yard tackle for loss. Curry was back at quarterback on Carolina's next possession and marched the Tar Heels to the end zone. On first-and-10 from the SMU 27, Curry took the snap from center, discreetly handed the ball to Parker and faked like he was running the ball to his right. Instead, Parker sprinted around the left end and went for 23 yards before being knocked out of bounds at the 4-yard line. Two plays later, Parker scored from the two, but Jeff Reed missed the extra point.

A 20-yard field goal by Jacob Crowley cut the Tar Heels' lead to 16-10 early in the fourth quarter. Leading 16-10 with 10:10 to play, the Tar Heels engineered a 12-play, 66-yard drive that knocked almost six minutes off the clock. Parker rushed for 13, seven, eight and 21 yards, and Curry gained nine and 10 yards on two carries. A penalty led to a field goal attempt, which Reed converted from 32 yards to give Carolina a 19-10 advantage with 4:23 remaining.

SMU drove to the UNC 16, but a holding penalty slowed the Mustangs' drive. Crowley hooked a 40-yard field goal wide left with 1:24 to go to seal the win for Carolina.

Following Carolina's 19-10 victory over SMU, head coach John Bunting accepted an invitation to play in the 2001 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

NORTH CAROLINA 16
AUBURN 10

■ DECEMBER 31, 2001
GEORGIA DOME
ATLANTA, GA.
TV: ESPN

Willie Parker rushed for 131 yards and Ryan Sims led a spirited defensive effort as North Carolina won its fifth consecutive postseason bowl appearance with a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The win capped off the greatest turnaround in school history as Carolina completed the season by winning eight of its last 10 games after starting 0-3.

Parker, who was starting his first game since September, was spectacular, scoring on a 10-yard run in the first quarter and setting up a second-quarter field goal with a 43-yard dash. Parker had the fifth-best rushing day in UNC bowl history and it was the 11th time a Tar Heel had rushed for more than 100 yards in a bowl game.

Parker's touchdown was set up by Carolina's defense, which allowed just 32 total rushing yards and shutout Auburn for three quarters. In the first quarter, cornerback Michael Waddell forced a fumble at the Auburn 26-yard line that defensive end Joey Evans picked up and rumbled to the Auburn 8-yard line. Two plays later, Parker's touchdown gave Carolina a 7-0 lead.

Late in the second quarter, Parker jump-started the UNC offense again with a 43-yard run from the Carolina 11 to the Auburn 46-yard line. On third down, quarterback Darian Durant completed a short pass to Sam Aiken who zig zagged his way through the Tiger defense to the 3-yard line, setting up Jeff Reed's 22-yard field goal and giving Carolina a 10-0 halftime lead.

Curry, who was named the game's Offensive MVP, scored on an incredible touchdown run in the third quarter to give Carolina a 16-0 advantage. On a broken play, Curry avoided several Tiger tacklers, cut back across the Auburn defense and sprinted 62 yards to the end zone. It was the longest touchdown run of Curry's career. His MVP honor was the second of his career after receiving the same distinction as a freshman in the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl.

Defensively, Carolina came up with several big plays throughout the game and held off a furious Auburn comeback in the fourth quarter. Sims, the Defensive MVP, had six tackles, including two sacks and was constantly disrupting the Auburn backfield.

Auburn's only sustained scoring drive occurred early in the fourth quarter when the Tigers drove the ball to the UNC 10-yard line. However, on third and two, Auburn quarterback Jason Campbell was flushed out of the pocket by Anthony Perkins before David Thornton sacked him for a 7-yard loss. The Tigers' David Duval then kicked a 34-yard field goal to make the score 16-3.

The Tigers put together another drive two possessions later, moving the ball from their own 26-yard line to the Carolina 19-yard line. However, on second down from the 19, Auburn quarterback Daniel Cobb's pass was intercepted by Michael Waddell at the UNC 11-yard line.

With under two minutes to play in the game and the Tar Heels comfortably ahead, Auburn recovered Carolina's fumbled punt attempt at the UNC 20-yard line.

Tiger quarterback Daniel Cobb seized the opportunity, completing two passes within 12 seconds, including a 12-yard touchdown toss that brought Auburn within six points.

Duvall attempted an onside kick, but Carolina's Richard Moore covered the ball and the Tar Heels ran out the clock.

Ronald Curry closed out his North Carolina career by capturing MVP honors in the Peach Bowl. Curry scored on this career-long 62-yard run as Carolina defeated Auburn, 16-10.

Pugh Morton

Carl Snavelly served two stints as Carolina's head coach - from 1934-35 and 1945-52. He led the Tar Heels to three New Year's Day bowl games, including the 1947 Sugar Bowl, 1949 Sugar Bowl and the 1950 Cotton Bowl. He compiled a record of 59-35-5 and coached the great Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice.

Bill Dooley coached 11 years at North Carolina - more than any other head coach - and is tied for second all-time with 69 victories. Dooley revitalized the program in the early 1970s, capturing ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. John Bunting was a part of Dooley's first recruiting class in 1969.

Mack Brown led the Tar Heels to 69 victories in 10 years as UNC's head coach. Under Brown, Carolina had eight consecutive winning seasons and went to six bowl games. In his last two seasons in Chapel Hill, Brown's teams were 10-2 in 1996 and 11-1 in 1997.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

CAROLINA HISTORICAL ESSAY

HISTORY

The University of North Carolina embarks on its 112th season of football competition in 2002. The Tar Heels do that with a history of gridiron greatness, including some of the top coaches in the game, a lineage of talented running backs and one of the most beautiful and historic facilities in college football.

Surprisingly, football is actually not the oldest varsity sport at UNC. Baseball holds that honor, having fielded its first varsity squad back in 1867. But while football started 21 years later in 1888, its history is replete with memories that have thrilled legions of Carolina fans as the decades have elapsed.

The first UNC team played but two games, losing both and being outscored 22-4. That inauspicious beginning belies the success of the program since then, but those football pioneers are nevertheless credited with starting football at Carolina.

In the fall of 1888, the sophomore class at UNC had formed a team and after vanquishing all the other classes at UNC, began to look around for stiffer opposition. The UNC team challenged the Wake Forest squad to a game which was scheduled during the State Fair in Raleigh on October 18, 1888. Wake won the game 6-4 in what came to be acknowledged as the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the state of North Carolina.

Later that same fall, Carolina challenged Trinity (now Duke) to a Thanksgiving Day contest in Raleigh that drew a crowd of 600 for a 16-0 Trinity triumph. One member of that 1888 UNC team was John Motley Morehead, who went on to great fame as the founder of Union Carbide and who endowed the Morehead Scholarship program and several buildings on the Carolina campus.

That first Carolina team's results may not have been what was expected, but the leaders of the '88 team did get the ball rolling. In Carolina's first 111 seasons of football competition, the Tar Heels have compiled a record of 608-430-54, a winning percentage of .582. Carolina has played in 24 bowl games in its history and won five Southern Conference championships and five Atlantic Coast Conference titles.

Thirty Tar Heel players have been honored as first-team All-Americans on 38 occasions. Carolina had 32 All-Southern Conference selections when it played in that league until 1952 and since joining the ACC in 1953, has had 164 first-team All-ACC choices.

Just a few months after the loss to Trinity in 1888, UNC acquired the services of Hector Cowan, former great tackle and captain at Princeton, to help teach the UNC players the fundamentals of the game. Cowan arrived in February 1889 and drilled the Tar Heel troops on the existing athletic field, located on the current site of Bynum Hall.

The 1889 team played two games in the spring and two in the fall. On March 1, 1889, Carolina earned its first win in football as it routed Wake Forest 33-0 before a crowd of 500 in Raleigh. UNC went on to post a 2-2 record that year and earn a share of the state championship with Trinity and Wake Forest.

After a Carolina player suffered a broken collarbone that fall, the University faculty voted to discontinue the sport of football in January 1890 and Carolina did not compete at all the following fall. That is one of only three years since the start of football in 1888 in which the Tar Heels have not fielded a team; play was also suspended during World War I in 1917 and 1918.

The following year, students petitioned to have football restored at UNC and the ban was lifted with the help of Professors Horace Williams, F.P. Venable and Eban Alexander. At this time, athletic control passed from the hands of students to the faculty, a situation that still exists today.

Football returned to UNC that fall with W.P. Graves as coach and UNC compiling an 0-2 record.

The following year, 1892, is considered by most to be the first year of real football at UNC with a representative six-game schedule being played. That squad also earned the distinction of being UNC's first good team. Mike Hoke acted as team captain and the entire squad consisted of just 15 players, with UNC using only one substitute the entire season. The team opened the year with a 40-0 rout of Richmond and after a loss to Virginia in the next game, it went on to win its last four. Carolina's 5-1 mark was the best record in the South that year. That season also marked the first year in which University teams were referred to as "Carolina," with the appellations "University" and "Chapel Hill" being dropped from the popular vernacular.

A meeting in February 1893 signaled the start of the formation of what would become the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in later years. Ten schools, including UNC, were involved in the meeting and Dr. Venable was voted temporary chairman of the group. Later that same year, on May 12, the UNC athletic association approved the awarding of varsity letters for the first time.

Although the 1893 team managed only a 3-4 record, it did have the distinction of being the first Southern team to play in New York City as Carolina lost a 34-0 decision to Lehigh on November 25, 1893. A year later, Carolina brought in Vernon K. Irvine from Princeton as coach and he led Carolina to a 6-3 mark, attesting to the fact that experienced coaching benefited the team's performance. That UNC team finished second in the South and won the state championship. It was also the first to be forced to stage closed practices because of problems with crowd control at open sessions.

In 1895, T.C. "Doggie" Trenchard came from Princeton to coach the Tar Heels and he led UNC to an outstanding 7-1-1 season marred only by a loss to Virginia. A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the meeting between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers in Richmond, which UVa won 6-0. Twice during the game spectators ran onto the field to block the path of Tar Heel runners who had broken into the clear on apparent touchdown runs.

Carolina began to gain some consistency in the sport of football with the arrival of Will A. Reynolds of Princeton as head coach in 1897. Reynolds produced four winning Carolina teams in his four-year tenure at Chapel Hill. His first squad finished at 7-3 and was followed in 1898 by what is still the only unbeaten, untied team in school history. That 1898 squad was a perfect 9-0 and outscored its opponents by an amazing 201-8. The team finished the season by beating Virginia for the first time in six years, 6-2, in Richmond.

Reynolds' final two teams also posted respectable records, going 7-3-1 in 1889 and 4-1-3 in 1900.

Reynolds yielded the coaching reins after the 1900 season to Charles Jenkins, who led UNC to seven straight wins prior to a pair of season-ending losses in 1901. Carolina beat all of its state opponents to win its seventh state championship since 1892. In 1901, letters began to be awarded by an advisory committee of the athletic association. Previously, anyone who played had lettered.

The next 11 seasons saw Carolina with nine different head coaches. The 1905 Carolina squad was coached by William Warner, the brother of the famed "Pop" Warner.

Trenchard returned as Carolina's coach in 1913 for a three-year run. His 1914 squad was outstanding. Sixty men reported for the team and UNC went on to win its first 10 before losing to Virginia 20-3 before a record crowd of 15,000 in Richmond. That UNC team outscored its opponents 359-52 and became the first team in the South to display players' numbers on their jerseys.

Trenchard's 1915 squad did not fare as well, finishing the campaign with a 4-3-1 mark. Seven regulars missed the VMI game and the reserves struggled, fumbling 16 times en route to a 3-3 tie. That same year, Trenchard started the first athletic training table at UNC in his home, feeding the 56 squad members on a daily basis.

The year 1916 found the Tar Heels in a new home as Carolina began to play its games at Emerson Stadium, the site of the current Davis Library. Freshmen were banned from varsity participation for the first time and the team went 5-4 and won its sixth successive state championship.

All of the members of the 1916 squad had entered the military service in World War I by the following fall and varsity football was dropped for the second time in UNC history, this time for a two-year hiatus.

Carolina made its full-fledged return to the gridiron in 1919, going 4-3-1 under Coach Thomas J. Coleman. Carolina twice broke its single game home attendance record that year as it won the state championship. The Tar Heels defeated N.C. State, 13-12, before a crowd of 7,500 and then topped that with 9,000 for a 6-0 win over Virginia. That game marked the first time the Cavaliers had ever played in Chapel Hill.

The 1920 campaign was a dismal one as UNC went 2-6 and scored only 16 points in eight games. But a more positive era in North Carolina football began a year later with the hiring of Bill and Bob Fetzer as co-head coaches. Their hiring also marked a change in athletic policy at UNC as the Fetzers were assured of long-term positions instead of the usual one-year contracts. Carolina went 5-2-2 under the Fetzers in 1921 and 10,000 filled Emerson Field for Carolina's 7-3 win over Virginia.

That year also marked the first for UNC's participation in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference, the official name for what has come to be known today simply as the Southern Conference. At a February 25, 1921 meeting in Atlanta, the SIC was formed with a 16-school membership. The conference agreed to bans on postseason play, freshman eligibility and athletic training tables, required eligibility forms for players and disallowed organized practice before September 10.

Carolina would go on to have great success in the Southern Conference, tying for the league crown in 1922 and winning it outright in 1934, 1937, 1946 and 1949.

The Fetzers' greatest team was probably the 1922 edition which posted an impressive 9-1 mark, won the South Atlantic championship and tied for the Southern Conference crown. That team lost only to Yale, 18-0, and had three touchdowns called back by penalties in the game. The squad was ranked 11th in the nation by I.B. Thomas in the January 1923 issue of Intercollegiate Athletics and played before a record 68,500 fans during the course of the campaign.

The 1923 team was ravaged by injuries but limped to a 5-3-1 record nevertheless and a state championship for a second straight year. A year later, the

Two Tar Heel Legends: William Rand Kenan (left), an 1893 UNC letterman, donated $275,000 to help build the new stadium and Bob Fetzer (right) and his brother Bill directed UNC to 30 wins in five years from 1921-25.

Tar Heels were only 4-5 but they did play before their largest crowd to that date, 25,000 at New Haven's Yale Bowl in a 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs.

The 1925 season would prove to be the Fetters' last as co-coaches. The Tar Heels responded with an excellent season, going 7-1-1 and winning the state championship. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest. A crowd of 16,000 jammed Emerson Field (capacity 2,400) to see the Heels and Virginia play to a 3-3 tie in the season finale.

The following year began a new era in Carolina football as Chuck Collins came on the scene as head coach. He had the longest tenure (eight years) of the early Carolina coaches. Collins, who was one of the seven mules in the offensive line for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, served as Carolina's coach from 1926 through 1933.

The 1926 season also brought onto the scene the infamous Kay Kyser, later to be a renowned Big Band leader and radio and motion pictures personality, as head cheerleader and his Cheerios as the first major organized cheer block at Carolina.

New stadium plans were also in the works in 1926. Carolina alumni in Durham and Chapel Hill met on May 24, 1926, to form the Durham Stadium Committee. On November 13 of that same year, William Rand Kenan, a New York City engineer and 1893 UNC football letterman, gave the University a gift of $275,000 to help build the stadium.

The first game was played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927 with UNC beating Davidson 27-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans. The following Saturday, UNC beat two-touchdown favorite Duke 18-0 in Durham. The stadium was officially dedicated on Thanksgiving Day 1927 with 28,000 attending as Carolina edged Virginia 14-13. John Sprunt Hill officially made the presentation of the stadium to Governor A.W. McLean who accepted on behalf of the University and state.

Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice (left) and Kay Kyser were two key figures in Carolina's football history. Justice was twice a runner-up for the Heisman Trophy, while Kyser founded the "Cheerios," the first major organized cheer block in school history.

Carolina won its first state championship since 1925 during the 1928 season. Its 5-3-2 record that year included a 65-0 win over Wake Forest in the season opener. That still stands as the largest margin of victory in UNC history. President Calvin Coolidge attended the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville that year and saw the Tar Heels pull out a 24-20 win. It was the first time a U.S. President had ever attended a game in the South.

Collins' first great team was the 1929 edition which went 9-1 and outscored its opponents 346-60. The only loss of the year came to Georgia and only Southern California scored more points during the course of the season. Ray Farris was the captain of that UNC team and was a unanimous All-Southern Conference choice at guard. Carolina was called the "Team of a Million Backs" and drew a record attendance of 139,500.

The 1931 team, coached by Collins, went 4-3-3 and won the state championship. The Carolina-Duke game went big time for the first time that year as a crowd of 20,000 in Durham watched the two teams play to their second straight scoreless tie. Johnny Branch, a great all-purpose runner, was the star of that squad.

The quiet Dutchman, Carl Snavely, came to Chapel Hill in 1934 from Bucknell to take over the coaching reins of the Tar Heels. It would be the first of two tours of duty for Snavely as head coach. The 1934 team went 7-1-1 and was led by George Barclay, UNC's first All-America in football, at guard. Carolina lost only to Tennessee and it tied N.C. State that season. The Carolina-Duke game drew state and Kenan record crowds as the Tar Heels eked out a 7-0 victory.

The 1935 team also proved to be a great one as Snavely led his squad to an 8-1 record. Carolina won its first seven of the season and there was talk that the Tar Heels were headed to the Rose Bowl. But arch-rival Duke made sure that didn't happen on Saturday, November 16 in Durham as the Blue Devils played an errorless game, winning 25-0. That game drew a new Southern attendance record of 47,000 and in total 149,500 saw UNC play during the course of the year, another record. After losing to Duke, UNC came back to pummel Virginia 61-0 and ended up eighth in the final Associated Press rankings. Ace passer Don Jackson was named a second-team All-America.

Ray Wolf came to Carolina in 1936 to coach after Snavely had gone on to Cornell. Wolf had six successful seasons at UNC, producing winning teams the first five. The 1936 team went 8-2 and lost only to Tulane and Duke. That squad was led by end Andy Bershak, who was a second-team All-America in 1936 and a first teamer a year later. Wolf's teams continued their success, going 7-1-1, 6-2-1, 8-1-1 and 6-4 in subsequent years. Some of Wolf's outstanding players were Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin and George Stirnweiss.

The World War II years were an unsettled time in Carolina athletic history. From 1942 through 1944, UNC had three different head coaches who put makeshift teams through the paces against adjusted schedules which included some military teams. Jim Tatum, an outstanding player at Carolina in the 1930s, coached the 1942 unit. He would return for another coaching tenure later.

Snavely returned to Chapel Hill in 1945 and during the next five years produced some of the best teams in Carolina football history. His 1948 team finished third in the AP poll, the highest final ranking ever for the Tar Heels.

An Omaha, Neb. native, Snavely was a 1915 alumnus of Lebanon Valley College. He had coached Carolina teams in 1934 and 1935 to a 15-2-1 record and returned in 1945 after nine years at Cornell. In fact, at Cornell in 1940, Snavely was involved in an infamous contest which would be recounted repeatedly some 50 years after the fact. Snavely was the coach who, upon learning it had taken a fifth down for his Big Red to defeat Dartmouth, wired the opposing coach Red Blaik and relinquished the victory.

His 1945 team did well, finishing 5-5 after winning only one game the previous season. Then the incomparable Charlie Justice arrived a year later, and with his compatriots, UNC went to three major bowl games and won two Southern Conference titles in the period from 1946-49.

Snavely's 1946 team was 8-2-1, won the Southern Conference championship and lost to Georgia, 20-10, in the Sugar Bowl. The 1947 team was probably the best of the four. It finished 8-2, winning its last seven, but went uninvited in the post-season. The 1948 unit had only a regular-season tie with William & Mary to mar its record. It went on to lose to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Finally, the 1949 team was unbeaten in the conference and finished 7-4 overall, losing to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Justice was not the only star of those Snively teams. Art Weiner and Ken Powell were tremendous ends on those teams and Hosea Rodgers was a great rugged full-back of the era.

But Justice was the main attraction. He ran and passed for over 4,000 yards in his four-year career and he averaged over 42 yards a punt. He had only two punts blocked in his career and both of those were in the first game of his freshman year. When he was done after the 1949 season, Justice had established NCAA records in total offense and punting and was considered the greatest punter of all time.

As a triple-threat All-America halfback, Justice captured the imagination and fancy of the football fan as no one else ever had. He was idolized and the attention he received from the fans and the media was almost unheard of in that time.

A native of Asheville, he had served in the Navy in World War II and was already 26 years old by the time of his senior year in 1949. He capped his amazing career by being named the Most Valuable Player in the 1950 College All-Star Game in Chicago.

The departure of Justice from campus coincided with a 20-year drought in UNC's football fortunes. Snively, despite all his earlier successes, could not produce a winning team after the Justice era. George Barclay, Carolina's first All-America player back in 1934, was brought in as head coach, but he encountered little success in his three years of running the program. That's when Carolina successfully lured Jim Tatum back to the fold. Tatum was a great UNC player in the 1930s and had coached the Tar Heels during World War II in 1942. He had since been at Maryland, where he led the Terrapins to the national championship in 1953.

Tatum's first season back in Chapel Hill, in 1956, was rather undistinguished. The Tar Heels went 2-7-1 with victories over Virginia and Maryland. In 1957, in Tatum's first return trip to College Park where he had enjoyed so much success, the Carolina-Maryland game was marked by the appearance of Queen Elizabeth II. The queen and her entourage watched the Terrapins beat the Tar Heels 21-7. But that 1957 team finished 6-4 as did the 1958 team under Tatum's steady leadership.

It appeared Carolina had the corner turned when Tatum died suddenly in the summer of 1959 from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. He was replaced by assistant Jim Hickey whose teams did not meet with a great deal of success in his eight seasons as head coach. Hickey produced only one winning record, that in 1963 when the Tar Heels finished 9-2 and shared their first Atlantic Coast Conference title. That team went on to post the school's first win in a bowl game, a 35-0 decision over Air Force in the Gator Bowl. That 1963 squad was led by the running of Ken Willard, the passing of Junior Edge and Gary Black and the pass receiving of Bob Lacey. Linebacker Chris Hanburger was a stalwart on defense for the Tar Heels.

After Hickey resigned after a 2-8 season in 1966, UNC looked to Bill Dooley to revitalize its football fortunes. The choice proved to be a wise one. Dooley's teams won 69, lost 53 and tied two in his 11-year tenure. ACC championships were won under Dooley in 1971, 1972 and 1977. Bowl trips became a regular feature — six in all during the Dooley years.

After three rebuilding seasons, Dooley's first good team was in 1970. It finished 8-4 and went on to play Arizona State in the Peach Bowl. Tailback Don McCauley, who had gained 1,092 yards rushing in 1969, returned for a 1,720-yard season in 1970. He was the first of UNC's 23 1,000-yard rushers. The Garden City, N.Y. native broke what was then O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA rushing standard.

Dooley's teams won back-to-back ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. The '71 team lost to Georgia 7-3 in the Gator Bowl in a matchup of coaching brothers, Vince Dooley being the head mentor of the Bulldogs. The 1972 team had an 11-1 record marred only by a loss at Ohio State. It won a thrilling 32-28 decision from Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

The mid-1970s brought more success as UNC made bowl appearances in 1974 (Sun), 1976 (Peach) and 1977 (Liberty). Sammy Johnson was a 1,000-yard rusher for Carolina in 1973, as was James Betterson in 1974.

But the outstanding offensive player of this era was Mike Voight who gained over 1,000 yards in 1974, 1975 and 1976, including 1,407

Bill Dooley directed UNC to six bowl games and three ACC titles and is tied for the second-most wins in Tar Heel history.

Don McCauley, the first of Carolina's 1,000-yard backs, gets a triumphant ride after he rushed for 279 yards and five touchdowns against Duke in his home finale in 1970.

yards in '76. Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year in both 1975 and '76 for his efforts.

The 1977 team would prove to be Dooley's last at UNC. It won the ACC title and earned a berth opposite Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. A rugged defense led by All-America tackle Dee Hardison helped Carolina lead the nation in scoring defense that season. UNC allowed only 81 points in 11 regular-season games. The new offensive star was a freshman tailback named Amos Lawrence, who rushed for 1,211 yards and was named ACC Rookie of the Year.

Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual role of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech. At that time, Carolina turned to the "Cradle of Coaches" at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to find its new head coach, Dick Crum.

Crum had just completed an outstanding four-year run at Miami. His 10 years as head coach at UNC were equally brilliant. The winningest coach in Tar Heel history, he compiled a 72-41-3 ledger at the UNC helm. He took six of his 10 UNC teams to bowl games, winning on four occasions, and the 1980 squad won the ACC championship.

After a 5-6 record in 1978, Crum's teams from 1979 through 1983 went to five successive bowls and won 45 games. UNC posted four consecutive bowl wins over national football powers, beating Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl, Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and Texas again in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

In 1980 and 1981, UNC became the first team in league history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire service polls in successive years. The 1980 team was 11-1 and ranked ninth by United Press International and 10th by Associated Press. The 1981 unit was 10-2 and rated eighth by UPI and ninth by AP. Two more Carolina teams coached by Crum would later go to bowl games, the 1983 team to the Peach Bowl to face Florida State and the 1986 corps to the Aloha Bowl for a meeting with Arizona.

There was a plethora of outstanding players at Carolina during the Crum era and the Tar Heel football record book was being constantly updated. In 1980, linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year and he went on to All-Pro status with the New York Giants. That season, Taylor led what was one of the greatest defenses in ACC history. Other great defensive players at UNC included linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson, linebacker Darrell Nicholson, defensive back Steve Streater, defensive tackle William Fuller and outside linebacker Mike Wilcher. All of those players were All-ACC selections and several went on to have distinguished pro careers. Fuller made four first-team All-America squads in 1983.

Although Crum's teams were known for their rugged defense, Carolina also excelled offensively, leading the ACC in total offense four times in the 1980s and ranking sixth nationally in 1986.

There were several reasons behind the offensive fireworks. First, there was a succession of outstanding running backs. Five different players gained 1,000 or more yards rushing in a season a total of 10 times under Crum's tutelage. After his brilliant freshman year, Lawrence went on to gain 1,000 yards three more times. He is one of only four players in college football history to gain 1,000 yards rushing in each of their four seasons. Kelvin Bryant overcame an injury-marred career to gain 1,000 yards on three occasions. Ethan Horton turned the trick twice in his career and Tyrone Anthony and Derrick Fenner had one 1,000-yard rushing season each.

A second reason behind UNC's offensive success was the presence of some outstanding linemen in the '80s, four of whom gained first-team All-America status — guard Ron Wooten in 1980, guard David Drechsler in 1981 and '82, tackle Brian Blados in 1983 and tackle Harris Barton in 1986.

Carolina's offense also became more diversified in the Crum era and the passing section of the Carolina record book was basically rewritten at that time by a string of accomplished starters at quarterback— Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins, Scott Stankavage, Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye.

At the conclusion of the 1987 season, Crum resigned to return home to his native Ohio and was replaced by Tulane head coach Mack Brown, whose first two teams struggled to 1-10 records. Center Jeff Garnica was a third-team All-America and the Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient in 1988 as the best offensive lineman in the ACC. Offensive guard Pat Crowley became only the second offensive lineman in ACC history to be named All-ACC in three successive years when he accomplished that feat in 1989.

The blocking of those two players was instrumental in tailback Kennard Martin leading the ACC in rushing in 1988 with 1,146 yards.

The Tar Heels turned things around in 1990, however, and put together a solid 6-4-1 record and even returned to the Top 25 at one point in the season. Inside linebacker Dwight Hollier led the ACC in tackles for the second consecutive season and rookie tailback Natrone Means capped a stellar second half of the season with a 256-yard, three-touchdown effort vs. Duke. Along the way, Carolina tied Georgia Tech 13-13; the stalemate proved to be the only blemish on the Yellow Jackets' otherwise-perfect national championship ledger.

In 1991, Means became the 11th Tar Heel to rush for more than 1,000 yards. Means ran for 1,030 yards and topped the 1,000-yard plateau on an electrifying, 68-yard scamper in the Tar Heels' 47-14 rout over Duke. Means, inside linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive guard Brian Bollinger each were first-team All-ACC selections.

1992 was another filled with great players, spectacular plays and electrifying memories. The Tar Heels won nine games, including a 21-17 victory over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, and finished the season ranked in the Top 20 in both major polls.

Means rushed for 1,195 yards, the 21st 1,000-yard rushing season in Carolina history. He had a 249-yard day at Maryland and once again dramatically crashed the 1,000-yard club with a 76-yard touchdown run against the Terrapins.

The Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opposition on consecutive weekends in mid-season, the first time in the program's history the team accomplished that feat.

Carolina accepted a bid to play in the Peach Bowl and provided one of the year's most entertaining bowl games. Trailing Mississippi State by two touchdowns in the third quarter, UNC rallied for a 21-17 win. Means, a repeat first-team All-ACC selection, gained 128 yards and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Strong safety Bracey Walker tied the game when he blocked a punt, his second of the game, and returned it 41 yards for a score.

Walker, the game's Defensive MVP, set up the game-winning touchdown when he forced an interception with a jarring fourth-quarter hit. Cornerback Cliff Baskerville picked the loose ball out of the air and raced 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

The 1993 Tar Heels provided one of the most entertaining seasons in Carolina history. UNC won 10 games for the first time in a dozen years, finished second in the ACC, 19th in the Associated Press poll and played in a bowl game for a second consecutive season.

UNC set nearly 40 team and individual records, including most points, points per game and total offense. Walker was named first-team All-America by several organizations and was a first-team All-ACC selection along with tailback Curtis Johnson and offensive tackle Ethan Albright.

Johnson and red-shirt freshman tailback Leon Johnson each rushed for 1,000-plus yards.

Curtis rushed for 1,034 yards and set a school record with a 90-yard score vs. Maryland; Leon was named the ACC Rookie of the Year as he rushed for 1,012 yards and led the conference with 16 touchdowns and 100 points.

Quarterback Jason Stanicek set UNC single-season records for total offense (2,284 yards), total yards per game (190.3), completion percentage (64.1) and pass efficiency rating (145.79).

Corey Holliday concluded his brilliant career as Carolina's all-time leading pass receiver. Twice selected a captain by his teammates, Holliday finished his four years with 155 receptions for 2,447 yards and caught a pass in an ACC-record 45 consecutive games. He had nine receptions, a UNC postseason record, versus Alabama in Carolina's 24-10 loss in the Gator Bowl.

In 1994 Carolina went 8-4, losing to Texas, 35-31, in the Sun Bowl in an exhilarating contest. Stanicek concluded his career as the school's all-time total offense leader. Stanicek passed "Choo Choo" Justice's mark, which had stood since 1949, in the fifth game of the season and finished his standout career with 5,497 yards.

Stanicek also set UNC career records for most pass completions (372), attempts (622), yards (4,683) and completion percentage (.598). He tied Matt Kupec's school mark for most wins by a starting quarterback with 24.

Marcus Wall set a Tar Heel record for most touchdown catches in a season with nine and added a touchdown catch in the Sun Bowl. He also returned a kickoff for a score against Duke, returned a punt for a touchdown against Texas and had a rushing touchdown against N.C. State.

Carolina beat Duke 41-40 in one of the most exciting games in the storied history of that rivalry. The Blue Devils scored a pair of quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter to go ahead, 38-34, with less than 3:00 to play. Mike Thomas quickly connected with freshman Octavus Barnes on a short crossing route and Barnes raced past the entire secondary for a 71-yard game-winning score.

Barnes established an ACC record for receiving yards in a season by a freshman with 609. He had 165 yards on receptions, the third-highest single-game figure in Carolina history, in the regular-season finale at Duke and again in the Sun Bowl against Texas.

The 1995 Tar Heels rebounded from an 0-2 start to post a winning season for the sixth consecutive year and received an invitation to the Carquest Bowl in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Defensive tackle Marcus Jones was the ACC Defensive Player of the Year and became the first UNC player in nine years to be named consensus first-team All-America. Jones topped Lawrence Taylor's career UNC sack record as he concluded his four years with 24, three

Mike Thomas set numerous single-season total offense and passing records, including most yards of total offense (2,489), most yards passing (2,436), most pass attempts (332) and most completions (185). 1996 was one of the finest seasons in Carolina history. The Tar Heels went 10-2, won the Gator Bowl and finished 10th in both national polls. Mack Brown was named the ACC Coach of the Year as he directed a new-look offense to record-setting heights.

The year began with a 45-0 win over Clemson and included a 52-20 rout over N.C. State. Carolina went to Syracuse in the second week and beat the No. 9-ranked Orangemen, UNC's first road win over a Top 10 team row and finished fourth in the final coaches' poll and sixth in the final Associated Press poll. UNC lived up to lofty preseason predictions and spent the entire year in the Top 10.

The Tar Heels were once again led by a stifling defense. UNC allowed just 209.3 yards per game, the second-lowest figure in the NCAA and the lowest total by an ACC team since 1963. It was the fewest yards allowed by Carolina since 1948. The defense featured three first-round draft picks (defensive end Greg Ellis, season. Johnson led the team in rushing with 963 yards and added 54 receptions. Barnes had 53 catches for 970 yards.

Johnson rushed for 195 yards and a touchdown in the 20-10 win over Arkansas in the Carquest Bowl. That is the highest rushing total in Carolina post-season history. Barnes established a UNC record with four 100-yard receiving games. He caught three touchdown passes and totaled 211 yards receiving, the second-highest figure in school history, in a 62-0 rout of Ohio.

quarterback Chris Keldorf, a junior college transfer, who set UNC single-season passing records for completions (201), yards (2,347) and touchdowns (23).

Leon Johnson set all-time UNC records for scoring (306) and touchdowns (50) and established the all-time ACC mark with 5,828 all-purpose yards. He earned All-ACC honors as a kick returner.

The Tar Heel defense, coached by National Defensive Coordinator of the Year Carl Torbush, led the country in scoring and was second with 225.6

since 1966.

The Tar Heels tied for second in the ACC. They played West Virginia in the Gator Bowl without Keldorf, who suffered a fracture dislocation of his left ankle in the last regular-season game. Oscar Davenport came off the bench to win MVP honors as he completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and passed and ran for scores.

catches. His most memorable grab was the game-winning touchdown pass from Davenport in overtime to beat NC State, 37-34. The game was played in Charlotte, N.C., before a record crowd of 68,797. It was the most yards per punt and was named a first-team All-America by The Sporting News. Schmitz's career punting average of 44.4 yards per kick is best in ACC history.

The 2000 season was full of ups and downs as the Tar Heels opened the season 3-1 only to lose four consecutive games before defeating Maryland and Duke to finish 6-5 overall.

Despite a winning record, Carolina did not receive a bowl invitation for the second straight year and Carl Torbush was dismissed as head coach. He was replaced by former letterwinner John Bunting on December 11, 2000. Bunting was an All-ACC linebacker at Carolina in 1971 and played on two bowl teams.

Individually, defensive end Julius Peppers led the nation with 15 sacks, just one shy of the UNC record, and was named a first-team All-America. Peppers did establish a school record with 24 tackles for losses, breaking the mark set by Ekuban in 1998.

Led by Peppers, Carolina's defense posted a school-record 53 sacks and had at least three sacks in every game.

Bunting's first season was one of the most exciting in Carolina history as the Tar Heels' turned around an 0-3 start to win eight of their last 10, including a 16-10 win over Auburn in the Peach Bowl. The eight wins were the most ever by a first-year head coach at UNC.

Perhaps the most thrilling win was Carolina's 41-9 upset of No. 6 Florida State, who had lost just twice in conference play since joining the league. The Tar Heels trailed 9-7 at the half, but shutout the Seminoles in the second period and rallied for 34 unanswered points. The win set off a wild on-field celebration as Bunting notched his first win at his alma mater.

Peppers, who was the second overall pick in the NFL Draft following the season, became the first Tar Heel to win a major college football award, bringing home the Lombardi Award as the nation's top lineman and the Bednarik Award as the nation's top overall defensive player.

Carolina's defensive line in 2001 featured three players who were selected in this season's NFL Draft, including the first round draft picks Julius Peppers (49) and Ryan Sims (87) and seventh round selection Joey Evans. (95).

in the ninth week when he suffered a broken ankle in the loss to Florida State. That game featured the second-ranked Seminoles and fifth-ranked Tar Heels and was played in front of 62,000 fans, the largest crowd ever at Kenan Stadium.

Keldorf began the fall as the reigning All-ACC quarterback, lost his starting job, and finally replaced an injured Davenport late in the season. He set a single-game UNC record at Texas Christian by throwing for 415 yards, set the school record for career passing touchdowns with 35 and finished his career with sensational performances in wins over Clemson, Duke and Virginia Tech. Keldorf engineered the Tar Heels' 17-10 win at Clemson, Carolina's first triumph in Death Valley since 1980. Keldorf wrapped his remarkable two-year career with an MVP performance in win over the Hokies in the Gator Bowl as he threw for 290 yards and three touchdowns.

The 1997 season was the last for Mack Brown as head coach.

promoted defensive coordinator Carl Torbush to head coach on December 8, 1997. Torbush, defensive coordinator since 1988, directed the Tar Heels to a 42-3 win over Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl.

The 1998 season began with three straight defeats, but Torbush rallied the Tar Heels to six wins in the last eight regular-season games. That earned Carolina an invitation to the Las Vegas Bowl, where the Tar Heels beat San Diego State, 20-13.

Davenport was injured on the first series in the season opener. That injury forced the debut of freshman Ronald Curry, who would establish UNC single-season freshman records for passing yards (975), touchdown passes (six), completions (66) and total offense yards (1,394). Curry had a 48-yard touchdown run and was named Offensive MVP of the Las Vegas Bowl.

Na Brown tied his own school record with 55 receptions for 897 yards and became Carolina's all-time leading receiver with 165 people to ever see a college football game in North Carolina.

Ebenezer Ekuban set a single-season UNC record with 23 tackles for losses, earned the ACC's Top Senior Student-Athlete Award and was named first-team All-ACC. Ekuban was joined on the All-ACC squad by Bly, who set the conference career record for interceptions with 20.

Bly was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation and became the only player in ACC history to be named first-team All-America in three different seasons.

Carolina was beset by injuries early in the 1999 season but improved throughout the course of the year. The Tar Heels did not allow a touchdown in the final 10 quarters of the season. UNC defeated rivals Duke and NC State, with the win over the Wolfpack coming via a classic goalline tackle by Errol Hood and David Bomar that preserved a 10-6 win.

Brian Schmitz set an ACC and UNC record by averaging 47.8

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

CAROLINA'S FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICAS

GEORGE BARCLAY
Guard, 1934

Barclay was Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snively. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK
End, 1937

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snively and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, was also a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

STEVE MARONIC
Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man" playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his final season.

PAUL SEVERIN
End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

CHARLIE JUSTICE
Halfback, 1948-49

Twice a runnerup for the Heisman Trophy, Justice is rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He was the school's all-time total offense leader with 4,883 yards for more than 40 years and also ranks as the Tar Heels' fourth-leading career scorer, eighth-leading rusher and 18th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns. Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. In 1948 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy.

KEN POWELL
Defensive End, 1949

Powell teamed with Art Weiner to give UNC a formidable pass receiving threat in the post-World War II "Justice Era." He was outstanding the 1947 Sugar Bowl against Georgia. Earned first-team All-America honors at defensive end in 1949 by NEA. That organization named Powell to its All-America Team on defense, the first time it selected All-Americans on both offense and defense. He finished his career with 23 receptions for 324 yards and three touchdowns.

ART WEINER

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the eighth-most in school history and until 1997 he held the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. Many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

IRV HOLDASH Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and line-backer on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He perhaps sealed All-America honors in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

AL GOLDSTEIN End, 1958

Outstanding two-way end, Goldstein earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

BOB LACEY End, 1963

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He was the first Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches in two seasons. His career total of 102 receptions is the ninth-best in school history.

DON MCCAULEY Halfback, 1970

Don McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an all-time collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fifth in career rushing at UNC. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts.

RON RUSNAK Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

KEN HUFF Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards in 1974, at the time a school record. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

CHARLES WADDELL Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he was also a dynamic blocker. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

DEE HARDISON Defensive Tackle, 1977

A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. UNC led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, passing and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.

RICKY BARDEN Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler on the team. His 156 yards on interception returns are the third-most in school history.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured a school-record 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a run-away selection as ACC Player of the Year.

RON WOOTEN Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

DAVID DRECHSLER Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. Drechsler went on to become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

WILLIAM FULLER Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just six Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just three defensive linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

BRIAN BLADOS Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

HARRIS BARTON
Offensive Tackle, 1986

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

PAT CROWLEY
Offensive Guard, 1989

Crowley was a standout offensive guard and a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988). He is one of three Tar Heels to be named first-team All-ACC in three seasons.

BRACEY WALKER
Free Safety, 1993

The first Carolina defensive back to ever receive first-team All-America honors by a major organization, Walker burst onto the scene in 1992 when he was one of the stars of the Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State. Walker blocked two punts in that game, returned one of them for a tying touchdown and set up the game-winning interception with a jarring collision. He was the Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl. In 1993 he led the Tar Heels with 100 tackles and was the co-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team defense. He also blocked four more punts, two of which were recovered in the end zone by Carolina, and was named the National Special Teams Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

MARCUS JONES
Defensive Tackle, 1995

Jones became the first Tar Heel to earn consensus first-team All-America honors since Harris Barton in 1986 and the first defensive lineman since William Fuller in 1982-83. Jones had 25 career sacks and finished with 222 tackles. That included 46 behind the line of scrimmage. He broke Lawrence Taylor's school record for sacks and held that mark until Greg Ellis broke the record in 1997. He was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1995 and earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second straight season. He became the first Tar Heel defender to repeat all-conference selections since Tim Goad in 1986-87. As a senior he had a career-high 94 tackles, despite facing constant double- and triple-team efforts. He registered an ACC-leading 19 tackles for losses for 74 yards, seven of which were quarterback sacks. He was hampered in the first half of the season by a knee sprain. Over the last five weeks, however, he averaged 10.8 tackles per game and had 16 tackles for losses for 65 yards, including six sacks for 41 yards, and pressured the quarterback 13 times. Quite fittingly, Jones capped his career by sacking Arkansas quarterback Barry Lunnery on the Razorbacks' final offensive play in Carolina's 20-10 win in the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

DRE' BLY
Cornerback, 1996-97

The first freshman to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in ACC history, Bly became just the fifth freshman in NCAA history to be named to the Associated Press All-America first team in 1996. He was also a first-team All-America selection by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Athlon Sports and a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award as the National Defensive Back of the Year. He earned Atlantic Coast Conference first-team honors and was the league's Rookie of the Year. He is the only UNC freshman to earn first-team All-America honors. He made two second-half interceptions, broke up two passes and had seven tackles against West Virginia in the 1997 Gator Bowl. Bly led the nation in interceptions and interceptions per game. He set an ACC single-season interceptions record with 11, one more than Bob Sullivan of Maryland had in 10 games in 1965. The Chesapeake, Va. native had three multi-interception games, including three against Georgia Tech, two at Florida State and two at Virginia. In 1997, Bly became the first player in UNC history to repeat consensus first-team All-America honors. He had five interceptions, including one he returned for a touchdown in a comeback win over Virginia. In 1998, he set the ACC all-time record with his 20th interception (not counting the two he had in the Gator Bowl). He was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation. Bly is the only player in ACC history to earn first-team All-America honors on three occasions.

GREG ELLIS

Defensive End, 1997

A defensive end from 1994-97, Ellis is the Tar Heels' career leader in quarterback sacks. The Wendell, N.C., native had 32.5 sacks for 253 yards in his career. He anchored a defense that was second in the country in total yards allowed in each of his final two seasons. Carolina posted a 21-3 record in that span and had consecutive Top 10 finishes in the polls. Ellis is one of only four players in Carolina football history to be named first-team All-ACC three times. He was voted by his teammates as a team captain and the best overall senior. He was the eighth selection in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

Outside Linebacker, 1997

An outside linebacker from 1994-97, Simmons was a major contributor in Carolina's rise to the Top 10 in his final two seasons. A first-round draft selection of the Cincinnati Bengals, Simmons had 317 tackles over his last three seasons. He was named first-team All-America as a senior by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation and Football News and was a first-team All-ACC selection and second-team AP All-America as a junior. The New Bern, N.C., native finished his career with 36 tackles for losses and 11 sacks.

BRIAN SCHMITZ

Punter, 1999

Schmitz was named a first-team All-America in 1999 after averaging 47.8 yards per kick, an ACC and UNC record. He led the ACC and ranked second in the nation in punting average. Schmitz also set the ACC career record for punting average at 44.4 yards per kick. He had at least one 50-yard punt in all 11 UNC games in 1999 and 32 kicks of over 50 yards. He had 63 punts of 40 yards or more in 72 attempts on the season. Schmitz and backup punter Derrick DePriest combined to establish an NCAA single-season record for team punting average at 47.7 yards.

JULIUS PEPPERS

Defensive End, 2000-01

One of the top two-sport athletes in Carolina history, Peppers became the first Tar Heel to win a national college football award by winning both the Lombardi Trophy as the nation's top lineman and the Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player. In just three seasons, Peppers finished second at Carolina in career sacks and tackles for loss. In 2000, he led the nation with 15 sacks and established a school record with 24 tackles for losses. The following year, Peppers led a defense that finished first in the ACC and 15th in the nation in total defense. He became just the second Tar Heel and the first since Lawrence Taylor to earn unanimous All-America honors. A forward on Carolina's basketball team, Peppers averaged 7.1 points and 4.0 rebounds to help the Tar Heels claim a share of the 2001 regular-season ACC championship.

CAROLINA GREAT: CHARLIE "CHOO-CHOO" JUSTICE

HISTORY

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar...a hero...a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state that no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's No. 1 college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. World War II had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to help them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower Chime, Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ring-leader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb.

The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kinds of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks, plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snively—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train.") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

The Snively system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by players' ability and maturity to accept Snively's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo", documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record of 4,883 yards lasted for 45 years until quarterback Jason Stanicek broke the mark in 1994. Justice, graciously, was on hand to congratulate Stanicek.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runnerup for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron.

In a ribbon-cutting ceremony last year, the Kenan Football Center's first floor memorabilia room was named the Charlie Justice Hall of Honor and a special section was devoted to his accomplishments.

CAROLINA'S HONORED JERSEYS

CAROLINA HISTORY

Eighteen former University of North Carolina football players have been honored in a special fashion as their names and jersey numbers have been placed on the facade of Kenan Stadium's upper deck. Another player – defensive end Julius Peppers – will be honored this fall.

The men honored include five who have already had their jersey numbers retired, Carolina's consensus first-team All-Americans and any athlete who was named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year. Consensus All-Americans are those players who made the majority of the first-team selections in any given year.

The players whose names and numbers are honored in Kenan Stadium are:

GEORGE BARCLAY #99

A guard and linebacker from 1932 to 1934, whose number has been retired. He was the school's first football All-America and is a member of the state of North Carolina's Sports Hall of Fame. A guard and linebacker at 5-11, 185 pounds, Barclay was a standout for three seasons under coaches Chuck Collins and Carl Snively. A tremendous blocker and ferocious tackler, he was captain of the 1934 team that went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as UNC's head coach from 1953 until 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK #59

A great two-way end from 1935 to 1937 who was a consensus All-America in 1937. His number also has been retired. Bershak was a brilliant defender and his team's top receiver. He also was a starter on the basketball team and an honor student. Bershak was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

BILL SUTHERLAND #46

A blocking back on the 1946 Sugar Bowl team, whose number has been retired. He died in an auto accident after his freshman year, stunning his teammates and Coach Carl Snively. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for what would have been his sophomore season and Snively worked to ensure that his number would be retired.

CHARLIE JUSTICE #22

One of the most famous and popular athlete in the history of the state. Justice was a consensus All-America and twice runner-up for the Heisman Trophy. During his four seasons, 1946-49, Carolina went to the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. A single-wing tailback, he still holds many of the school's total offense records. In addition, he was a sensational punter and kick returner. He was the 1948 National Player of the Year.

ART WEINER #50

An outstanding two-way end from 1946 to 1949, whose number has been retired. Weiner won All-America honors in 1948 and 1949 and was the nation's leading receiver as a senior. He teamed with the legendary Charlie Justice to form perhaps the most potent offensive duo in school history. Voted the top lineman in the Senior Bowl, Weiner is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame. He is still eighth in UNC receptions with 106.

DANNY TALBOTT #10

A star quarterback from 1964 to 1966 and the 1965 ACC Player of the Year under Head Coach Jim Hickey. Talbott led the league in total offense and scoring that season. He had 318 yards of total offense in one game against Georgia, at the time a school record.

DON MCCAULEY #23

The ACC Player of the Year as a junior and senior and a consensus All-America in 1970, his final season. McCauley was the first of Carolina's NCAA-record 23 backs to rush for 1,000 yards. He twice led the ACC in rushing with 1,092 yards in 1969 and 1,720 in 1970. That latter total at the time broke O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA record. He also led the nation in all-purpose running as a senior and his 126 points that year still is the league record.

RON RUSNAK #62

An offensive guard on three bowl teams from 1970 to 1972 who won unanimous All-America honors in his senior season. At 6-2, 220 pounds, Rusnak wasn't as big as some linemen, but had great technique. He was the cornerstone of the offensive front on the 1972 team, which went 11-1. Rusnak was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. He won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1972 as the best blocker in the ACC.

KEN HUFF #68

A three-year starter at offensive guard from 1972 to 1974 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Huff was a dynamic blocker at 6-4 and 250 pounds. He was the key figure on the 1974 line which helped Carolina boast a pair of 1,000-yard backs and lead the ACC in total offense, rushing and scoring. Led by Huff, UNC accumulated 4,691 yards, at the time a school record. The Tar Heels were fifth nationally in total offense and ninth in scoring that season.

Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference and was the third player selected overall in the 1974 NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

MIKE VOIGHT #44

A hard-running tailback from 1973 to 1976 who was the ACC Player of the Year as both a junior and senior. Voight is second in Carolina history in rushing with 3,971 yards and third in scoring with 254 points. He had three 1,000-yard seasons and twice was the top ground-gainer in the ACC. In 1976 he scored 110 points and ran for 1,407 yards, including 261 in his final game — a dramatic 39-38 shootout with Duke.

DEE HARDISON #71

A defensive tackle from 1974 to 1977 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Hardison was the star of one of Carolina's greatest defenses in his final year. He dominated the line of scrimmage all season long as the Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. Carolina also topped the ACC in total, rushing and pass defense that year. No team would lead the league in all four again until Florida State in its 1993 national championship season.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR #98

An outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980 who is regarded as the greatest player of all time at that position. Taylor was a consensus All-America and the ACC Player of the Year in 1980. He had a Carolina-record 16 quarterback sacks that season for losses totaling 127 yards. Sparked by his play, the Tar Heels went 11-1 in 1980 and won the ACC championship.

WILLIAM FULLER #95

A defensive lineman from 1980 to 1983 who was a consensus All-America as a senior. Also honored as a first-team All-America as a junior, he is one of only six Tar Heel players to be named first-team All-America twice. Fuller, who utilized his tremendous quickness to slice through offensive lines, had 22 tackles for losses in both 1981 and 1983. He is one of only three defensive linemen ever to make the All-ACC team three times.

ETHAN HORTON #12

The Associated Press ACC Player of the Year as a senior. Horton rushed for 1,247 yards in 1984 after a 1,107-yard performance in 1983. He was named the game's co-MVP in UNC's 1981 Gator Bowl win over Arkansas and was the MVP of the 1982 Sun Bowl.

MARCUS JONES #71

A defensive end/tackle from 1992 to 1995 who was a consensus All-America and the ACC Defensive Player of the Year as a senior. Jones had 24 career quarterback sacks to break Lawrence Taylor's school record. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, Jones led a Tar Heel defense which had the ACC's No. 1 rated total defense in 1995. He finished his career with 222 tackles, including 46 for losses. Jones helped Carolina to four straight bowl invitations and wins in the 1993 Peach and 1995

Carquest Bowls.

GREG ELLIS #87

A defensive end from 1994 to 1997, Ellis is UNC's all-time leader in quarterback sacks. The Wendell, N.C., native had 32.5 sacks for 253 yards in his career. He anchored a defense that was second in the country in total yards in each of his final two seasons. Carolina posted a 21-3 record in that span and had consecutive Top 10 finishes in the polls. Ellis is one of only four players in Carolina football history to be named first-team All-ACC three times. He was voted by his teammates as a team captain and the best overall senior. He was the eighth selection in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

BRIAN SIMMONS #41

An outside linebacker from 1994 to 1997, Simmons was a major contributor in Carolina's rise to the Top 10 in his final two seasons. A first-round draft selection of the Cincinnati Bengals in '97, Simmons had 317 tackles over his last three seasons. He was named first-team All-America as a senior by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation and Football News and was a first-team All-ACC selection and second-team AP All-America as a junior.

The New Bern, N.C., native finished his career with 36 tackles for losses and 11 sacks.

DRE' BLY #31

The Chesapeake, Va., native is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to earn first-team All-America honors in three different seasons. Bly became the first freshman defensive player in college football history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in 1996. When he repeated consensus honors in 1997, he became the first two-time consensus All-America in UNC football history. In 1998, he set the all-time ACC record for interceptions with 20 and was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation. Bly led the nation as a freshman with 11 interceptions in the regular season and added two more pass thefts in the Gator Bowl win over West Virginia. Bly was named first-team All-America in 1996 by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, the Football Writers and the Walter Camp Foundation. In 1997, Bly added five more interceptions and was named All-America by the Associated Press, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers and Football News.

PEPPERS TO BE HONORED IN 2002

Defensive end Julius Peppers, who was a unanimous All-America in 2001 will be honored at halftime of a game during the 2002 season. The Bailey, N.C., native will become the 19th former Tar Heel to have his jersey honored. Peppers became the first Carolina player in school history to win a major national college football award. Peppers won the 2001 Lombardi Trophy as the nation's top lineman and won the Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player. In just three years, Peppers finished second at Carolina in career sacks and career tackles for losses. One of the most popular players in school history, Peppers was a two sport standout, who played a major role on the basketball team.

CAROLINA'S 1,000-YARD RUSHING TRADITION

CAROLINA HISTORY

Amos Lawrence is one of only four players in NCAA Division I history to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his four seasons.

Leon Johnson, the ACC's all-purpose yardage leader, rushed for 1,012 yards in 1993.

Mike Voight had three straight 1,000-yard rushing seasons from 1974-76.

When Jonathan Linton rushed for 199 yards in Carolina's 50-14 win over Duke in the 1997 regular-season finale, he became the 14th Tar Heel running back to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. Linton finished that 11-1 season with 1,004 yards. UNC players have accomplished the feat 24 times, an NCAA record. The University of Southern California is second with 21.

Those 24 1,000-yard seasons have been achieved in the last 32 years, beginning with Don McCauley, who had back-to-back 1,000-yard campaigns in 1969 and 1970. Linton was the fourth different Tar Heel back to gain 1,000 yards in the 1990s. Natrone Means had 1,030 yards as a sophomore in 1991 and 1,195 yards in leading UNC to nine wins in 1992. In '91, Means topped 1,000 yards on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus Duke. He vaulted past 1,000 in similar fashion a year later as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Means entered the NFL Draft after his junior year, but Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson responded with tandem 1,000-yard seasons in 1993. That was the fourth time in UNC history that not one, but two, players topped the 1,000-yard mark.

Carolina's 24 1,000-yard seasons are more than the next two ACC schools have combined. Virginia is second in number of 1,000-yard seasons with 12 and Clemson is third with 10. NC State has nine, Wake Forest has eight, Florida State has seven, Georgia Tech and Maryland each have six and Duke has four.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. Three times in that era, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks—the veer or the wishbone. But, on all four occasions when Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position—tailback in an I-formation.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times—Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett, New Mexico State's Dennis Manns and Wisconsin's Ron Dayne are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000-yard mark four times. Lawrence rushed for a career-high 1,211 yards in 1977 as he earned ACC Rookie of the Year honors. Lawrence didn't even play in the first game that year and still managed to run for over 1,200 yards in just 10 games. He was eighth in the nation in rushing and became the first freshman to ever lead the ACC in a major offensive category.

Lawrence, from Norfolk, Va., added 1,043 yards in 1978, 1,019 yards in 1979 and 1,118 yards in 1980.

McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time it broke O.J. Simpson's all-time NCAA single-season yardage record. McCauley's 1970 season is one of the finest in ACC history. His 1,720 yards, 19 rushing touchdowns, 10 100-yard rushing games, 2,021 all-purpose yards and 126 points all were single-season ACC records. The first UNC back to earn consensus All-America honors since Charlie Justice, McCauley capped his brilliant career with a memorable game against Duke as he rushed 47 times for 279 yards and five touchdowns in a 59-36 win over the Blue Devils. One local sportswriter wrote of McCauley's final Kenan Stadium effort, "McCauley's performance against Duke was the greatest one-man show since King Kong climbed the Empire State Building."

Another scribe from the Charlotte Observer wrote, "Don McCauley may be the finest football player the Atlantic Coast Conference has ever seen."

McCauley is one of only two Tar Heel 1,000-yard backs from outside the ACC's geographic area. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y. Linton, from Catasauqua, Pa., added to that short list in 1997.

Bryant, Tyrone Anthony, James Betterson, Ethan Horton, Sammy Johnson, Kennard Martin, Means, Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia, and Derrick Fenner is from Maryland.

Many of Carolina's 1,000-yard rushers went on to successful careers in the professional ranks. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1986.

Means led the Chargers to the Super Bowl in 1994 and was named to the Pro Bowl. He set the single-season rushing record for the Chargers in just his second season when he compiled 1,350 yards in 1994. Means was second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in rushing yards and he set a Charger record with five consecutive 100-yard games. He was the offensive spark which led Jacksonville to the AFC Championship Game in 1996 in the franchise's second year of existence.

Horton, Sammy Johnson and Leon Johnson were recruited as quarterbacks. All of the others were high school running backs, although McCauley was more highly regarded as a defensive back.

Fenner set the ACC rushing record in 1986 by gaining 328 yards against Virginia, although that mark was surpassed by Wake Forest's John Leach in 1993 against Maryland. Martin had 291 in 1988 against Duke. Lawrence had 286 against Virginia in 1977 and McCauley gained 279 against Duke in 1970. Then comes Voight's 261 against the Blue Devils in 1976. In 1990, Means rushed for 256 yards in the season finale vs. Duke.

Two of the top single-season efforts ever in the ACC are McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976. McCauley and Voight are the only Carolina players to be named ACC Player of the Year in two seasons. McCauley was the top ACC player in 1969 and 1970 and Voight earned that award in 1975 and

Ethan Horton is the only other UNC player to be named ACC Player of the Year in the same season he rushed for 1,000 yards.

Leon Johnson is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be in the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in career touchdowns, top five in career scoring, top 10 in career rushing yards and top 10 in career receptions.

He is first in all-purpose yards in league history, second in touchdowns and fifth in scoring. He scored 50 touchdowns in his career, just one shy of the all-time ACC record held by Ted Brown of N.C. State. He scored 306 points, one of just four players in league history to top the 300-point mark. He and Brown are the only two non-kickers to accomplish that feat.

Linton alternated for much of his career between tailback and fullback. He was a reserve behind Leon Johnson for several years, but then became a stand-out as a senior. Linton became the first player in Carolina history to rush for 100 yards and catch passes for 100 yards in the same game. He rushed for 138 yards and added 137 receiving yards in Carolina's 16-13 win at Georgia Tech. Despite suffering a knee injury days before the Gator Bowl, Linton rushed for 68 yards and caught six passes for 81 yards in UNC's 42-3 win over Virginia Tech.

Jonathan Linton rushed for 1,004 yards in 1997 as the Tar Heels went 11-1.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

The University of North Carolina has played in 24 postseason bowl games, including eight in the last 10 years heading into the 2002 season. The Tar Heels are 12-12 all-time in bowl games and are 6-2 since 1990.

UNC is second behind Clemson in bowl appearances among schools that were charter members of the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the Tar Heels have the most appearances of any charter school since the league was formed in 1953.

North Carolina won its fifth consecutive bowl game with a 16-10 victory in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl last season. The Tar Heels are one of only three teams in the country to win their last five bowl games. LSU and Miami (Fla.) are the other two teams. Carolina won the 1995 Carquest Bowl (20-10 vs. Arkansas), the 1997 Gator Bowl (20-13 vs. West Virginia), the 1998 Gator Bowl (42-3 vs. Virginia Tech), the 1998 Las Vegas Bowl (20-13 vs. San Diego State) and the 2001 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl (16-10 vs. Auburn).

Beginning with the Sugar Bowl in 1947, Carolina has played in 10 different bowl games. The Tar Heels are 5-2 in the Gator Bowl, 2-2 in the Sun, 1-0 in the Bluebonnet, 1-0 in the Carquest, 2-3 in the Peach, 0-1 in the Cotton, 0-1 in the Liberty, 0-1 in the Aloha and 0-2 in the Sugar.

A description of every Carolina bowl game can be found on the next 12 pages.

Wide receiver carries the 2001 Peach Bowl Trophy off the field following Carolina's 16-10 win over Auburn.

1947 SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, La.
Georgia 20, Carolina 10
January 1, 1947

The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

1949 SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, La.
Oklahoma 14, Carolina 6
January 1, 1949

The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea

Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

1950 COTTON BOWL

Dallas, Texas
Rice 27, Carolina 13
January 1, 1950

Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and the Owls kept right on rolling in the third quarter.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to "Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo-Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

1963 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 35, Air Force 0
December 28, 1963

It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

Third Annual Peach Bowl

The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

Monroe Ely scored twice and Thomas reached the end zone for the third time in the Sun Devils' 27-point second half.

1971 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Georgia 7, Carolina 3
December 31, 1971

For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first — brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the 'Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

1972 SUN BOWL

El Paso, Texas
Carolina 32, Texas Tech 28
December 30, 1972

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wingback Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

1974 SUN BOWL

El Paso, Texas
Mississippi State 26, Carolina 24
December 28, 1974

Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense — 455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rocky Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 19 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 17 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game. Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

CAROLINA HISTORY

1976 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.

Kentucky 21, Carolina 0
December 31, 1976

Playing without an injured Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, the Tar Heels managed just five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in a hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

1977 LIBERTY BOWL

Memphis, Tenn.

December 19, 1977

Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Brooks Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against UNC all season.

Bill Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual position of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

1979 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 17, Michigan 15
December 28, 1979

Matt Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown and Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards to lead North Carolina to a 17-15 win over Michigan.

Trailing 9-0, the Tar Heels rallied for the next 17 points and then held off a Michigan threat late in the game to post the first of Dick Crum's four consecutive bowl wins.

Carolina had two chances early on to score first, but high winds knocked down a pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

December 31, 1980

Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead. Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history. The Tar Heels finished ranked eighth by the Associated Press and ninth by UPI.

1981 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 31, Arkansas 27
December 28, 1981

Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open the third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

December 25, 1982

North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels became the first ACC team to win four consecutive bowl games.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half as Carolina won 26-10. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brooks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with 4:56 left.

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on 4th-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

December 30, 1983

Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half-empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl-game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running game to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Weegie

Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at their own 16 and FSU converted via a 1-yard touchdown run.

Carolina put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field goal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a season in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

December 27, 1986

Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tail-back Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards.

1993 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.

Carolina 21, Mississippi State 17

January 2, 1993

Defensive MVP Bracey Walker blocked consecutive third-quarter punts, returning one of them for the tying touchdown, and forced a fourth quarter interception which Cliff Baskerville returned 44 yards for a touchdown to lead Carolina to a 21-17 Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State.

Walker's heroics capped a fierce second-half comeback in which the Tar Heels came from 14 points behind to score three times, although just once on an offensive possession.

MSU took a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter and had two more scores in the second quarter called back due to holding penalties.

Carolina regrouped at halftime, however, and cut the lead to 14-7 just six plays into the third quarter. Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks for a 53-yard completion on the fourth play of the half and Natrone Means scored from a yard out two snaps later.

Means led the Tar Heel offense with 128 yards rushing and was named the game's Offensive MVP.

Later in the third quarter, Walker blocked a punt but Carolina's field goal try was unsuccessful. On the next series UNC again forced the Bulldogs to punt and this time Walker blocked the kick, picked up the loose ball and raced 24 yards untouched for the tying score.

Early in the final quarter Walker forced a midair loose ball with a jarring hit and Baskerville plucked the ball out of the air and sprinted 44 yards down the left sideline for what proved to be the winning score.

Carolina held off two late MSU rallies to hang on to the lead. Linebacker Kerry Mock's interception stopped one threat at the UNC 17 with 2:32 to play and a fourth-down incompletion with just six seconds left halted the Bulldogs at the Carolina 21-yard line.

1993 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.

Alabama 24, Carolina 10

December 31, 1993

Quarterback Brian Burgdorf threw for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead 18th-ranked and defending national champion Alabama to a 24-10 victory over 11th-ranked Carolina in Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

Corey Holliday caught nine passes for 125 yards and was UNC's MVP.

After a scoreless first period, Alabama took the lead on a 22-yard field goal by Michael Proctor. Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek then led a seven-play, 80-yard touchdown drive in just 1:36 to take the lead, 7-3, on the ensuing possession. Stanicek hit Holliday with completions of 29 and 22 yards and executed one of his trademark option pitches to freshman tailback Leon Johnson for an 18-yard gain. William Henderson plunged in from a yard out for the lead.

The Crimson Tide went up 10-7 Burgdorf scored from 33 yards out on a quarterback draw.

With 1:44 left before intermission, Stanicek led what would be the final Tar Heel scoring drive. He hit Holliday with passes of 12 and nine yards and Curtis Johnson ran twice for 20 yards before the drive stalled and Tripp Pignetti hit a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 10.

The Alabama defense was the key to the game, holding UNC to a season-low 42 net yards rushing on 25 carries. Carolina could only muster 40 total yards and four first downs in the second half.

December 30, 1994

Priest Holmes rushed for 161 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winner with 1:17 to play, to lead Texas to a 35-31 win over the Tar Heels before a Sun Bowl record crowd of 50,612.

Holmes' four-touchdown performance wrestled away MVP honors from UNC quarterback Mike Thomas, who had the finest passing day of his career. Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two touchdowns. He set UNC bowl game records for completions and yards and tied the mark with two scoring tosses. He was 15 for 19 in the first half and completed 20 of 29 before a final desperation drive.

Wide receivers Marcus Wall and Octavius Barnes were two more standouts for the Tar Heels. Wall was selected the game's Most Valuable Special Teams Player. He gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 lead in the fourth quarter when he returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Barnes set UNC bowl game records for most catches and yards with nine receptions for 165 yards and one score. The 165 yards were also the most in Sun Bowl history.

With Carolina up, 31-21, Texas quickly went on a 68-yard touchdown drive in only 2:38. On the next series, Texas took over at its own 32 and drove 68 yards in 10 plays for the winning score. Holmes carried the last three plays on the drive for nine, two and finally the five yard touchdown run.

1995 CARQUEST BOWL

Miami, Fla.
Carolina 20, Arkansas 10
December 30, 1995

Leon Johnson rushed for a Carolina bowl record 195 yards and Mike Thomas threw for two scores as the Tar Heels knocked off Arkansas, 20-10, in the Carquest Bowl.

Johnson's 195-yard effort topped the previous high of 148 yards by Kelvin Bryant, also against Arkansas, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Johnson had just 23 yards on eight carries in the first half, but exploded for 172 yards in the second half.

All-America tackle Marcus Jones capped his career with four tackles for losses, including a quarterback sack on Arkansas' last play from scrimmage - his final collegiate play.

Trailing by a touchdown the Tar Heels quickly moved into position to tie the game. On third-and-long quarterback Mike Thomas rolled right, threw back across the field to Ashford, who sprinted around the left flank into the end zone.

The Razorbacks managed to take a 10-7 lead in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Latourette. Two series later Carolina went into the lead for good. On third-and-eight from the 28, Thomas ran the option around the right corner, turned upfield and then pitched the ball to Johnson, who was trailing the play perfectly. Johnson ran untouched for a 28-yard, go-ahead score.

Carolina 20, West Virginia 13
January 1, 1997

Oscar Davenport, starting in place of injured first-team all-conference quarterback Chris Keldorf, completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and one touchdown as Carolina defeated West Virginia 20-13 in the 52nd annual Toyota Gator Bowl. Davenport, who also rushed for one touchdown, was named the game's MVP.

Carolina broke the scoring drought early in the second quarter when Davenport found Octavus Barnes in the back corner of the end zone on an 18-yard pass. As time was running down in the first half, Davenport and Leon Johnson led the Tar Heels on a five-play touchdown drive. Johnson caught a pass for 13 yards and rushed twice for 19 yards in the drive. Davenport scored on a 5-yard option keeper for a 17-3 lead.

West Virginia opened the second-half scoring with a 34-yard touchdown pass to close within seven points. A fumble recovery by Greg Williams ended one WVU threat, but West Virginia had one last chance to tie the game late in the fourth quarter. Carolina stopped the Mountaineers on 4th-and-6 at the UNC 24 with just under two minutes remaining.

Dre' Bly, Carolina's consensus first-team All-America, picked off two second-half passes. Carolina's defense forced four West Virginia turnovers; the Mountaineers had 10 in 11 regular-season games.

1998 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 42, Virginia Tech 3
January 1, 1998

Chris Keldorf threw for 290 yards and three scores and Carolina's defense and special teams added touchdowns as the Tar Heels pounded Virginia Tech, 42-3, in the Toyota Gator Bowl.

The victory, UNC's most lopsided in a bowl game, secured a No. 4 final ranking in the coaches' poll for the 11-1 Tar Heels. The game was Carl Torbush's first as Carolina's head coach. Torbush, UNC's defensive coordinator the past 10 years, was elevated to head coach on December 8th after Mack Brown accepted the same position at the University of Texas.

Keldorf completed 17 of 28 passes, including touchdown throws of 62 and 14 yards to wide receiver Octavus Barnes and four yards to fullback Jamie Carrick.

Carolina amassed 427 total yards and held the Hokies to just 185 yards. Leading 3-0, Keldorf hit Barnes with a 62-yard bomb down the left sideline for a 10-0 lead. Later in the first quarter, Carolina forced Virginia Tech to punt deep in Hokie territory. Quinton Savage blocked the punt and Dre' Bly scooped it up at the 6-yard line and scored for a 16-0 UNC advantage.

One minute and 10 seconds after Bly's touchdown, Ellis fell on a loose ball in the Tech end zone for another touchdown. Carolina scored 16 first-quarter points in the entire regular season, but scored 16 in the first quarter of the Gator Bowl and six more just seven seconds into the second quarter.

The 42 points were the most in UNC postseason history and the three touchdown passes by Keldorf set a UNC bowl game record. Barnes concluded his career with 16 receptions and four touchdowns in four postseason games.

1998 LAS VEGAS BOWL

Las Vegas, Nev.
Carolina 20, San Diego State 13
December 19, 1998

Ronald Curry rushed for a season-high 93 yards and a touchdown, punter Brian Schmitz was outstanding despite windy conditions and the Tar Heel defense did not allow a TD in the last 59 minutes as Carolina defeated San Diego State, 20-13.

Curry, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, gave Carolina the lead for good with a 48-yard touchdown run on the final play of the opening quarter. He rushed for 93 yards on 10 carries and accounted for 96 of Carolina's 196 total offense yards, despite playing just four series.

The game was played winds gusting to 47 miles per hour. Passing was almost impossible. In fact, Carolina won the game despite completing just four passes for 33 yards.

Schmitz averaged 44.0 yards on five punts and pinned the Aztecs inside their own 11-yard line four times. Late in the second quarter, Schmitz unloaded a 66-yard punt into the wind.

San Diego State took an early 7-0 lead in the first minute of the game before the Tar Heels scored 20 unanswered points to close the first half. After two second-half field goals cut it to 20-13, the Aztecs had one final chance to tie the game. With just over a minute left, Dre' Bly broke up a pass in the end zone. On the following play, Brandon Spoon tipped Brian Russell's pass in the air and the ball was intercepted at the goal line by Keith Newman with 59 seconds remaining.

2001 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.
Carolina 16, Auburn 10
December 31, 2001

Willie Parker rushed for 131 yards and Ryan Sims led a spirited defensive effort as North Carolina won its fifth consecutive postseason bowl appearance with a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The win capped off the greatest turnaround in school history as Carolina completed the season by winning eight of its last 10 games after starting 0-3.

Parker, who started his first game since September, was spectacular, scoring on a 10-yard run in the first quarter and setting up a second-quarter field goal with a 43-yard dash. Parker had the fifth-best rushing day in UNC bowl history and it was the 11th time a Tar Heel had rushed for more than 100 yards in a bowl game.

Parker's touchdown was set up by Carolina's defense, which allowed just 32 total rushing yards and shutout Auburn for three quarters. In the first quarter, cornerback Michael Waddell forced a fumble at the Auburn 26-yard line that defensive end Joey Evans picked up and rumbled to the Auburn 8-yard line. Two plays later, Parker's touchdown gave Carolina a 7-0 lead.

Curry, who was named the game's Offensive MVP, scored on an incredible touchdown run in the third quarter to give Carolina a 16-0 advantage.

Defensively, Carolina came up with several big plays throughout the game and held off a furious Auburn comeback in the fourth quarter. Sims, the Defensive MVP, had six tackles, including two sacks and was constantly disrupting the Auburn backfield.

After scoring twice in the fourth quarter, Auburn attempted an onside kick, but UNC's Richard Moore covered the ball and the Tar Heels ran out the clock.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

Greg Ellis • Dallas Cowboys

EBENEZER EKUBAN, DE

Dallas Cowboys (4th Year in the NFL)

Ekuban started the first game of 2001, but injured his back and missed the rest of the season • Had back surgery to repair a herniated disc and should be ready for the 2002 season • His outstanding size, speed and quickness make him a pass rusher that can create havoc in opponents' backfields, as witnessed by his team leading 6.5 sacks in 2000 •

Despite moving from a starting role to a reserve capacity early in the season, Ekuban led the team in sacks and tied for the team lead with two forced fumbles while posting 25 tackles, seven quarterback pressures and four stops behind the line of scrimmage • He recorded one of Dallas' biggest plays against the Bengals when he sacked Akili Smith, forced a fumble on the play and recovered the fumble, marking the first forced fumble and fumble recovery of his career • Played in all 16 games and started two as a rookie and had 23 tackles and 2.5 sacks • Drafted by the Cowboys in the first round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

GREG ELLIS, DE

Dallas Cowboys (4th Year in the NFL)

Had another solid season in 2001 with 83 tackles and six sacks • Started all 16 games at defensive end • Underwent rehabilitation after breaking his leg in the 1999 season, but by the end of the 2000 re-emerged as one of the top young defensive ends in the game • On the field, he led the club's defensive linemen with a career-high 77 tackles and off the field he was named by teammates as the recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award for overcoming his injuries • After two years patrolling the left end of the Dallas defensive line, Ellis switched to the right side in 2000 to take pressure off his injured left leg • He tied for the team lead with seven tackles for losses and two fumble recoveries and finished second on the team with 13 quarterback pressures • Had an 87-yard touchdown on a fumble recovery in 1999 • Was the eighth pick in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

BERNARDO HARRIS, LB

Free Agent (8th Year in the NFL)

Started at fullback for the Green Bay Packers for the sixth straight year • Helped Green Bay average better than 100 yards rushing per game for the second consecutive season • Ranks among the top 20 receivers in Green Bay history with 215 career receptions for 1,655 yards • Had 21 catches for 193 yards and six rushes for 11 yards • Had 35 catches for 234 yards and one touchdown in 2000 • In spite of the physical nature of his position, he has played in 111 consecutive regular season games • Provides a significant contribution on special teams • Has appeared in 13 postseason games with 10 starts • Starting fullback in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII • Has 115 career carries for 404 yards and four touchdowns • Selected in the third round of the 1995 draft by the Packers.

Vonnie Holliday & William Henderson • Green Bay Packers

NFL 2002 UNSUNG HEROES

The NFL Unsung Hero Award recognizes those NFL players whose remarkable efforts on and off the field often go unnoticed. One player from each of the 31 teams was selected by players and fans to be his team's Unsung Hero. Four former Tar Heels – Green Bay's William Henderson, Oakland's Randy Jordan, Washington's Eddie Mason and Indianapolis' Jeff Saturday – were honored in 2002 with the NFL Unsung Hero Award.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

ATHLETIC COMMUNICATIONS

Football media services are coordinated by Assistant Communications Directors Kevin Best and David Tinson. Best is the primary football contact. Please direct interview, information and photo requests to either Best or Tinson.

Best's and Tinson's offices are located on the second floor of the Kenan Football Center. The Athletic Communications Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center, less than one mile from Kenan Stadium. The office is on Level 2 directly across from the men's basketball office.

CREDENTIALS

Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home football games should be made in writing on station/newspaper/magazine letterhead to Associate A.D. for Communications Steve Kirschner. The mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515. Requests may be sent via fax (919-962-0612) or e-mail (skirschner@uncaa.unc.edu), but all requests should be sent so they reach the Athletic Communications Office at least one week prior to the game.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies that cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority. Other credentials will be issued on the basis of circulation and the availability of space.

The University of North Carolina reserves the right to deny credential requests to any agency for reasons deemed not to be in the school's best interests. The University does not discriminate based on age, gender, orientation, race or religion.

Credentials will not mailed. They may be picked up before 5 p.m. on Friday at the Athletic Communications Office. Those credentials not picked up by 5 p.m. on Friday will be left for Saturday pickup at Kenan Stadium Will Call at Gate Six (6), directly beneath the press box. Will Call opens two hours prior to kickoff.

RELEASES

Carolina Football media information may be obtained by legitimate news agencies in a variety of ways. Information is available at www.TarHeelBlue.com (UNC's official web site), at www.mediateamlink.com (the ACC's official media service provider), may be e-mailed to you or may be sent by regular postal service.

PRESS BOX SERVICES

Programs, flip cards, statistics and notes will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics also will be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game. A light meal will be served before each game. Soft drinks, coffee and snacks will be available throughout the game.

SIDELINE POLICY

Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without a UNC-issued photographer's vest. Vests will be distributed at field level (near original fieldhouse) beginning 90 minutes prior to kickoff. Each photographer must sign in for his/her own vest. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field. Credential holders not working will be asked to leave the sidelines. A representative of the Athletic Communications Office will be on the field to handle any questions and serve as field liaison to press box officials. We ask, for the safety of others, that equipment not be left unattended on the sidelines. If you are shooting with a tripod, please keep a safe distance from the playing field.

GAME DAY PARKING

Requests for parking passes should be made well in advance to Steve Kirschner. Single-game parking passes will be mailed.

Parking is located in the lot on the corner of Gravelly Drive and Manning Drive or in the Craige and Dogwood parking decks across the street from that lot. Each location is a five-minute walk.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Following a brief cooling-off period, requested UNC players will head directly to the interview area in the Charlie Justice Hall of Honor (first floor of Kenan Football Center, adjacent to weight room) for a 20-25 minute interview period. The Tar Heels' locker room is closed. Representatives from the Communications Office will walk through the press box midway through the fourth quarter to take player requests from the media.

Head coach John Bunting will conduct a short interview with Woody Durham for the Tar Heel Sports Network's live broadcast while the players are in the interview area. Bunting will begin his postgame press conference in the Hall of Honor, approximately 15 minutes after the players have begun their interview period.

After night games, Bunting and the players will be available simultaneously due to deadline demands. Quotes will be gathered from both Bunting and several players for distribution in the press box. Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.

Please note: Bunting is contractually obligated to do a short postgame interview with the Tar Heel Sports Radio Network. After night games, great care will be taken to get Bunting to the general media as quickly as possible. We understand everyone has deadline pressures after late games and will do our best to provide access to Bunting as quickly as possible.

PHONES

The Department of Athletics furnishes approximately 12 telephones along press row for writers to file stories. All long distance calls must be by credit card, collect or billed to a third number. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell at least two weeks prior to the game. If you are calling from within the 919 area code, dial 780-2800. However, if you are calling from outside the 919 area code, then you must dial 1-800-919-2800.

Note: The on-campus building number for the press box at Kenan Stadium, for which you will be asked, is #519. List Steve Kirschner as the stadium contact for placing the phone.

Two fax machines are available for media use. Media should make a representative of the Athletic Communications Office aware of their fax needs prior to the end of the game.

INTERNET AVAILABILITY

Media have access to the internet via several ethernet jacks installed throughout the press box at Kenan Stadium. Please see a representative of the Athletic Communications Office for assistance in locating the ethernet jacks on game days.

INTERVIEWS WITH HEAD COACH JOHN BUNTING

John Bunting will meet with the media at 11 a.m. each Tuesday prior to a game. Bunting will meet with the print media for approximately 30-40 minutes and then meet with the TV media for approximately 15 minutes. Out-of-town media may access the print portion of the press conference by phone. You can listen and ask questions, time permitting, by using this service. Contact Kevin Best for the phone number.

Bunting will conduct TV interviews inside the Stadium Club on the second floor of the Football Center. The print media portion of the press conference will be in the John Swofford Auditorium on the second floor of the Football Center.

Interviews with Bunting at other times during the week can be set up by contacting Kevin Best or Teresa Vanderford, Bunting's secretary in the football office. If he is unavailable at the time of your call, he will make every effort to return the call as soon as possible. Staff meetings are conducted during the morning. Vanderford's number is (919) 962-9144.

Bunting is also available on the weekly ACC Teleconference on Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m. Contact Brian Morrison at the ACC or Best for the phone number.

Bunting will also be available via teleconference for 15 minutes on Sundays (day after games only) at 5 p.m. Contact Best for the number.

Bunting will also be available after practice on the field on Wednesday and Thursday for 10 minutes.

ACC FOOTBALL SATELLITE HIGHLIGHTS

Starting August 28th and continuing through November 27th, highlights of ACC football will be made available every Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. ET. Satellite coordinates are available by calling the ACC Media Relations Office.

John Bunting talks with Lynn Swann on the field following Carolina's 41-9 victory over Florida State.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All player interviews should be arranged through Best or Tinson. Players have been instructed not to grant an interview request unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be conducted at the conclusion of practice at the practice field or Football Center. All interviews are to be conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Each week at least one player will be made available at the Tuesday press conference.

Telephone interviews are conducted at the player's convenience. Usually they are handled by players returning calls immediately after practice (between approximately 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.). No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Please do not show up and wait for players unannounced on campus, at players' housing or the Football Center. The players have been instructed to politely decline the request and refer the person to the Communications Office.

Players may do taped radio interviews but will not be available for live call-in radio shows.

Note: Due to the overwhelming number of all-sports radio talk stations, players will generally not be available to appear on these shows. Hometown stations, stations in that week's opponent's market or national shows may be accommodated. Internet sites requesting interviews must be legitimate media sites and interviews will be granted at the discretion of the Communications Office.

PRACTICE COVERAGE

Subject to change, Carolina will practice each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 4 p.m. on the practice fields located directly across the street from the baseball stadium and adjacent to the UNC School of Law.

Tuesday practices are open to the media, except for the final 30 minutes.

On Wednesdays and Thursdays, please wait outside the practice field until the gate is opened before entering the fields. Players and coaches are available to meet with the media after practice on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Once the team goes into pads in the fall, photographers (still and video) will be allowed to shoot warm-ups, stretching and the first 30 minutes of work on Tuesdays. Team meetings after practice are private and are not to be taped.

Once the school year starts, practice generally begins with stretching exercises at 3:45 p.m. and the first period of drills at approximately 4 p.m. The team, in general, does only light running and stretching on Sunday and does not practice on Monday, except after an open date.

DIRECTIONS TO MEDIA PARKING

• From Eastern North Carolina and/or Raleigh/Durham

International Airport: Take I-40 West to Chapel Hill. Stay in the left or middle lane because I-40 splits about five miles past the airport (the right lane heads to Durham). Stay to the left and follow I-40 West to Exit 273-B. Follow NC-54 West for approximately three miles. Exit right onto Route 15-501 South/54 West and follow for one mile. Turn right at the traffic light onto Manning Drive. Go up the hill, stay straight through the intersection. The next traffic light will be at the intersection of Manning Drive and Gravely Drive. Press parking is either in the Craige or Dogwood Decks on the left-hand side of the street or in the lot at the corner of Manning and Gravely on the right-hand side.

• From North of Chapel Hill: Take I-85 South to Durham. I-85 will split at exit 174. The right-hand lane takes you to I-40 and Greensboro. Stay in the left-hand lane and take exit 174 (a left-hand exit) for 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

• From Charlotte and West of Chapel Hill: Take I-85 North to I-40 East. 85 and 40 split in Hillsborough, just west of Chapel Hill. Take I-40 to exit 270 and exit onto Route 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass when it splits into 15-501 and Franklin Street. Follow 15-501 to Manning Drive and turn right. See above.

• From South of Chapel Hill: Take I-77 North to I-85 and then follow the same directions as from Charlotte. Or take I-95 North to I-40 West. 95 and 40 converge just north of Benson, N.C. Then take I-40 all the way to Chapel Hill and follow the directions from the airport. See above.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

TAR HEEL SPORTS NETWORK

Learfield Communications begins its third full year as the official media rights holder for the University of North Carolina athletic teams, primarily football and basketball.

Based in Jefferson City, Missouri, Learfield purchased Tar Heel Sports Marketing in October 1999, adding the UNC property to 15 other schools under the Learfield umbrella. Among those for which Learfield also owns the rights are Alabama, Colorado, Syracuse, Oklahoma, Indiana and Missouri.

"Our goal is to continue and add to the tremendous tradition and fan following at Carolina," says Gary Sobba, the General Manager for Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Sobba moved to Chapel Hill from Dallas, where he worked in the Learfield national sales office.

"I have worked on various college campuses for more than last 15 years," adds Sobba, "and if there is a better athletic program in the country than this one, I don't know where it is."

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is in its ninth year as UNC's multimedia rights holder. All Carolina fans have heard of the Tar Heel Sports Network, which broadcasts the play-by-play of football and basketball games, but that is only one facet of the operation.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television and print products as well as radio.

THSM brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply, listen to your radio on Thursday nights for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Sundays on "Inside Carolina Football and Basketball." When you are at Kenan Stadium pick-up the official game program.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

Woody Durham, beginning his 32nd year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels," and Head Coach John Bunting give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the Coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the "John Bunting Live" call in show.

Durham also will visit with Coach Bunting on "Inside Carolina Football", a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Football with John Bunting," hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on a network of stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.

Carolina football can be heard on the Tar Heel Sports Network with Woody Durham and Mick Mixon.

2002 CAROLINA FOOTBALL

WOODY DURHAM

PLAY-BY-PLAY "THE VOICE OF THE TAR HEELS" 32ND YEAR

The 2002 season will be Woody Durham's 32nd year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels."

Since September 1971, Durham has broadcast nearly 1,400 Carolina football and basketball games, and the Tar Heels have won a majority of those contests. "I think it's remarkable that Carolina has won 73 percent of the games which I have done," says Durham.

A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., where he began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with an AB degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures, and spent 19 years as a TV sportscaster with stints in Greensboro and Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill.

In 1981, Durham joined Tar Heel Sports Marketing, which produces the Tar Heel Sports Network, on a full-time basis, and in 1984, he permanently moved his family to Chapel Hill.

He and his wife of 39 years, Jean, are the parents of two sons. Wes, 36, a former Georgia Sportscaster of the Year, is in his eighth year handling play-by-play duties at Georgia Tech. Taylor, 29, is a network recruitment manager with International Sports Properties in Winston-Salem. Wes and his wife, Lynn, presented Woody and Jean with twin grandchildren--Emily and Will--in April 1999.

Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year on 10 different occasions. In 1993, he was inducted into the Stanly County Sports Hall of Fame. In 1994, he received the Priceless Gem Award from the UNC Department of Athletics. The following year, the General Alumni Association presented him with its Distinguished Service Medal. And, in November 2000, the UNC Board of Trustees honored him with the William R. Davie Award.

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Durham also visits with Coach John

Bunting on "Inside Carolina Football," a daily five-minute radio program. He is with Coach Bunting every Thursday evening during the football season for "John Bunting Live," a radio call-in show which originates from Lucy's in downtown Chapel Hill. And, he hosts "Inside Carolina Football with John Bunting," a weekly half-hour TV show on a network of stations across North Carolina and on various cable outlets throughout much of the country.

MICK MIXON

COLOR ANALYST 14TH YEAR

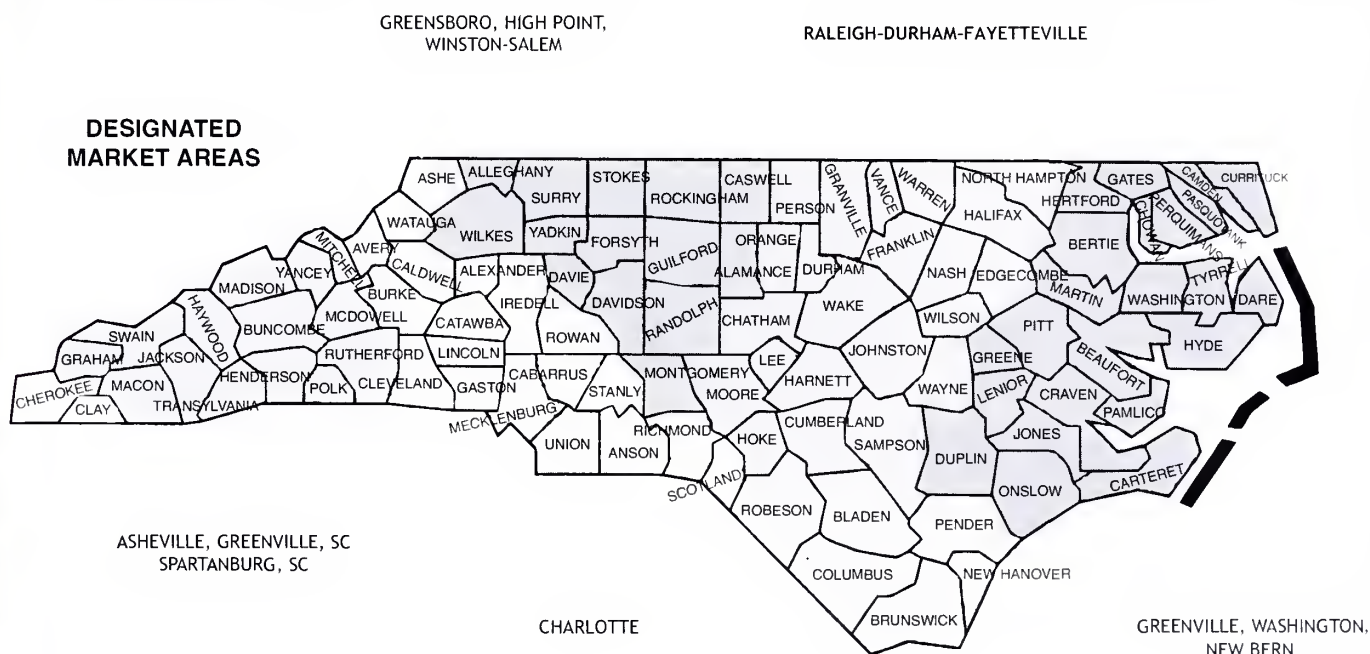

This fall, Forest Orion (Mick) Mixon III begins his 14th season as Color Analyst for football and men's basketball on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

Mixon, 43, graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in Broadcast Journalism. In 1999, he married Kristin Lyn Tucker (AB Journalism, 1990). A native of Chapel Hill, Mixon teaches in the UNC School of Journalism and Mass Communications, broadcasts some ACC baseball games for Fox Sports Net, writes for TarHeelBlue.com and is the media columnist for Basketball America.

Mixon was named the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999 and is an honorary member of the ACC Football Officials Association.

Mixon joined the network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.

TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the Civil War. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'n's heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's nickname.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalia and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

CAROLINA FIGHT SONGS

■ HERE COMES CAROLINA

Here comes Carolina-lina
Here comes Carolina-lina
We hail from NCU.
We've got the spirit in it
We've got the team to win it
We wear the colors White and Blue -
So it's Fight! Fight! for Carolina
As Davie did in days of old.
As we gather 'round the 'Well
Cheer that Tar Heel team like hell -
For the glory of NCU.

■ CAROLINA VICTORY MARCH

There'll be a Carolina victory,
When cross that field the foe has fled.
Cheer that team to victory,
For we are Tar Heels born and bred.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Glory, glory, UNC.
Our hearts will live with thee
Fight! Fight! Fight!
For the Blue & White are rolling to victory.

■ ALMA MATER

Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises, Shouting "NCU."
(chorus)
Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.
(refrain)
For I'm a Tar Heel born
I'm a Tar Heel bred,
And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead.
So it's - Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
